

ROCKEFELLER JR'S CLASS
IMPRESSIONS OF A TAR HEEL

Young North Carolinians do not seem to be anxious to see the Tar Heel... The young Tar Heel reporter mentioned to two of us that if we cared to attend a meeting of the class, we could go with him. Of course we were glad to accept the invitation... The young Tar Heel reporter mentioned to two of us that if we cared to attend a meeting of the class, we could go with him. The Annual Meeting Will Be Held Next Friday—Personal Mention—Vesper Services. The annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association will be held next Friday evening, Jan. 19, in the Sunday school rooms of Tryon Street Methodist church. The address of the evening will be made by Mrs. George Atkinson of Monroe, those who heard Mrs. Atkinson speak in our city on December 2, 1904. When she was Miss Frances Bridges, national secretary of the American Committee of Young Women's Christian Associations, realize how fortunate the Charlotte city association is in securing her. She will speak on association work. Miss Nan Dowd is arranging for special music. The business of the evening is the election of an advisory board of men of Charlotte, and new directors to fill the following vacancies made by expiration of term of office: Messdames W. S. Liddell, H. S. Murrill, W. C. Alexander, W. S. Stewart, J. O. Gardner, E. C. Register, A. Burwell, A. E. Washburn, Dr. Annie L. Alexander, Lovell, Jones, Charles C. Martin. The reports of the recording secretary, Mrs. J. G. Bald, and the treasurer, Dr. Annie L. Alexander, will be of interest to the many people of Charlotte who are adding the city association to get a fine foothold. The citizens of Charlotte are invited to be present at this meeting at 8 o'clock Friday evening in Tryon Street Methodist church. The Vesper service this afternoon will be led by Mrs. J. W. W. Blair; she will speak on "Women among women in China." Mrs. C. E. Mason will sing and Miss Eva Eddins will preside at the piano. THE DEATH RECORD.

Miss Sallie Kennedy, of Chester. Special to The Observer. Chester, S. C., Jan. 13.—Miss Sallie Kennedy died at her home in this city this morning after a short illness from pneumonia. She had been ill only since Tuesday afternoon and the announcement of her death to-day was sudden and shocking. Miss Kennedy was a daughter of Maj. Richard Kennedy, a prominent business man of Chester in the early sixties. She was in her fifty-ninth year and her death removes the only member of this once prominent and influential family. For the past 15 years she had been completely bedridden. A photograph studio here and was well known in this section of the State. Funeral services will be conducted to-morrow afternoon from the Baptist church, of which the deceased was an active and devoted member. S. S. Neeley, of York County, S. C. Special to The Observer. Rock Hill, S. C., Jan. 13.—Mr. S. S. Neely, who at one time made his home in this city, being in charge of the Winthrop College farm and dairy, but who later moved to the Ogden neighborhood, south of town, conducting a farm there, died at his home Thursday night after an illness of three weeks from pneumonia. He is survived by a wife and six children, his mother, one sister and two brothers. He was well known in this and the surrounding community in which he lived. The remains of the deceased were interred in Laurelwood cemetery, after services at the home by Rev. W. B. Duncan, pastor of St. John's M. E. Church, South, of which church the deceased was a loyal member. Mrs. Elvira Moore, of Rock Hill. Special to The Observer. Rock Hill, S. C., Jan. 13.—Wednesday afternoon about 10 o'clock the life of Mrs. Elvira Moore was ended after a illness of about two weeks. She was a Christian woman and had been a member of the Presbyterian church since she was a mere child. She died at the home of her brother, Mr. Joe B. Miller, who lives in the western suburbs of the city. Funeral services were conducted at the home Thursday morning after which the remains were interred in Laurelwood cemetery, this city. Roscoe Jester, of Jonesville. Correspondence of The Observer. Eiklin, Jan. 12.—Mr. Roscoe Jester, aged 18 years, died at the residence of his father, Mr. J. F. Jester, near Jonesville, last night at 11 o'clock. He had been sick with typhoid fever a little more than two months. The funeral will be held at the home to-morrow morning after which the body will be taken to Island Ford for burial. Correspondence of The Observer. Spartanburg, S. C., Jan. 12.—Secretary and Treasurer R. E. Hughes, of Laurin, is sending out announcements for the eighth annual session of the Tri-State Medical Association, to be held at White Stone Springs February 27 and 28. The society is growing in numbers and usefulness, its members being from North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. It works in perfect harmony with the State societies, and any physician in good standing who belongs to a State association may become a member. Dr. O. W. Leonard and Dr. DeFote Wilson, of this city, are in charge of the local end of the preparations for the gathering in February. What you pay for extracts is important, but what you get for your money is ten times more important. Ask for Burnett's Vanilla and get the best.

