

A SHOOTING ON BROADWAY

EXCITED CROWDS IN PURSUIT.

Guy Roche, a Sporting Man, Probably Fully the Most of the Holiday Throng, Two Witnesses Saying "Big Frank" Felton Did the Firing—Felton Chased by Crows of Such Proportions That Reserves Were Called Out to Help His Guilt and Wounded Man Refuses to Identify Him.

New York, Nov. 24.—Guy Roche, a sporting man, who killed "Sheeny George" Levy, nine years ago, was shot and probably fatally wounded late this evening in Broadway between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth streets, while the avenue was thronged with holiday promenaders.

Stewart Felton, known as "Big Frank," also a sporting man, was arrested, charged with having fired the shot. He denies the charge. Although he was told that he would die, Roche refused to say that Felton shot him, and declared that if he lived he would settle his account himself.

Roche was hurried to a hospital, where it was said his condition is critical. By this time the crowd had grown to such proportions that reserves had to be called before Felton could be taken to a police station. There were two witnesses who said they saw Felton fire two shots the instant before Roche fell.
