A REMARKABLE INCIDENT

Reservoir Collapses and Precipitates 60,000 Gallons of Water to the Ground—What Happened to the Watchman.

The huge water tank situated just above the engine room at the plant of the Bernhardt Manufacturing Company, east of the city collapsed about dark yesterday afternoon, and precipitated 60,000 gallons of water to the itated 60,000 gallons of water to the ground. The walls of the engine room were of brick and the only outlet was through the door. As it happened, was through the door. As it happened, the watchman was sitting in the entrance with his back to the room. Before he could even get up out of his chair the water, according to the report of one who visited the scene shortly after the accident, lifted and carried the man for a distance of 30 feet, placing him a-straddle a 8-foot fence.

Not only was the engine room deluged, but the floor of the main plant was covered. Those who saw the work of the water, declare that it resembled a Johnstown flood on a small scale. It would be hard to surmise what 69,-000 gallons of water, under certain circumstances, could not do.

assured, be certain, be confident that your family will not feel a sorrow at your death that is deeper and more bitter than the loss of a husband and father. Be assured that they will have enough to eat and wear. Be assured that the material interests to which you have devoted your life will not crumble into dust at your dissolution.

Of course you want to take your insurance in a Home Company, and the Home Company that should come to your mind first is the GREENSBORO LIFE, the leader in all things pertaining to safe, liberal and sound life insurance. More North Carolina people are insuring with the GREENSBORO LIFE than are insuring with any other company. "There's a reoson."
