THE OBSERVER UNDER BOYCOTT

There is comment upon the fact that it is rare now that The Observer can be bought on some trains and at some news stands in North Carolina where it was formerly found with unfailing regularity, and questions have been asked about it. The explanation is that the paper is under a partial boycott by the Union News Company.

There is beginning to be some movement of the congressional waters in North Carolina—less, apparently, in the eastern than the western part of the State. There have been no public utterances with regard to candidates for the Democratic nomination in the first, second, fourth, fifth or sixth districts. Newspapers have stated that Representatives Thomas, of the third district, and Page, of the seventh, will have opposition.

Occasionally one sees or hears an argument in behalf of the abolishment of capital punishment. Instead of being abolished it should be retained in the laws and the list of crimes for which it may be inflicted enlarged.

Asheville is fortunate in that it is to have the privilege of seeing Sarah Bernhardt on the 25th of March. It is a great pity that she is not to be seen in Charlotte. The Academy of Music would not hold the people who would want to see her if she were to appear here.

WHAT IT MEANS FOR THE FUTURE

The Chisler says "there are timbermen in Asheville from the North almost without number." The first step, it is further stated, with those timbermen of the North which find timber available no longer in the section where they are located is to send men South or West, wherever there is a supply visible. The lumber is shipped to the plant in the North for working. It is in this State that most of the Northern manufacturers now are.

THIS PROMISES SOMETHING

It was pleasant to read in the Washington correspondence of yesterday's Observer that "a movement to establish Scandinavian colonies in western North Carolina has been started," and that "at the head of the undertaking are some Swedish gentlemen, influential in Scandinavian affairs in the North."

A week or more since it was stated in these columns that many months ago the Postoffice Department ordered mail service on the line between Charlotte and Roanoke, Va., and that the Norfolk & Western Railroad made prompt provision for the service while the Southern Railway has not done so yet.

Some time ago it was announced that Collector H. S. Hopkins, of this internal revenue district, would not be an applicant for re-appointment but it is noticed that he was in Washington Saturday and that his business related to holding on to his job.

We used to hear a great deal about "per capita." Well, the per capita circulation is greater now than ever before in the history of the country, being $31.88, based on an estimated population of 84,977,000.

Capt. Jones Will Lose an Eye. The many friends of Capt. Homer Jones, one of the Southern's most popular conductors, will be pained to learn that he will lose one of his eyes from a recent accident.

SOCIAL. Mrs. E. F. Dixon, of Raleigh, is visiting her son, Mr. Robert L. Durham, on Jackson Terrace.

CHRIST A RANSOM FOR MEN

NEW THEOLOGY EXPANDED. Dr. R. C. Holland Discusses Doctrine of Atonement and Takes View That Christ is a Substitute for Sinners—New Theology Originated From Andover Seminary, and Was Introduced Into This Country by Rev. Dr. R. C. Holland, pastor of Mark's Lutheran church, preached last night on the doctrine of the atonement by substitution of Christ for man's sin.

"That which is most to be desired on the part of man," said Dr. Holland, "is peace with God, and the worst thing for him is to be at variance with God. Peace and reconciliation are the Gospel offers. It is called the Gospel of peace, God, much more than man, desires to end this warfare, which estranges him from his creature."

Righteousness means law fulfilled, satisfied. To redeem man, to buy out sin, is not a theory, but fact. It is a law for righteousness for every one that believeth. "Therefore, Christ is our substitute under the law."

Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin, and there is no atonement except by sacrifice. We are reconciled to God by the death of his Son, who made the application of the atonement to us.

Why Doctrine of Substitution is Rejected. "I can understand," said Dr. Holland, "how the Unitarians can reject the doctrine of atonement by substitution; they deny the divinity of Christ and assert that he was not God, but a great and good man."

But some say you forget about the new theology. I do not forget. It originated at Andover Seminary, in 1820, when the philosophy of the Middle Ages, when the philosophy of Aristotle was grafted on to theology and put the Seminary into the discussion of the verbal interpretation of the Scriptures.

DOES ALL CLAIMED FOR IT

Entered Keeley Institute on a Last Night. "No Laid on Me. No Cure, I'd be Gladly Given if His Unqualified Endorsement." The Keeley Institute, Greensboro, N. C.

I left your Institute on December 15, 1904, a sound man, cured of the whiskey habit, and never have had any desire for drink since. I advise any one afflicted as I was to make no delay in taking the Keeley Treatment at Greensboro. I was treated most kindly by the manager, the doctor and the attendants while there.

Implies a poor, inadequate view of sin. Here occurred the passage quoted in the first paragraph: "This beautiful doctrine has been attacked from time to time since the beginning of the Christian era, but whoever assailed it did so only to fall by the way."

New Manufacturing Enterprise for Asheville—Majority of Stock Subscribed and Location Practically Assured. Correspondence of The Observer. Asheville, Feb. 3.—It has been known for several days that efforts were making toward the locating here of a large veneering plant, and although many details relative to the organization of the concern have not been closed, such progress has been made as to warrant the statement that the plant will assuredly be located in Asheville, and another industry will be added to the present healthy list.
