

TRINITY COLLEGE DEFENDED.

Wake Forest the Winner of Doubles in Tennis Tournament—Sixteen Students Enter Preliminary Contest—Arrangements With Hospital Special to The Observer.

Trinity College, Nov. 12.—In the doubles of the tennis meet between the teams of Wake Forest and Trinity College Tennis Clubs, which began yesterday afternoon, Trinity was defeated by a score of three sets out of the five, the Wake Forest boys winning out after a series of very lively and hard-played games. The team from the Wake Forest Club consisted of Messrs. J. B. Turner and Barnshaw and from Trinity, Messrs. Emsley Armfield and J. M. Holland. There was quite a goodly number of spectators at the games and liberal applause was given the best plays by either side. The games were called at 3:30 o'clock and were interesting and lively from the first, beginning simultaneously with a series of enlivening college yells for Trinity and the visitors. The first set was won by the visiting team, by a score of 6 to 4. In the second, the most intensely interesting game, the score was 2 to 6 in favor of Trinity. The two last games were more easily won by the Baptists, the scores being 6 to 2 and 6 to 3 respectively. At the end of the game the Trinity students among the spectators showed a fine college spirit by giving a rousing yell for Wake Forest.

The most interesting event of the meet will be the games of singles this afternoon when Armfield, for Trinity, and Turner, for Wake Forest, will play for the glory of their respective clubs. These men are the champion players at their respective institutions and there is much interest in the game. The umpires are Prof. A. M. Webb and Mr. Mack Lewis. The preliminary debate to select representatives for the debate to be held with Randolph-Macon will be held Saturday evening, December 10th. Sixteen men have entered the contest. An arrangement has been recently made between Watsis Hospital and Trinity College and Trinity Park School whereby any student of the college and school upon the payment of a fee of $1, may be guaranteed for one year all necessary hospital treatment in case of illness. This treatment consists of medicine, bed, board, and nurse. The physician is to be selected and paid by the student himself. The prescribed number of students has paid the fee and the arrangement is now in effect. Watsis Hospital, which will thus serve the college as an infirmary, is located on grounds adjoining Trinity Park. It was built and endowed by Mr. George W. Watsis, a well known citizen of Durham, and the valuation of the hospital property and its endowment amounts to $30,000. The institution is well equipped and is provided with a staff of experienced nurses and the services of the hospital trustees thus enables Trinity College to offer exceptional facilities for the proper care of the sick among the students.

CLEVELAND COURT.

Criminal Term Over and Civil Term Begins Monday—Noted Lynch Case to be Taken Up—Congressman Webb's Majority Reported. Shelby, Nov. 12.—The fall term of Cleveland Superior Court, which convened on Thursday, adjourned last evening, having finished up the criminal docket, and on Monday, the civil docket, in the body of the Futherford county land, will be taken up. Judge Allen is presiding. The citizens of Cleveland county appreciate the honor which has been conferred upon them by the appointment of Mr. J. L. Webb to the judgeship of the Cleveland Superior Court. He will have this evening for his first court at Windsor, Beaufort county. Shelby was the adopted home of his predecessor, Judge Hoke, he having lived here in his palmy young days, practiced law, and doubtless dreamed of the time when he might be some thing more than an attorney at law. His fondest dreams have been realized, and his Shelby friends are ready to say "Well done."

Judge Moore and Mr. J. G. Merrimon, both of Asheville, are here to attend the noted Lynch case at court.—Mr. Wallace Griffith and sister, Miss Sallie Griffith, of Winston, are visiting at the home of Mr. J. F. Harris. They attended the Williams-Harris wedding on Wednesday evening. Congressman E. Y. Webb's majority in the ninth district is 3,365 as near as can be ascertained. He is receiving congratulations from his many friends.

CAUSE OF FEVER OUTBREAK.

Lack of Sewerage Responsible for Sickness at the Thomsville Orphanage—System Being Perfected. Special to The Observer. Thomsville, Nov. 12.—The following is the report on the cause of typhoid fever at the Baptist Orphanage here: After weeks of investigation of all of the conditions pertaining to the epidemic, especially the drinking water, the distribution of the milk and water supply which is generally accepted as the medium of dissemination of the great majority of cases of typhoid fever, we find that neither the milk nor the water contains typhoid bacilli and cannot be held responsible for this outbreak, but we have arrived at the conclusion that the privies are vitally responsible for the spread of the infection. The alteration in the privy system, sewerage, so persistently urged by us, is by the general manager and the physician in charge, is now being pushed as rapidly as possible, although we have for some time past been using daily disinfectants in the privies. C. A. JULIAN, M. D., Physician-in-Charge.

Bids Wanted for Nash and Davidson Monument.

Special to The Observer. Wilmington, Nov. 12.—Captain R. J. Johnson, of the corps of United States engineers here, calls for sealed proposals for a monument to be erected to Generals Nash and Davidson by the government on Guilford Battle Ground, near Greensboro. Bids will be received until noon December 12th at the office of Captain Johnson in this city.