BOOK NOTICES.

The following dozen books have been published by the American Book Company, New York, and are primarily for use in schools. Flores de Espana, nine selected stories with notes and vocabulary, by C. Fontaine, B. es L. L. en D. These Spanish stories all by the best contemporary writers, have been carefully graded by the editor, with a view to the gradual mastery by the student of the vocabulary, and have been so arranged that they may be read with interest and profit, or as a rather difficult task to perform, says the editor, naively. In Spanish literature. The study of Spanish is increasing rapidly and our acquaintance of Porto Rico and our closer relations with Cuba and this book will meet the needs of many teachers. Excursions sur les Bords du Rhin, by Alexander Dumas, and edited, with introduction and vocabulary, by Theodore Henckles. These selections from the great Frenchman are full of incident, dialogue, and charming writing. It is the Bible from the French point of view. The book is easy reading, and will beguile young and old alike, but its aim is for the benefit of those who have only well begun the study of the poetic language. Exercises in Geometry, by Levi L. Conant. The theorems and problems herein contained are designed to support original work in geometry. Its practical value will be appreciated by teachers and pupils alike. A Primer of Essentials in Grammar and Rhetoric, by Marletta Knight. A little topical book which is what its title implies. Thirty More Famous Stories Retold, by James Baldwin. A first rate school reader of 225 pages. Every child ought to know the stories here recounted. Illustrations by Clifton Johnson. The old story is abbreviated to 184 pages, simplified where necessary, and broken into chapters and sections. Shakespeare's Julius, with ample introduction and notes, edited by Hamilton Wright Mabie. This book belongs to the "Gateway Series," the general editor of which is Henry Van Dyke, who contributes a preface here. In Field and Pasture and Fishing and Hunting, the first by Maude Barrows Dutton and the second by the author and Sarah M. Stanley. These are short stories for children, the scenes set in all part of the world. They will be found very instructive as well as interesting. Not Wanted, Not Wanted, 260 pages of rather gaudy material. Essentials in Mediaeval and Modern History, from Charlemagne to the present day, by Sammie Bannister Hardin and Albert Bushnell Hart. 611 pages, bound in cloth and leather, copiously illustrated and attractively written. A good handbook of history for school purposes. Elementary Latin Writing, by Clara B. Jordan. A book which has been needed a long time by teachers of Latin. All these books are well bound, printed on rough paper in large clear type, and will resist the wear and tear of school use as long as any books of the kind. It will certainly be worth the while of committees to examine the selection of books to examine these.

WEDDING PRESENTS FROM THE ROUGH RIDERS. Galveston, Tex., Correspondence New York World. The Rough Riders are to buy a wedding present for Miss Alice Roosevelt. The secretary of the Tishomingo (I. T.) association has started the movement, and he has forwarded letters to ex-riders throughout the country suggesting the appropriateness of presenting to the daughter of their old chief a token of esteem. In the letters sent out to the members of the famous Spanish-American war regiment voluntary donations are suggested, and it is proposed that with the proceeds a dining table piece of silver embellished with the regimental emblem be procured and presented to Miss Alice. Several members in Texas of the Rough Riders Association have already manifested a cheerful acquiescence in the suggestion.

Folklore of the South. Baltimore Sun. Mr. Richard Thomas Wyche, of North Carolina, addressed the members of the Woman's Club of Roland Park yesterday afternoon on "Old Folklore Stories of the South and Uncle Remus Tales." The "Uncle Remus" stories, he said, were handed down by word of mouth from the old-time negro, some of them having been brought from Africa. They have charmed and delighted Southern children and older persons too, and since Mr. Joel Chandler Harris compiled them they have gone over the whole country into England and the European Continent. Mr. Wyche gave "The Tar Baby," "Brer Buzzard Teaches" "Brer Terrapin to Fly," and others, which were greatly enjoyed by the club members.
