Paris Doctor Says Operations Are Frequently Performed on a Wrong

Paris Cable, 2nd, to New York Herald. A sensational statement was made on Tuesday before the Academy of Medicine by Professor Diculatoy, who said that many persons merely suffering from muco-membranous or sabulous typhlocolitis are wrongly operated upon for appendicitis: Muco-membranous typhiocolitis is characterized by periods of constipation and diarrhoea, the ejections hav-ing certain characteristic features. There is pain in the right illac fossa, which resembles that caused by appendicitis.

Dr. Diculatoy pointed out that it was very rare for a person to suffer from appendicitis and typhlocolitis at the same time, and in any case appendicitis is neither a consequence nor a result of typhlocolitis. He expressed the opinion that the numebr of errors of diagnosis and unnecessary operations performed were
