Pool, Allen gineers, State officials, in fact, to all Childres, and Bill Millsaps, the champion fox hunter of Rocky Creek. Sheriff Williams is very young in the business, but mounted on his fine black steed he looks like an Indian warrior.

"The dogs on the hunt were: Jack, the famous; Brag, the matchless; Chip, the undaunted; Hague, the fleetest; Scratch, the truest; Bergen, the loudest, and a dozen others. They are all black and tans, bred from Track and Game. Game is long since dead, and now sleeps in a happy hunting ground, while Track is nursing six fine pupples.

"Two foxes were jumped but the hounds followed the dog and caught him after ten hours of hard running Two hours before the race ended Calley St. Clair came in with Bell, the beauty, and the black dogs of St. Bernard's breed, namely Lady of the Lake and Coosa, the muse of the mountains. Bell caught the fox, Sheriff Williams being the only man present. "The following named mountains were touched in the chase: Tom, Poors Knob, Old Snaggy, Buzzard Knob, Hendren's Cliff and Ten Acre

BATHE THE FACE CLEAN

It is in possible to keep the tes of the skin of the face clean and free without the aid of water, soap and friction. It is impossible to keep the funcof the skin (on which the face depends for clearness and beauter in a healthy con-dition without cleanliness. Cleanliness requires soap, for water alone will not remove the only secretion from the pores of the skin Soap renders the unctious product of the skin freely miscible with water, and for that reason soap is an absolutely indispensable aid in removing the oil and dirt which adheres in minute, microscopic particles to the pores of the face

But be sure you get a soap with no "free" alkali. Be sure you consult us, for we make a specialty of tollet requisites, and we can provide you with the proper soap-the soap that will help and not harm the
