BALTIMORE, Md., April 14, 1886.
Te the Editor—We have from time to time, through the columns of your paper as well as through the medium of the leading newspapers of this country, called attention to a simple and effective formula for a large class of allments which the the medical profession has intelligently conceded, cannot be benefitted permanently, in any other way than through the agency of some article of the character of a food. The remedy to which we refer is a preparation which can be prepared in any homesheld, the pruscipal ingredient being raw becateak and a specified quantity of Duffy's pure malt whiskey.

We expected through the direulation of your paper and others in which our notices appeared, to get a large demand for copies of this formula and our expectations have not only been met to the fullest degree, but exceeded our most sanguine expectations. During the few months which have elapsed since the first notice appeared, ten thousand invalids have placed themselves in charge of our Medical Department; all these cases received individual supervision, and the wonderful results that have been obtained, including in many cases a gain in weight from ten to twenty-five pounds, notices of which have appeared in the papers, has also led to the use of this formula by thousands with whom we are not in communication, friends of our patients. The wonderful success of this formula is due principally to the peculiar properties of Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky. The range of action of this remedy comprises all lung, stomach, bowel affections and weakened conditions of the nervous system.

The extraordinary growth of our business has made it necessary for us to make special arrangements to meet the inquiry and attend to the supervision of the chousands who are using our remedy, and we are anxious that no one suffering from any of the above adments should remain unconscious that no one suffering from the discass above referred to should remain unconscious of the fact that there is a simple and effective remedy that

FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1886 CROP REPORT.

The Condition as Given by the Agricultural Department.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The departent et agriculture mak s'the area of spring wheat nearly the same as last year -about twelve million acres There is an increase of one-sixth of money for improvements and some product in Southern Dakota. The effect of the price of wheat has been counteracted by the superior rate of yield of recent years. The condition of spring wheat averages 981, against 97 in June last year; Wisconsin 97; Misnesota 99; Iowa 100; Nebraska 97; Dakota 99; Washington 100.

Winter wheat is not quite so promsing as at the 1st of May. A slight decline in the condition is reported in the west, and the low condition of in the west, and the low condition of the Southern crop is still more res-duced; yet the average is only re-duced two points—from 94 2 to 92.7. It is still from an average to high in the great wheat producing States. In New York it is not as good tillering as in years of strong root growth. It is very promising in Maryland and Virginia, except in wet lands. In the South it has been effected with rust.
The crop has been injured in Texas from drought, and by floods in Ohio, and by hailstorms in Missouri. The prospect is good for about 12

Rye has also declined from a gen-eral average of 95.7 to 94.4 during the

The large acreage of oats in 1885, as not been extensively increased. It has been slightly reduced in Kentucky and Ohio, where the area was abnormal last year. The increase will approach half a million acres. The condition averages nearly 96, against 94 in 1885, and 98 in 1884. It is highest east of the Alleghanies, and a little below the full condition in the south and west. The tendency to increase in the area of cotton has been checked in he eastern states of the cotton belt. The returns show a stight reduction n South Carolina and Alabama. The more western states, in which settlement and farm extension have been active, exhibit some increase, mainly in Texas. The net increase is about two hundred and fifty million acres—an advance of one and three eights per cent. The record stands: Virginia 89, North Carolina South Carolina 99, Georgia 98, Florida 103, Alabama 99, Missiesippi 102, Bouisiana 102, Texas 190, Arkansas 102, Tennessee 101. The condition of the crop is lower than in 1885, averaging 88 7, against 92 last year. It is lower in seven States and higher in North Carolina, Florida, Texas and Tennesse The State averages are Virginia 95, North Carolina 97, South Carolina 63 Georgia 82, Florida 97, Alabama 87, Mississ ppi 87, Louisiana 85, Texas 95, Arkansas 83, Tennessee 99. Heavy rains have caused damage in Georgia, and the drought threatening in Texas has been broken since by refreshing rains. The stand has ben irregular but has been practically remedied by replanting.

RIOTING IN BELFAST.

