Every Day in the Year.

TEN PAGES.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1906.

The affairs of the world would probably go much better if we would all take more advice and give less.

The people in some New Jersey towns, who have been seeing blood-red crosses in the sky during the holidays, probably had more Christmas rain's in their's than we did.

The North Carolina Cotton Growers' Association did itself proud in unanimously choosing Mr. C. C. Moore as its president.

The public accountant is one of the newest professional men and promises to be one of the most useful in conserving vested interests.

According to the press dispatches one of the most sensational developments of the week in the case of William D. Mann, of Town Topics, Fads and Fancies, etc., against Norman Haggood, editor of Collier's Weekly.

There is a great deal of human interest in the San Francisco dispatch of yesterday, which relates the marriage of John Henry Hlick, manager of the great "T. O." ranch in Mexico and the original of Owen Winter's story, "The Virginian," to Miss Katherine Adams, of San Francisco, a school teacher whom he met at Tempe, Arizona.

Formerly great cities were built on the coast or on the banks of navigable streams because these were necessary to a large commerce.

It is well that the War Department has taken a firm stand in the case of Lieut. Roy L. Taylor of the coast artillery arm of the service.

John R. Rose and Frank M. Caldwell will arrive in Charlotte for Washington, where they go to see Sarah Bernhardt, at the Belasco theatre.

WEEDS OF IDLENESS RESTORED TO PROSPERITY.

Even students of heredity will be amazed at the unparalleled reach and influence of the "Lesser Frey" from the "Weeds of Idleness" and "Strength and Saved Him From a Drunkard's Grave."

WEEDS OF IDLENESS RESTORED TO PROSPERITY.

Students of suggestion—Christian Scientists, hypnotists and the like—will value the following datum: "My wife was complaining of severe brucella last night. She has great faith in my mother-in-law's yarb concoctions and fiesidie panaceas, and so appealed to her for a remedy."