Colored Man Shot.

Special to The Observer. Louisville, Nov. 12.—Mr. William Horton, while turkey hunting this morning on the plantation of W. H. Allen, accidentally shot and is feared, fatally wounded Chas. Hunt, colored. Ohioan Will Boost the Crumacker Scheme. Special to The Observer. Springfield, Ohio, Nov. 12.—Ex-Speaker Keyser for John Sharp Williams case, says he will lead the movement in the next Congress to reduce the representation of the South.

UNUSUAL SITUATION.

Two Law Partners of Different Political Faith Honored by Their Respective Parties With Office—Hendersonville, Nov. 12.—Some months ago Mr. M. L. Shipman's friends here announced that he would be a candidate for the nomination of State Senator in this district, which is made up of Henderson, Polk, Rutherford and Cleveland counties, and Mr. Shipman decided that inasmuch as his friends had put him forward he would make the race, and so announced. According to an agreement made at the Democratic senatorial convention two years ago it was decided that Rutherford should have one of the Senators this year, and Henderson the other—there being two in this district. It was also decided that whoever received the endorsement of Henderson county in the primaries should be named by the convention as the man from this county. Shortly after Mr. Shipman had announced that he was a candidate for the nomination Charles F. Toms announced himself, and for two or three weeks the fight was warm, Mr. Shipman and Mr. Toms both contesting every inch of the ground. Finally when the primary was pulled off it was found that Mr. Toms had received the endorsement of a majority of the Democrats in this county, and was, therefore, according to the agreement made at the convention two years ago, one of the nominees for the Senate in this district. After he had received the nomination it was then only a question as to what his majority would be in the district is overwhelmingly Democratic.

Some time after Mr. Toms had secured the nomination for the Senate, Mr. W. C. Rector, who is Mr. Toms' law partner, and a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, decided that he didn't care anything about remaining at home this winter and carrying on the law business of the firm of Toms & Rector, as he announced that he would be a candidate for Representative before the Republican county convention, and when the nomination on that ballot and went into the campaign to win by a handsome majority. As soon as he had been nominated he challenged Mr. Ray, the Democratic candidate, to a joint discussion of the issues before the people of Henderson county. Mr. Ray accepted the challenge and times and places were agreed upon for the speaking in the respective precincts and townships of the county. Twelve debates were had between Mr. Rector and Mr. Ray in the county, and in addition to the speeches made by the joint canvass Mr. Rector made a number of others in the county, the last one being at Hendersonville on the day before the election. While Mr. Rector was making his campaign for the Republican county convention, Mr. Toms' law partner, was making a vigorous campaign in the counties of Polk, Rutherford and Cleveland, winning on the day before election. When the ballots were counted and the votes counted last Tuesday it was found that Mr. Rector was elected by a majority of 1,000, and that the Democrats in this senatorial district had given Mr. Toms about 120 majority. This is the first time in the history of this State that two young men of the same age and partners in the practice of the law but differing in politics, have secured the nomination at the hands of the political parties to which they belonged, and both been elected. It is indeed a novel occurrence. But it goes without saying that these young men will both make clean, fearless and able representatives in the next General Assembly, and the political party to which each belongs will doubtless never have cause to regret placing them forth as legislative candidates in the election of 1904.

Work on the new court house is progressing rapidly. The first story, which is of stone, is completed, and the brick work is about completed above the fourth story windows. N. H. Hargett, of Company M, 16th Infantry, is visiting in the community for a few days.—Attorneys R. H. Stagon and W. C. Rector have been in attendance upon the Federal Court at Asheville for the past three days.

BOYS ATTEMPT ARSON.

Two 16-Year-Old Students at the Asheville Farm School, Threw of School Life by Burning the Building—The Pair Will be Tried for Their Lives. Special to The Observer. Asheville, Nov. 12.—Deputy Sheriff Ott Wells returned to the city to-night from the Asheville Farm School, located ten miles from the city on the Swannanoa river, bringing with him two students of the school, Colin Fitches and Willard Gosnell, who are charged with attempting to burn the school buildings about 11 o'clock last night. The boys are not more than 16 years of age and have been students of the school for some time. Last night it is alleged, they went to the basement of the dormitories and piling a lot of rubbish on the floor set fire to it. Another student was awakened by the smell of smoke and located the flames. The fire was burning slowly when discovered and was soon extinguished without loss of property. That the early discovery of the blaze probably saved the lives of many students and much property is almost certain. The boys were kept in confinement by the superintendent of the school until this afternoon, when an officer went for them. They gave as their reason for desiring to burn the building that they were tired of going to school. One of the boys is said to have run away three days ago and when made to return by his uncle said that he would burn the building and thus rid himself of having to go to school. A charge of arson in the first degree will probably be preferred against the two and they will have to stand trial for their lives.

Senator Aldrich and Party En Route to Beaufort.