Police and Rioters in Conflict-Scores of Men Wounded and

Some Killed. BELFAST, June 10,-The people here have been wrought to a state of great excitement by the riotous demonstra tions of Orangemen during the past two days All work is stopped, stores are closed and many residences are closely barricaded. Mobs are in every street prepared for further deeds of violence. The Orangement derds of violence. The Orangemen are greatly incensed at the constabulary for firing upon them, and threat-en to sack their barracks. Detach-ments of soldiers and police from Dublin and other cities are being for-warded to Belfast to assist the auhorities in restoring order. At midnight a meb of Orangemen raided a public house kept by a Catholic named O'Hare, and after sacking it set it on fire.

At midjudicial mind that could grasp a legal case unbiased and unprejudiced, he rarked among the very finest in his profession. Major Clement was set it on fire.

The police charged the rioters a dozen times with bayonets, but each time were forced back by volleys of stones. The police were finally forced to take refuge in the barracks, where they fired upon the mob from second story windows. The mob, however, held their ground twenty minutes longer, although the firing of the police was heavy and increased. Scores of rioters were wounded, and it is shown positively that six men and two women were killed A great many wounded persons were carried away by friends, and whether their injuries are fatal is not known. Twenty of the rioters who received bullet wounds are lying in one in-firmary. A large number of Orangemen who took part in the riots were arrested today. An inquest on the bodies of those killed will be opened

A Southern Newspaper's Cart.

"To Mr. Grover Cleveland, from the Great and Good Telegraph," is the legend that flamed upon a mammoth tupelo gum bread tray which on yesterday sped towards Washing ton from this city. It is a wedding present from the leading newspaper of Georgia to the first lady in the land.

The Telegraph might easily have sent Mrs. Cleveland a set of diamonds or a silver service; but these she has already. It preferred to send an article that will be a friend in all seasons. The bread-tray is simple, convertible and adaptable. It is a grand Jeffersonian combination bread-tray, warranted to serve a Democratic family in any station it may occupy.

We have said it is a grand combination bread-tray. So it is. It makes a fine card receiver, somewhat novel, it is true, but then the what novel, it is true, but then the fashionable world loves novelty. It constitutes a fine lapboard, and for shelling peas in it has no superior. It will also serve as a cance, and Grover with a good butter paddle to propel it, may enjoy many a moonlight ride on the tranquil Potomac in the capacious tray. And then, too, as many Georgia house-wives know, it makes a fine cradle. If any of Mrs. Cleveland's Folsom kin bring babies to be rocked at the White House it will be found invaluable. There hasn't been a cradle in the White House in forty years.

STATE NEWS.

Alamance Gleaner: Mr. George B. Haigh, died at his home at this place about six o'clock Tuesday evening 1st, inst., after an affliction many months of wasting siekness. His death was not unexpected. He leaves a wife and little girl two years old to mourn the loss of a husband and father.

Rockingham Rocket: Mr. E. N. Ingram, of Grasty Islands, informs us that his loss by the recent freshet in lest year's breadth in Dakota, a de-crease in Nebraska, and a small re-sands dollars, estimating destruction crease in Nebraska, and a small reduction in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The extension of the small advance in Debote is due months to the small reduction which was completely overflowed and the short small reduction of growing crops and rpin of the land. small advance. The extension of the area in Dakota is due mainly to the set lement and the necessity of ready set lement and the necessity of ready as we learn through Mr. R. T. Rush, as we learn through Mr. R. T. over the school grounds will see that things are lively in the way of pre-paration for the new building. The material is daily collecting and the walls will begin to rise as soon as the bricks are cool enough to handle.
This new school building will not cost less than ten thousand dollars. The hall built in the fall, soon after the fire, cost over six thousand dol-dollars. The old ball, "Founders," which has been standing fifty years, is worth, with its remodelling and various fixtures, not less than twelve thousand dollars, so that Friends School will be in better trim for first class work than ever before.

News & Observer: Today a reporter intrviewed Solicitor Galloway as upon the result being declared by the proper authorities, but that he had had a consultation with leading representative men, both of the prohibition and the license side of the question, and that without a dissenting voice they had advised the giving of reasonable time to the liquor men to wind up their business, and that consequently he would not institute any prosecutions against dealers for any infractions of the law occurring before the first day of July next.

