WHAT DID IT?

It is now asserted that Gen. Cox the Raleigh district on account of his bad judgment in the distribution of postoffices among his constituents. If Mr. Cox used his influence to get unfit partisans into public offices he met a just rebuke at the hands of his people. There has been enough of such peddling of offices by Democratic politicians, and if they do not already realize that the people are getting very tired of that sort of siness they will find that they are

At the hour Parliament met a depressing and persistent rain was falling, and a crowd gathered about the Westminster buildings. Some enthusiasm was displayed on the arrival of the various prominent lead ers, but it was generally faint. The attendance in the House of Commons wes large. Many members arrived before they had breakfast, in order to secure good seats.

LEWISTON, Me., August 19.-Th Lewiston, Me., August 19.—The Lewiston Steam Mill Company have made an assignment to E. F. Packard and A. R. Savage. Their liabilities on notes and accounts are $167,800, of this $58,000 is contingent; $45,000 of the same being the paper of C. T. Williams, and Russell, Sheen & Co. of Roston. The personal property. & Co., of Boston. The personal property of the company is estimated at $60,000. No estimate is made of the value of other property.

The Augusta Strike.

Augusta, August 19.—Grand Secretary Turner left for Philadelphia today, leaving the strike in the same condition. Negotiations for arbitration have been suspended by him because the salaries of the presidents and other well paid officials were not on the pay roll. There is no immediate prospect of a settlement. The presidents decline to be dictated to as to their own and the superinten dents salaries, which they claim reduced now more than 30 per cent.

Judge Fitzgerald returned thanks to the convention for the honor of the position. He said he would certainly endeavor to give a full hearing to every delegate on any subject to come before the convention. "I know no ring; know no clique," said the speaker, "and I am here for united Ireland"

He closed with the caution that delegates should have only one sentiment, and that was to prepare to fight the common enemy and to engender no feuds among themselves. "We hate her," he said, "because she has hated and despoiled us. When she declares peace, then may we, and not till then, will we cease hating her."

Continuing, he said: "Look at the manner in which we received a peace offering from the greatest of English statesmen, stinted though it was (Cheers.) He closed. "We can have we will have, no peace, until England ceases her deadly hostility to Ireland."
Hon. John T. Finerty rose in his seat and his appearance was the signal for tremendous cheering. He said he only rose to read a telegram addressed to him. It read as follows:

"Dublin, Aug. 19 - Finerty, Chi cago convention, Chicago: The manhood of Ireland is with you and trusts the convention will by resolution endorse Ireland's right and resolve to be free. (Signed)

Intend the objects of the league and the methods to be employed to attain those objects. Sections providing for the organisation of the league and the transaction of its business constituted the remainder of the report.

A delegate objected to the clause virtually advising the league to boy-cott articles of English manufacture. He moved that the clause be cut from the report.

Great confusion followed, in which were mingled cries of question, allusions to the tariff and denunciations of England. Amid the uproar the previous question was ordered. The delegates from Pennsylvania attempted, notwithstanding, to talk on the subject of tariff.

The question was then put, and the section remained in There was

Mr. Davitt rose and said he desired to say a word in explanation. Davitt did not antagonize the right of any one in Ireland to send a dispatch from Ireland, but said Teeling had no rom Ireland, but said Teeling had no right to speak for the people of Ireland. He was not a member of the league, and I say that Mr. Redmond Deasey and myself have the right to speak for the people of Ireland.

Finerty then rose to a question of personal privilege and was finally given the floor amid considerable confusion. The delegates from New York, and Hynes, interrupted repeatedly. He said Finerty should not speak on personal questions. Cries were raised for Finerty to take the platform. He said, "I will be heard anywhere."

The Chair—"Finerty is no spring chicken. He can be heard anywhere in the hall."

in the hall."

Hynes—"I protest against Finerty speaking."

Finerty—"I will speak."

The Chair admonished Finerty not to make another such remark.

Finerty, when order was restored said: "I am surprised to see the father of land league rise in his place and question that telegram." (More confusion.)

In the midst of the uproar, Finerty said: "It is what we have believed for twenty years, and I shall hold to my view for the freedom of Ireland to my death. If Teeling is not in the League, if he holds to this sentiment, he is certainly entitled to belong to it." As another scene ensued, Finerty declined to say more. He was cheered by the main body of the convention.

