COLORED EXPOSITIONS. We are glad to hear that the colored Industrial Exposition, now being held at Raleigh, is a success and very creditable to the colored people of the State. It is an encouraging indication of future advancement to see these people taking so much interest in the industrial progress of their race, in which they have the full sympathy of the white people of the State. It is not to be expected that as yet this progress can be very great, considering the condition of the colored people and the obstacles they have to contend against, most of them being poor, but comparatively few of them landsowners, or skilled workers, but that they show a desire to become such and have the spirit of emulation, as shown in these expositions, augurs well for the future. The experience of years has shown them that the successful man in life, be he white or black, is the man who depends upon himself and, in current parlance, "hoes his own row." For years after their emancipa tion and enfranchisement they treasdeclarations of unprincipled political leaders, that they were to become the special wards of the nation, that they were to be provided with forty acre farms and mules from the es tates of their old masters, and that for them the future was to be, so to speak, a life of sunshine and case. They, in their simplicity, believed this, and it was only after long disappointment that they ceased to hang to the delusion. It is proposed in Richmond to make the inauguration of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, Jan. 1st, 1886, a grand affair, and a committee has been appointed to consult with him as to his wishes. We rejoice with the Virginians in their grand victory, but we trust that the inaugural tomfoolery which has been carried to such excess in some States, not in Virginia, fuss, feathers and parade will be dispensed with.

Jasushi Homura, the postmastergeneral of Japan, visited Washington yesterday on his return from the postal convention at Lisbon. He says the postal service of Japan is in excellent condition. There are more than 5,000 postoffices in the empire. Two years ago postage on letters was reduced to two cents, and letters are now carried to any part of the ems pire at that rate.

Mobile, Alabama, shows signs of waking up. She has been one of the go-slow cities of the South. But the city council has decided to light up with electricity, grade and pave the sidewalks which had gone to ruin, and make other needed improvements.