Speaking of the death of Mr. Chas. A. Price, one of the victims of the Santee trestle disaster, the Wilmington Review says: We have known Mr. Price long and well. He was about 36 years of age and was the oldest son of the late Alfred L. Frice, one of the founders and proprietors of the Wilmington Journal. Mr. Price was for some time proprietor of a store in this city, then, in 1876, he entered into the publication in connection with the editor of this paper, the Evening Review (the predece of the Daily Review), and after abandoning the newspaper business, he served first for some years as a clerk in the Express office here, and more lately as messenger on the road. He was a man of many sterling qual ities of head and heart, an exemplary son, a gentle husband and a kind and indulgent father. He leaves a widow and three children of tender years to mourn their terrible bereavement.

Salisbury Herald: Some time last summer D. A. Crisco, who lives in Morgan township, near Pool postoffice entered the store of James L.
Arey, one half mile south of the Dutch Creek mine, and sold five ounches of Branch gold and nuggets. Mr. A. sold it to Mr. L E Steere, of our town, who upon a closer examination found it to be spurious. Mr. Arey redeemed the bogus metal and looked for his man. He could not find him until last Saturday, when he had Crisco arrested, On the way to the nearest magistrate, Crisco got away, but was caught Sunday morning at his house. Squire J. J. New-man tried him and bound him over to court under a $500 bond Not being able to give the bond, Mr. Crisco is now studdying metallurgical chemistry in our jail.—Major J. M. White straw gipsy bonnets trimmed with white satin ribbon and sprays of small white or tinted flowsers have been exhibited in some of the most fashionable quarters of this city. Here we see a direct return to one of the customs of our grandmothers' time, whose summer "Sun-day best" was almost without excep-tion after this fashion. These charm ing little bonnets are, as a rule, be-coming to youthful wearers and can be appropriately worn with almost any dressy summer costume.

Wet and Dry in Beleigh,

A special from Raleigh referring to the recent election, says: Today there was great excitement here. The Board of Canvassers, composed of pollholders, met to canvas the votpoliholders, met to canvas the votalit was alleged they had not been chosen as canvassers by the polihol lers of their respective precincis on the day of election. They were sworn in after a stormy scene between the chairman of the Bard and one of the counsel for the ante pro-hibitionists. The chairman invoked the aid of the sheriff but the latter said he could not do anything, as there was no breach of the peace. They did not have the official returns of the election, as the latter were in the possession of the Register of Deeds. The canvassers took the figures from a memoranda in their possession. They announced the result as 58 majority for prohibition from the courtshouse door. Mean-time the scene of conflict was changonly were crops destroyed but the land, in many places, was washed beyond all reclamation. He says be never saw Montgomery farmers so "blue" before.

Greensboro North State: Any one claneing the land of County Commissioners. Before this body the returns were brought by the Register. Counsel for both sides orgued before the Board Counsel for the antimissioners were not a board of can-vassers, and asked that the matter be left to the judge to decide. The Board went ahead and canvas sed the vote, and made official proclamation of the result of the election—53 majority for prohibition—from the court house door. The Board of Commissioners and Board of Canvessers were served with notice of suit brought by anti-prohibitionists to test the validity of the election. All these occurrences today have result-ed in causing much stir and a great deal of bad feeling The prohibition-ists say that the will of the people as expressed at the ball t box cannot be thwarted. The other side say that the Board of Canvassers was illegal to the time when the local option law in this township and in the town of Apex would go into operation. The solicitor informed him that under the statute it took effect immediately perior Court. There is no telling what turn affairs will take. Both sides are angry, and there are mutual recriminations. It is far worse than a political campaign. Both sides exaggerate, and both are at daggers' points, as was plainly shown today.

A Dead Issue.

Richmond Dispatch.

The Boston Globe thinks that the Stalwarts are pretty hard up for an issue. The South, it says, is attending to its own business. The Jeff Davis episode cannot be worked any further, and the bloody shirt has been so thoroughly washed that it will not attract a builfrog. In short, it concludes that sectionalism is stone-dead. Our observation is that the majority of the papers in the North are very much of the Globe's way of thinking. Just at present the

He has long sought to retire from political life and devote himself exclusively to the affairs of the Commercial Bank, in which he took great interest, and it is thought that after a rest at various places during the summer he will, in the autumn, return to Albany and resume the presidency of the bank, a position which, in view of this event happening, has never
