NEGROES IN THE ARMY.

Uncle Sam Has Eight Colored Commissioned Officers on Payroll. New York Sun.

Uncle Sam has on his long pay-roll eight negro commissioned officers of the army, three of these beinw line officers, while the others are chaplains

By the Army Organization act of July 28, 1866, there were designated four regiments of negroes. The organtour regiments of negroes. The organizations are now in the Ninth and Tenth regiments of cavalry and the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth regiments of infantry, and since their formation these negro regiments have had assigned to them negro chaplains. Probably the best known of all the negro chaplains is Allen Allensworth, now on leave of sheeper at Leaven.

now on leave of absence at Los Angeles, Cal., awaiting retirement. Chaplain Allensworth has seen much active duty, and his service with the "Fight-ing Twenty-fourth," which did good work in Cuba, has been continuous since his entry into the army on April Next to him as to age and service is Theophilus G. Steward, who was appointed on July 20, 1891, from the District of Columbia and assigned to that other fighting infantry regi-ment, the "Brunetee Twenty-fifth." has also with the regiment to which he was first assigned.

The present chalain of the Ninth Cavalry is George Washington Prio-leau, a native of South Carolina but appointed from Ohio. All of his ser-vice has been with the Ninth Cavalry, ow stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri. He has fourteen years of service before him.

The last of these chaplains is William T. Anderson, now with his regiment, the Tenty Cavalry, which has also seen service in Cuba and the Philippines.

The last of the negro staff officers of the army is John R. Lynch, of the pay department, who entered the ser-vice in June, 1898, as an additional paymaster of volunteers, with the rank of Major, which position he held for three years, until honorably discharg-ed in May, 1901, when he was appointed to the permanent establishment as paymaster with the rank of captain. The only negro officer of the army who is a West Pointer is Charles Young, at present on duty as military attache at Port au Prince, Hayti Capt. Young entered the Miltary Academy in 1884, and was not graduated until 1889, when he was commissioned an additional Second Lieutenant and assigned to the Tenth Cavalry, where he remained only about one month. when he was transferred to the Twenty-fifth Infantry as a second lieuten-ant. In this regiment he remained only 27 days, when he was again transferred to the Ninth Cavalry, where he remained until promoted to First Lieutenant, on December 22, 1896, when he was assigned to the Seventh avalry. a white regiment. He remained with this regiment for about ten months, until he made a transfer back to his old love, the Ninth Cavalry. He was promoted a captain in February, 1901, and 88 captain will have to move out of the way before he becomes a field officer with the rank of major.

There are two negro officers who have won their spurs by coming up from the line by competitive examination. They are Lieut. Benjamin O. Davis, of the Tenth Cavalry, now on duty as military intsructor in Wilberforce University, at Wilberforce, Ohio, and Lieut. John E. Green, Twenty-fifth Infantry, now serving with Company H at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Well-Cooked Morality.

New York World. If Mr. Carnegie feels the need of sovice as to how to invest his surplus millions he will act promptly on the suggestion of a fair philosopher of the Minerva Club and go to building cooking schools and en-dowing chairs of cooking. He has her word for it in advance that he will better the world "physically, morally and financially." "A prac-tical knowledge of cooking." she assures us, "would do more than any-thing else to decrease the ratio of

BACHELOR GIRL'S BACK BUTTON

Desperate Measures to Get Release
Fro ma New Dinner Gown.

San Francisco Argonsut.
The present style of fastening women's dresses down the back, although pretty amt very becoming to the fair wearers, has decided disadvantages.
Comparatively few women have maids, and many are the sole representatives of their sex in their own households.
Nowadays exclusively feminine convocations are went to exchange curi-vocations are wont to exchange curi-ous tales relating the shifts to which lone women must resort in order to get in and out of her clothes. Even their best young men, provided they were already proved trustworthy and discreet, have been pressed into service by enterprising girls, who, faring home from some evening festivity, and foreseeing battle and defeat awaiting them, have permitted their escorts respectfully to undo the central-always the most obdurate-button in the back of the bodice.

