WOODROW SUSTAINED. THE LAST DAY OF THE TRIAL AT BETHANY.

Dr. Adams, of Augusta, Presents the Argument for the Prosecus. tion-Dr. Woodrow Defends His Doctrines--He is Declared not Guilty on Both Counts---His

BETHANY, Ga., August 17.—A large rowd was present at the Woodrow crowd was present at the Woodrow trief for heresy, before the Augusta Presbytery today. After sensutional passages between Dr. Adams and Woodrow, Dr. Adams on behalf as to his course in preferring charges against Woodrow, after which argument began by Dr. Adams on behalf of the prescution. The only point was the correctness of views held by the accuss d. Were they in accord with the scriptures as interpreted by the Presbyterian church? We thought it the most important case coming before the house. It was a crisis in the church. We are trying Dr. Woodrow on the question of evolution, either as an abstract principle or scientific hypothesis. Dr. Woodrow admits he finds nothing in the Bible to contradict the theory that all things were made by the immediate act of the Creator, and that it was developed by evolution. The speaker then at length reviewed Dr. Woodrow's arguments and position on the question at issue, calling attention to the belief held that God's word teaches that man's soul was immediately created. His spiritual nature came into existence by the fiat of the Almighty. He drew the conclusion from the evidence that Dr. Woodrow held that just as the rial for heresy, before the Augusta fiat of the Almighty. He drew the conclusion from the evidence that Dr. Woodrow held that just as the forse came man came.

Dr. Adams argued to prove Dr. Woodrow had passed the age of doubt in teaching evolution and had accepted evolution as true beyond peradventure. The scriptures are not silent on the subject. The Bible and confessions of faith both give accounts of the immediate making of man. The defendant having sworn to adopt the standards and cate chisms of church could not exercise the right of private judgment to teach any other doctrine. Dr. Woodrow is bound by the story of creation in the standards just as by other rules. Either have the standards al-earth, and women out of the rib of man. Should "r. Woodrow be ac quitted by the presbytery, the church would be pronounced in error."

J. C. Winder, the general manager of the Sea Board Air Line, is in that cated and consequently a much more convenient place for the transaction quitted by the presbytery, the church would be pronounced in error."

Dr. Woodrow, in his own defense, announced that the principles of his address were true, and would prevail against all opposition. He said his work had nothing to do with his change in views. I will not discuss evolution, here, for I would consider it a profanation to discuss a question of pure science in a court of the Lord Jesus Christ, but thinking it unsafe for the presbytery to base any action on the views as interpreted by Dr. Adams, he would explain that he had traced layer after layer, and fosil, and knew along with others that these forms of life have followed each other in that particular order. That is er in that particular order. That is the part that is not a hypothesis. My accuser's hypothesis that this is a hy-pothesis is a vast mistake. I am sur-prised that Dr. Adams should be ashamed of having been a quadru-ped. ped. "Explain what you mean by your

"I mean that man before birth passed through these intermediary stages. How are you going to prove that I am wrong? I have never said that evolution was taught in the Bible, or anything like it. But I do say that the bible does not tell us whether the process was mediate or whether the process was mediate or

Dr. Woodrow said the standards did no go further in explaining the creation of man than the Bible had done. He affirmed, in spite of what Dr Adams had said about him, that he did believe in the Bible and all that it taught. Was be compelled to believe in what it did not teach? He affirmed that he would not reawrite. affirmed that he would not re-write a single syllable of the church stand-ards. He would not take man's meaning in preference to God's

Dr. Woodrow appealed in the name of the Master that no word or oppro-bium in the church be placed; that no additional meaning be placed on God's word.

God's word.

On the final vote thirteen voted for Dr. Woodrow not guilty and nine voted him guilty on the first count of the indictment. On the other counts the majority of his votes was larger. Dr. Adams, conducting the prosecution, at once gave notice of appeal to synod in Sparta, in October.

The presbytery then adjourned.

MOONSHINER REDMOND.

A Notorious Character Passes

Through Sences. SENECA, S. C., August 18.—Probably no man living has had greater notoriety in the upper Carolinas than Redmond, who is known all over the Redmond, who is known all over the country as the "North Carolina moonshiner." He passed through here today, but it was not generally known that there was a man of such great notoriety in our midst until he had departed. One would scarce expect from a casual observation of the man that such notoriety could ever have been given him. He has an ordinary sedate expression and wears quite a luxurant growth of black English sidewhiskers. There is a slight foreign accent to his speech, which may probably be caused by some local physical affection. He is reported to have denounced the book published a few years age by a Philadelphia publishing company as a bundle of falsehoods.

Mrs. Winslow's Scothing Syrup. Christian Freeman: —We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant councied with colic pains, quiet sleep, a war parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for 623 seep which it affords the infant is perfectly natura, and the little cherub awakes as "origin as a button." And during the process of teething its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say that they would not be without it from the wirth of the child till it had finished with the teething slege on any consideration whatever. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

Wilmington Star: A Burgaw cor-respondent writes the Star that two colored boys, aged respectively thir-teen and sixteen years, sons of Riley Harold, living near South Washington in Pender county, were run over by the north bound train on the Wil-mington & Weldon Railroad Saturmington & Weldon Railroad Saturday night and instantly killed. It seems that the boys had been to a store in South Washington and were on their way home, walking in the middle of the track. The train passed directly over them crushing them to death. The bodies were not discovered until the mail train passed up Sunday morning. The railroad authorities at Wilmington were then notified and an engine with some of the officials of the road went to the the officials of the road went to the scene of the accident, when the bodies were taken to South Washington and delivered to the parents of the Greensboro North State: There is a good story told about some drum a good story told about some drummers, who generally spend Sunday here, who left Greensboro early one Sunday morning for a drive. They passed out by J. Van Lindley's, crossed the Salem road on the other side of the junction, and at the point beyond where the turnpike crosses the track, thought it would be a good joke to turn around and come back on the ties. They went along "bobby-bob" for some distance, when they heard the heavy whistle of the 9:30 train out of Greensboro. She came whirling by the coal shute, but they felt secure in being able to get off the track. The wheels caught in the rails, and the horses could do nothing with Vanstory's jersey; it would stay on the track. By the time they got opposite the little church the train was whizzing by Lindley's. It seemed to be coming straight for them. Two of the drummers jumped out head first, the third was overcome and remained in his seat, and the driver held on. It only took about a minute for all this only took about a minute for all this to happen—and in the meantime the train went to the left on the Charlotte track, leaving the commercial travelers safe, except a few bruises on those who tumbled out.