Special to The Observer. Goldsboro, Nov. 12.—Senator Aldrich, accompanied by a large party, accompanied by the charge of W. S. Howland, left of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad, passed through this city to-day en route to Beaufort. The object of his visit is to officially inspect the waters of Beaufort harbor relative to the proposed improvements that it is hoped to induce the government to make there.

Thanks for the Compliment.

Wilmington Dispatch. The Charlotte Observer, one of the most conservative papers in the South and one whose opinion is respected everywhere, is blue over the defeat of the Democratic party.

OLD MAIDS' CONVENTION.

A Successful Entertainment at Spencer—Church Notices—Annual Meeting of Railway Conductors—Personal.

Spencer, Nov. 12.—"Ye Old Maids' Convention" was the absorbing topic of the place last night and a large number of people attended the deliberations of the gathering. Never before in the history of Spencer were so many women apparently bent on getting married. The place was filled by local talent and the cast of characters was as follows: Angelina Electricum, Clark, president, Miss Jennie Freeman, Priscilla Hope, treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Jenkins, Augusta Prim, Mrs. R. O. Puryear, Faithful Blossom, Mrs. Joe Cox, Frosina Bobkins, Miss Mildred Cook, Rhoda Larkin, Mrs. D. B. Greenhill, Susan Smith, Miss Flora Worthen, Miranda Price, Mrs. W. C. Gatewood, Mary Ann Barnes, Mrs. Chas. Fowler, Sarah Jane Sprague, Mrs. J. W. Freeman, Eliza Hooper, Miss Margaret Giddings, Esther Snyder, Miss Mamie Hatley, Marian Perkins, Miss Maude Moore, Asseneth Baker, Miss Heula Shook, Amy Little, Miss Bessie Edwards, Sophia Potter, Mrs. A. D. Smith, Prof. Pinkerton, T. E. Hudson. The convention, which meets every Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church and a handsome sum was realized. T. E. Hudson, Esq., as the "Old Maid" was, perhaps, the most interesting character in the play. He carried with him a wonderful "Transformation" by the application of the most homely old maids were transformed into beautiful young girls, each character was well represented, however, and the play was a great success. In the absence of Rev. J. E. Gay, who is attending Conference at Charlotte, this week, Rev. A. S. Caldwell, of Barham Springs, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church here Sunday morning and night. Mr. J. L. Trench, pastor of the First Baptist church in Salisbury, will make a good talk to railroad men at the Spencer Young Men's Christian Association Sunday afternoon and evening. Mr. S. S. Dossert, of the Spencer Mercantile Co., who has been ill for several weeks, has gone to Asheville to recuperate. Miss Helen, who also was ill, has returned to a position in the faculty of the Spencer public schools, has entered upon her duties. The district free school at this place will begin on January 1st. Mr. J. C. Hargett, formerly of Warrington is spending up at stock of hardware in the Michael building on Salisbury avenue. This is Spencer's first hardware store. It was the suggestion of Mr. Hargett being a young man of much energy. The following is the honor roll for the Spencer schools for the month of October: Primary, Mrs. J. M. Fletcher, Mrs. Maud Drumheller, Lydia Ann Jones, Eugene Armstrong, Fourth grade, Edna Drumheller, Fifth grade, Edna Drumheller. The school of Railway Conductors, located on Dupont No. 221, of the southern system, will hold their annual meeting at the Spencer Hotel, on Monday, December 19th. The school is composed of 150 members and a large number of conductors from all over the district. The order is a very large organization and No. 21 is a strong affiliate.

MRS. P. MADDOX DEAD.

Aged Resident of Greensboro Passes Away—Funeral Held—Gravestone Memorial to be Erected on Guilford Battle Ground. Special to The Observer. Greensboro, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Pleasant M. Maddox died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert M. Maddox on Bellemore avenue, here, on Monday, November 7th. Her home was in the country, but she had been on a visit to relatives for some time. She had been suffering for some time from a long illness. Her age was 67 years. She was the mother of the late Albert Maddox, Brantly Maddox and grand-mother of Miss Doris Maddox. The funeral will be conducted by Rev. J. M. Seabrook at a Baptist church in Greensboro on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A large number of Buffalo church members will be present. A real estate deal was consummated today by which Mr. Garland Daniel became the owner of Mr. E. V. Vail's property of the city, consisting of 100 acres, to be purchased for $20,000. The property this party in the city limits will be sold for building lots by the Greensboro Real Estate and Loan Company.

Conflicting Election Returns Had Their Effect Upon the Group in the County Court House—The Joke Was Both Ways.

Correspondence of The Observer. Rockingham, Nov. 12.—On the night of the election the group in the County Court House, here, received a shock from which they have not fully recovered yet. A large number of Democrats and Republicans had gathered in the County Court House, here, to receive the returns. The first news brought the returns of the Democratic vote, and the group followed was a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The group was then a "D.P." telegram of congratulation to Mr. Jones which came from an anonymous source, and then the Republican returns. The Republicans were jubilant. They set Marshall Henry C. Bookers, by book eyes peering, and his face was as white as a grand dandy. A few minutes later the news came that the Democrats had won. The