Davitt arose and said he could not dispute the right of Finerty to desire the freedom of Ireland and would not do so.

This acted as a quietus and the uparant sum to a sent that had been remitted to Parnell, or his trustges. Only $5,000 of the entire sum was still in the hands of the treasury. Father O'Reilly was thanked by a vote of the convention.

The committee on resolutions reported through Rev. Mr. Betts, as follows:

We, the delegates of the Irish Nation League of America, in convention assembled, firmly believing in the principles of human freedom, and in the right of the people to frame their own laws, a right which lies at the foundation of the prosperity and greatness of this republic, and which has been advantageously extended to the colonial possessions of Great Britain, do hereby Resolve 1st, That we express our heartiest and most unqualified approval of national self government for Ireland.

2nd, That we heartily approve of the course pursued by Charles Stews and, That we heartly approve of the course pursued by Charles Stewart Parnell and his Parliamentary associates in the English House of Commons, and we renew the expression of our entire confidence in their wisdom and ability to achieve home rule in Ireland

3rd, That we extend 'our heartfelt hanks to Gladstone for his great efforts in behalf of Irish self govern ment, and we express our gratitude to the English, Scotch and Welsh Democracy for the support given to the great liberal leader and his Irish policy during the recent general elec-tions.

4th. That this convention here returns its thanks to the America of the license scandalously extended to organize lawlessness in the north of Ireland by partisan officials, and we commend the laudable desire of the people of Ireland to manage their own affairs in their own way.

6th. That we hereby thank the president, treasurer and secretary of the Irish National League for the faithful and efficient manner in which they have discharged the arduous duties of their respective stations.

7th. That the following cablegram be forwarded to Hon. Chas. Stewart Parnell: "The delegates to the Irish National League Convention of America send greetings from our body, which embraces representative citizens from every State and Territory in the Umon, and also from Canada, and assure you of our cordial endorsement of your policy by a united and harmonious convention."

that in considering the declarations contained in the draft, the committee while discussing them fully, adopted them quanimously.

The reading of the resolutions was followed by hearty cheering. Finer-ty moved that the resolutions be adopted, section by section. (Cries of 'no;" no.") Armstrong, of Georgia supplied his motion. Gannon desired their adoption by

The chairman then introduced Mr. Redmond, who addressed the concention. On the conclusion of Mr. Redmond's speech, which was at 10 o'clock p m, the convention adjourned until 3 o'clock p. m. Redmond's remarks were wildly applauded.

At 3:45 p. m. Judge Fitzgerald rapped with his gavel, and Secretary Sutton began to read the minutes of yesterday's proceedings. During the reading Mrs, Parnell entered, and was greeted with tremendous applause. The minutes were unani-

The question was then put, and the section remained in. There was practically no opposition. The scene of enthusiasm that ensued surpassed any that before occurred in the convention. Bev. Dr. W. Pepper, a Methodist clergyman, who is one of the delegates, was then invited to address the convention. He said he had tested the feeling of his co-religionists and could say they were in thorough sympathy with Parnell and Gladstone. When finally, if they failed after trying every method, Farnell should send the message, "come over and help us," then, said the Reverenced speaker, "I swear by the throne of God, there will be at least one vacant pulpit in the United States."

The cheering at this point was terrific. When it somewhat abated, there was a call for a speach from Rev. Father O'Reilly, of Detroit. He gracefully declined, saying he was here simply to render an account of all money he had recently "stolen." (Laughter and cheers.)

The report of the committee on finance was then read. It highly complimented Rev. Dr. O'Reilly on his more than faithful and satisfactory discharge of his duties as treasurer of the league. It showed that $320,282 had been collected in the last two years, and the report mentioned the exact sum to a zent that had been remitted to Parnell, or his trustees. Only $5,000 of the entire sum was offsuch system.

At this point the chairman recognized Father O'Reilly, who said they had heard from men who had carried nuskets in ranks, now they should lear from the man who carried the purse. He then read the amount contributed by each State. A delegate from the East asked if it was not a mistake about the amount contributed by Illinois.

The chairman said; "You are not from Illinois. That State can take
