THE FATAL PISTOL.

Yesterday's Tragedy in Lancaster.

A Charlotte Young Man Kills his Assailant—An Unfortunate Affair.

Mr. Leroy Springs, of this city, but who lately engaged in business in Lancaster, S. C., yesterday shot and killed John Bell on the streets of Lancaster.

The shooting was done in self defense and from the evidence so far received, it appears to have been a case of justifiable homicide.

The affair occurred at noon yesterday and information was at once telegraphed to Mr. E. B. Springs, in this city, and Mr. Springs, securing the services of Col. H. C. Jones, attorney, left with that gentleman on the one o'clock train for Lancaster.

Mr. Walter S. Taylor, who is in Mr. Leroy Springs employ, arrived in the city last evening from Lancaster, and from him we gather the subjoined details of the tragedy.

It seems that on last Sunday afternoon, Mr. Springs went riding into the country, and on his return to town, late in the evening, he was accosted by Bell, who charged him with having said something derogatory to Bell's character.

Mr. Springs denied the allegation, but Bell was not satisfied and some hot words passed between the two.

Yesterday morning Mr. Springs was accosted by Bell, and the difficulty was renewed, Bell making an attack upon Mr. Springs, and after striking him two blows, made a movement to draw his pistol.

As Bell put his hand back to his pistol pocket Mr. Springs drew his own weapon, a Smith & Wesson, and fired before Bell could produce his weapon.

The bullet from Mr. Springs' pistol struck his assailant in the wrist, and passing through the wrist, entered Bell's body, at the right side, producing a wound which resulted in death in four or five minutes.

The bullet passed through Bell's hand at the moment Bell was reaching for his weapon.

Mr. Springs at once surrendered himself to the officers of the law and was placed under guard.

Today he will be taken to Chester, where a preliminary hearing will be held, and his counsel will move for his release on bail.

Mr. Springs is a son of the late Colonel A. B. Springs, of Charlotte, and he enjoys a great popularity among the people of this section, as well as among the people of Lancaster and vicinity.

He left Charlotte about two years ago to engage in business in Lancaster, and had succeeded in building up a fine trade at that place.

He is possessed of a quiet, urbane disposition, and those who know him are confident that he fired the fatal shot only as the last resort to save his own life.

Mr. Bell is well known in Charlotte, where he lived for sometime. While here he was clerk at the old Charlotte Hotel bar.

He was a carpenter by profession and was pursuing that trade in Lancaster. Both parties to the affair are young men, not over twenty-five or twenty-six years of age.

Our information is to the effect that public sentiment in Lancaster is decidedly in favor of Mr. Springs.

Stole Their Cashe. Early yesterday morning a fleet-footed young darkey, with three wooden shod Chinamen close at his heels, went scudding down Church street, straining every muscle in his body in an attempt to distance the Celestials.

Sam Kee, of the pursuing squad, was in the lead, and as he bowled along he yelled "Catchee!" Sam was arrayed in a blue frock and a baggy, loose-fitting linen jacket, and his pigtail stood out behind like a billiard cue.

The race was an animated one, but the darkey had out-run his pursuers, and would have escaped had he not been halted by Mr. Walter Mullen. He gave his name as Sam Richardson, and was brought up town by the police to answer to the charge of having robbed the Chinamen of $15 in cash.

Richardson had entered Kee's lair, and stolen the money from the till. The Celestials caught sight of him as he was making off, and forthwith they bolted out after him, leaving the laundry to take care of itself.

Only $4.40 of the money was recovered. Richardson went to prison in default of bail for his appearance for trial before Judge Meares.

Mr. Woods in Columbia. There were several Charlotte people in Columbia last Sunday, and from one of these who went to hear Rev. Mr. Woods preach his first sermon before his new Columbia congregation, we learn that great satisfaction was expressed at the sermon.

Mr. Woods was escorted to the church in a carriage, and there was a large congregation present to hear him. The sermon which he delivered, while something in the nature of a salutatory address, was full of scriptural truths, and was altogether a very forcible, impressive and powerful effort, one of the best which our informant had ever heard Mr. Woods deliver.

The Columbia people appear to be charmed at the start with their new preacher.

Fell from a Three-Story Window. Last Saturday night in Greensboro, an individual whose name we could not learn, dropped from a third story window of the McAdoo house to the pavement.

He struck a wooden grating over a cellar, and crushed caught and firmly held in the shattered grating. The only injuries the man received, outside of a few bruises, were three broken fingers.

Good for the Hornets.

The inspection of the Hornets Nest Rifleman camp in this city yesterday under the supervision of Inspector General Cameron, and the result was a feather in the cap of the Hornets.

General Cameron stated that it was the second best inspection he has yet held, the Tarboro company being the best. That company showed an attendance of 99 percent, while the Hornets showed 98 percent.

Two of the Hornets' members were sick yesterday, and but for this streak of bad luck, the Hornets would have beaten the Tarboro company.

In the inspection yesterday, the Hornets lost one point from the fact that one of the members had lost a button from his uniform.

This little incident shows how thorough and searching is the inspection. All of our citizens have good cause to feel proud of the excellent standing of the Hornets Nest Rifleman, for the organization is a credit to Charlotte.

It is fortunate for the company that it is under the management of so enthusiastic an officer as Captain T. R. Robertson. His own individual efforts have done a great deal towards bringing the company up to its present standard, and no other captain ever took a greater interest in the welfare of the company than he does.

At the close of the inspection Corporal J. M. Davis was ordered to the "front and centre," and received from Colonel J. Y. Bryce, a handsome silver badge for superiority in marksmanship.

Colonel Bryce addressed the company in a few words appropriate to the occasion.

The Electric Light Turned On. At three o'clock yesterday afternoon, steam was turned on at the electric light engine house in this city, and the interior of the room was lighted up simultaneously as if by a flash of sunlight.

The lamps for distribution throughout the city were being tested, and before nightfall hundreds of our citizens had viewed the spectacle and expressed their delight at the beauty and brilliancy of the dazzling, flashing carbons.

The lamps, sixty in number, and each one 2,000 candle power, were suspended in two rows along the interior of the room and connected with the dynamo, and Charlotte never before knew a house so brilliantly illuminated as was the engine room when the electric current was turned on these lamps.

Mr. Burbanks, the expert, superintended the operations, and shortly after the test was commenced he expressed to an OBSERVER reporter his entire satisfaction with the condition of affairs.

There was not the slightest trouble experienced, the beautiful Bell engine moving off at the start smoothly and noiselessly, and driving the dynamo pulley at the rate of 850 revolutions per minute.

The lights were kept burning until after 10 o'clock last night.

Unless prevented by rain, the workmen will today place the lamps at the various stations in the city, and tonight the rays of the electric light will dispel the darkness in portions of Charlotte.

A Prohibition Paper. As an indication that the prohibitionists in this city intend to prosecute the warfare on the saloons, it is stated, and we have it upon good authority, that at an early day a weekly paper, devoted to the cause of prohibition, will be started in Charlotte. It is to be the enterprise of a joint stock company, and it is surmised that Dr. W. P. Robey will have a hand in its editorial management, but upon this point we are not advised.

Now Has Faith. I had been troubled all winter with cold and pain in the chest and got no relief from remedies recommended by Druggists and Physicians. At last I was cured by Dr. H. H. Wood's Cough and Lung Syrup. I had little faith but bought a bottle and took it. It cured me more than they tell me of its curative qualities. From The News, Enslawtown, N. J., Sold by L. B. Weston.
