the President's address. COLORED RACE CAPABLE. Now, to-day Tunkegee shows sixteen hundred negro students taught by own mace. The colored race having done this here and in everal other similar colleges and schools in widely scattered parts of the Bouth, proved that the whole race is capable of being eventually elevated through education to a high state of general civilization, just as our white less gifted brethren on and led them up-ward to their own high standard. No face ever rose in any other way. All meeded and produced exceptional men to lend them. The colored race has poen funder their guidance. If there still be doubters they must soon be convinced, for those who like us to-day have opportunilies for seeing what has transpired have all doubts dis-pelled.

What has transpired have all doubts dispelled.
We are upon the right path, therefore, ladies and gentlemen, when we seek the educated and public-spirited rapembers of fouthern society to permit us to co-operate with them in expending the influence of Tuskegee and her sister institutions and in elevating the colored race in every way, and we are also right in asking them to co-operate with us as elizens of the great republic now more closely united into one harmonious whole than was ever possible before, when the two antagonistic systems of theredone and slavery prevailed. There does not exist to day a great nation we completely one in the trade of a sour own. May it ever no remain! Let us do what we can to increase the scane of brotherhood.

This is no sectional question. It is na-tioncrease the sense of brotherhoad. This is no sectional question. It is na-tional and we of the North cannot evade the responsibilities of the situation. It is our duty to share with our fellow-coun-tryman in the South, the expense and labor of the restoring or establishing among our sorely tried neighbors a har-monious society with free public schools for all, public libraries, churches, hos-pitals, colleges and universities, and all the other uplifting agencies such as we of the North generally enjoy. Anxious as we are to do our part to re-store better conditions than those up-rooted, we must keep slways in mind that only through cordial co-operation with the advanced of our own race in the South can the result we so ardently de-
