NEW YORK AND VIRGINIA.

The Ohio election having been settled, public interest now centres on New York and Virginia, in both of which an active campaign is being carried on. In both States the leaders of each party claim to be confident of victory, but sensible people do not attach much importance to ante-election claims. New York is a peculiar State, very peculiar, and always presents entanglements and complications enough to leave the politicians in doubt as to the possible outcome. Outside of New York city, Brooklyn and adjacent towns, the State is not only Republican, but very strongly so, the majorities ranging from 25,000 to 50,000 or more according to the issues involved, and the popularity of the respective candidates. The hope of the Democracy is always in the cities above referred to. A full and united Democratic vote in these makes the State sure for the Democrats. But the trouble is that this vote is usually an uncertain factor on account of the corrupt leadership of the rival factions, who, bent upon their own success and gain, are open to bargain and trade, and would at any time sell a State or national ticket for local success. Right here the trouble lies with the Democratic State ticket in the approaching election. The factions are squabbling. They have several tickets in the field, Tammany has apparently been snowed under, and it is only a question of how many votes will be traded by one or the other of the factions to the Republicans for their State ticket in return for Republican votes for the local tickets. There is no estimating what the independent or so-called Mugwump strength is in the State, which it is claimed, and probably did, give Cleveland the State by the small majority which he had, but whatever it is, it may be safely counted on as sold, or nearly so, for the Republican ticket, so that if the Democrats win they must depend upon themselves, and win by a straight vote. It is said that the Stalwart-Republicans, who were the friends of Folger when he was so terribly beaten by Cleveland in 1882, will not support Davenport, who did not support Folger, but if this is so they are not saying much about it nor taking any open course to beat him. As the situation presents itself to us, Mr. Hill must not count much on Republican defection, and must depend for his success upon the support which he receives from Democrats proper without any side aid. Whether he can hold the New York and Brooklyn factions solid and loyal is one of the things which remains to be seen, and one of the things which he nor any one else just now can affirm positively. Viewed through our glasses just now, to say the least of it New York is a very doubtful State, much more so than Virginia, where Mahone is making an able and desperate fight, and which the Republicans hope to carry. The Democracy of Virginia is united. Fitzhugh Lee is making a splendid campaign, which will call out a large vote—and a large vote means a Democratic victory.

The Democratic papers of Virginia say that Mahone is making the biggest effort of his life in this campaign to carry the Legislature and secure his reelection to the Senate, and warn the Democrats that if they would beat him they must work and poll a big vote on election day. Billy is small in stature, but there is a good deal of him when it comes to work and push and devilment on general principles.

The constitutional amendment changing the time of holding the State elections in Ohio from October to November was carried.

A Southern Coal and Coke-Producing Region.

Baltimore Sun.
Persons whose knowledge of Virginia and West Virginia dates from a period fifteen years past can form an idea how much they are behind the times by taking a trip over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad from Newport News to the Ohio River. They will experience their first surprise perhaps in learning that in August of the present year fifty-six vessels were loaded at Newport News and Richmond with New River and Great Kanawha coals, the quantity taken being 33,483 tons, and their wonderment will not be diminished at the statement that the quantity of semi-bituminous coal that will be conveyed to market this year by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad is estimated at 650,000 tons. The supply is obtained in great part from the New River coal field, where there are now thirteen collieries in operation. At the Quinnimont, Stone Cliff, Echo, Fire Creek, Sewell, Nutall and Fayette collieries there are coke ovens which prepare fuel for the many large iron furnaces built in the last few years along the Chesapeake and Ohio and its connections. The product is remarkable for its light percentage of ash, sulphur and phosphorus, and is becoming a formidable rival of the famous Connellsville coke. All the New River collieries are said to be busy, and at many of them steps are being taken to increase the output. The workings are being extended, and in several instances branch lines of railroad of some length are being constructed to coal properties back from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. The Shenandoah Valley, the Richmond and Alleghany and the Norfolk and Western have each a similar story to tell of large industries well established in districts which a few years ago were mere backwoods.

It Should be Generally Known
That the multitude of diseases of a scrofulous nature generally proceed from a torpid condition of the liver. The blood becomes impure because the liver does not act properly and work off the poison from the system, and the certain results are blotches, pimples, eruptions, swellings, tumors, ulcers, and kindred affections, or settling upon the lungs and poisoning their delicate tissues, until ulceration, breaking down, and consumption is established. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will, by acting upon the liver and purifying the blood, cure all these diseases.

Miss Bayard, daughter of the Secretary of State, who prides herself on her equestrianship, came near killing herself, a few evenings ago, by a foolhardy attempt to ride down a precipitous bank on the suburbs of Washington. When a few feet from the top of the bank, which is sixty feet deep to a creek below, and so steep that pedestrians climb it with difficulty, the horse stumbled and fell. She would have been crushed under the horse had not her riding habit fortunately caught on the pommel of the saddle. The horse regained his feet and made his way back to the top, just as the young lady's father, who followed her from the hotel near by, arrived and rescued her, not much damaged but with much tattered garments. Not long ago a man slightly intoxicated missed his footing and was killed in attempting to walk down that same bank.

Offensive partisanship seems to be getting a little mixed in New York. Mr. Dorsheimer, U. S. District Attorney, is editor of the Star, the most vigorous Democratic paper in the city of New York, while Postmaster Pearson comes out and openly advocates the election of Davenport, Republican candidate for Governor, who is running upon a platform which denounces President Cleveland's methods of carrying out the civil service laws.

The Democratic papers of Virginia say that Mahone is making the biggest effort of his life in this campaign to carry the Legislature and secure his reelection to the Senate, and warn the Democrats that if they would beat him they must work and poll a big vote on election day. Billy is small in stature, but there is a good deal of him when it comes to work and push and devilment on general principles.