Even more desperate measures were resorted to by a bachelor maid who, after a recent social occasion, having returned to her bachelor flat after the Austrians, under the veteran wearing with much satisfaction a brand new dinner gown, discovered her dismay when she endeavored to undo its posterior fastenings that one or two of them positively refused to unfasten. The bachelor girl lived alone, there was no janitor, and her sole maid had left in a huff the previ-ous day. What to do? She could not go to bed in her best gown, and it looked as if she would have to sit up

> After some moments of horrible reflection the distressed woman resolved to brave the terrors of the street and accost the first feminine wayfarer. She therefore let herself out and interrogated the midnight horizon for a sail At that moment a passing car stopped and a couple alighted. The too firmly buttoned up woman approached the pair and, with a humble apology, preferred her request. An irrepressible grunt was heard to issue from the otherwise silent lips of the man-the grunt of one who had acquired through experience a cynical disdain of feminine follies—the grunt of one who had served his time in doing and undoing recalcitrant bodices.

The woman, however, waved aside all apologies and granted the request with a ready warmth and hospitality that indicated past sufferings of a similar nature, and the bachelor maid. with a light heart and an open bodice, enabled to return to her home and bed.

VIRGIN'S GARLANDS.

Memorials in English Church to Girls True.

London Daily Graphic, There are seven "virgins' garlands' still in existence in Minsterley Shurch Salop, the first of them bearing the date 1554 and the last 1751.

They consist of silk ribbon and pa per, ball shaped, and are covered with rosettes, the inside centre of the cane or wire frame supporting a pair of paper gloves. They represent a roman tic custom of very ancient origin, and are sacred to the memory of girls who while betrothed in their youth, lost their intended husbands by death, yet remained true to their first loves.

Each maiden designed her own garland, and at her death this simple emblem was borne before her by the village lasses, the white gloves being afterward added. After the obsequies these garlands were suspended in the village church on a rod bearing at its extremity a heart in the shape of an escutcheon, upon which the initials and date were inscribed. These were originally fixed above the maiden's pew. Some of the earliest and forgotten garlands were composed of real flowers, but late rthe covered hoops described were substituted. There is a passing allusion to this her virgin crants," "crants" signify-

HUME-JEWETT WEDDING.

The American Invasion.

Philadelphia Record. Philadelphia Record.

An invasion of Europe by American automobiles is indicated by the appointment of an attorney in Paris to represent Americans who get into trouble with the narrow-minded and bigoted natives who lose their tempers when their children are run over and their horses have to climb over the fences to get out of the way of motor cars running like railway trains. If the Automobile Club of America would induce its members to refrain from decimating the population of Edfrom decimating the population of Ed-ropean villages it would do more permanent good than in arranging for their defense when arraigned for man-

When all cooks are good cooks, then we shall no longer need a police force—perhaps not even a traffic squad—or insurance investigations, or railroad-rate regulation bills, or "muckrake" magazines, or anti-crapshooting societies for newsboys. People will breakfast, lunch and dine on chemical formulas. Pure food will be predestined salvation.

Mr. Carnegie has only to cut a few libraries from his programme, turn book shelves into plate shelves and classics into cook-books, and a new moral dawn will burst upon the state make its petition more definite. The hearings were continued and no commissi, jer to take depositions was appointed.

HERPICIDE'S MISSION.

It Takes Away the Dread of Birth-

Nothing is more annoying to men and women of middle age than to see those unmistakable signs of age— thin hair and grayness—approaching. But science has discovered that these conditions are no longer "unmis-takable" evidences of old age, for the dandruff germ theory proves that even very young people may suffer hair loss, while those fortunate hair loss, while those fortunate enough to escape the ravages or the scalp germ, retain their abundant locks to a ripe old age. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and removes the risk of appearing old before your time. Save your hair and your feelings by using the genuine Herpicide. Sold by leading draggists.
