YOUNG NEGRO CONFESSES.

Son of Nease Gillespie Says His Father and Brother John Did the Killing.
Special to The Observer.

Barber's Junction, July 14.—Henry Gillespie, a young son of Nease Gillespie, this evening made a confession to the effect that his father and John Gillespie committed the crime and that the other negroes arrested were implicated. Henry Gillespie was at the scene of the killing all day and on being questioned this evening he became frightened and made a confession to Mr. E. A. Barber, constable, and in the presence of W. A. Thompson and others. He was then taken into custody. He said the elder Gillespie and his son John killed Mr. Lyerly, his wife and the little boy, Jonnie, and fatally injured the little girl, who died this evening, and that the other negroes arrested were implicated in the commission of the tragedy. He told a plain story as to how they entered the house at an early hour in the evening carrying with them two axes to do the bloody work with. After committing the deed they set fire to the bed clothing by pouring kerosene oil on the bed from a lamp and leaving the house to be burned with the dead parents and children. Their expectation was that the remaining three children who were asleep up stairs would be burned alive. But, as formerly stated, they were awakened by suffocation and descending the stairs extinguished the flames with water which they had to draw from a well in the back yard. The negro also told where the two axes that were used were found, upon investigation they were found.

IN MECKLENBURG JAIL.

Alleged Murderers Landed Safely in Charlotte By Sheriff Julian and His Son—To Have a Speedy Trial.
Sheriff Julian and son, David Julian, brought the prisoners to Charlotte last night, and they are now in the Mecklenburg county jail. Sheriff Julian boarded the train from the side at Salisbury and came here without letting anyone know of his purpose. He was met at the station here by Deputy Sheriff Johnson and the prisoners were taken to prison.

SCENES AT THE HOUSE.

An Awful Spectacle of Bloodshed Presented—How the Bodies Appeared—Not Enough Noise Made to Wake the Three Girls Up-Stairs—They Were Aroused by the Smell of Smoke.
Special to The Observer.

Barber's Junction, July 14.—The crowd which came to Barber's Junction this afternoon on the trains had to walk a mile and a half to reach the Lyerly homestead, the scene of the horror which befell last night. Bugles and snare-drums stood in the grove, and groups of people, talking in low tones. It is an old home, as indicated by the immensity and symmetry in front and the style of the house and evidences of decay in it. Zenias and her broods were in bloom at the gate and on either side of the walk and chickens and cats birds were singing in the elms.

THREE GIRLS LEFT.

A score or so of inquisitive women had come in to see the bodies of the Lyerly girls, the only two survivors of the family, but to their mortified and shocked faces the steps and part of the yard were scattered feathers and burnt pieces of cloth and in the hall-dressing bath-rooms and stairs were heaped in corners and strewn about the floor. There was a smell of scorched tobacco and flesh. The rear entry to the house was blocked by a crowd.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR BURIAL.

Preparations Made for Burial This Morning of Murdered Family at Unity Church—Two Negroes Arrested, One Being Arold.
Special to The Observer.

July 14.—To-morrow morning will be held the solemn funeral of the Lyerly family. The bodies of the three girls were placed in the family vault in the Unity church. The bodies of the three girls were placed in the family vault in the Unity church. The bodies of the three girls were placed in the family vault in the Unity church.

TWO CHARGES GRANTED.

Observer Bureau, July 14.—The 121 charter of the Mattson Drug Company, High Point, for the purpose of a wholesale and retail drug store, was authorized and approved by the board of directors of the State of North Carolina, and the charter was filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

Cross Examination of Plaintiff in Noted Walker-Edwards Case.
Special to The Observer.

Union City, Tenn., July 14.—Miss Lola Walker came into court this morning looking bright and cheerful and the cross-examination was resumed. The defendant sought to show that at the time she claimed to have gone with Edwards on a visit to some of his Tennessee friends, near Asheville, she did not go, but went out with Edwards with a box of beer and ice in a buggy, rambling in the country. When some of Edwards' friends came upon them, Edwards drove away. This was all denied by Miss Walker, she claiming that they went to the home of Edwards' friends and not finding them, started on the return to Asheville. When they met Edwards' friends in the car, she was introduced by Edwards. She alleged that the breach of promise and seduction occurred in August, 1903.

INTENDED TO KILL EDWARDS.

She said that she did not decide to sue until December, 1904, that she and her mother were at St. Louis when she wrote Edwards to come, if he had some time would have been no occasion for the suit. She said that her mother had a pistol and went with her to the place where it had been arranged for Edwards to meet her in St. Louis, for the purpose of killing him, that Edwards sent his friend, she testified that the cause of her decision to sue was that she had learned that Edwards had just married.

OTHER LETTERS FROM MISS WALKER.

Edwards were introduced to show that her feelings were kindly. They tended to show an entirely contrary state of mind from that stated by the witness. A letter written to Dick Weaver at Asheville, N. C., a few weeks after the alleged breach and seduction was introduced and identified by the plaintiff as having been written by her. It contained friendly statements referring to the fact that she had some time would have been no occasion for the suit. She said that her mother had a pistol and went with her to the place where it had been arranged for Edwards to meet her in St. Louis, for the purpose of killing him, that Edwards sent his friend, she testified that the cause of her decision to sue was that she had learned that Edwards had just married.

DEFER CONSPIRACY CASE.

Hearings of Counter-Charges Brought by Wife in Pittsburg Divorce Suit. Results in Postponement Until Wednesday, July 25, While Divorce Trial Will Be Resumed to-Morrow or Tuesday—Sister of Mrs. Hartje Testifies That She Wrote Three of the Letters Attributed to Later—Another Coaches in the Case.
Pittsburg, Pa., July 14.—Postponement until Wednesday, July 25, was the result of the hearing of the charges of conspiracy against Augustus Hartje, who has now pending in the courts a sensational suit for divorce from his wife, his friend, John L. Welshons, and Clifford Hooe, a negro and former coachman who is in jail awaiting trial on the charge of perjury brought against him in connection with the divorce case.

HARTJE'S PROTEST UNAVAILING.

The charges of the conspiracy against these men were taken up by Assistant District Attorney Robb last night and the hearing was set for to-day. Hartje and Welshons appeared before the aldermen with the Hartje counsel, Ferguson, Rogers & Marron, but Mr. Robb did not appear. He had asked by telephone that a postponement be granted, but the Hartje counsel protested and Mr. Robb appeared last night. He explained to the aldermen that when Hooe's case was put over by Judge Evans it was understood that all cases growing out of the Hartje case would be taken up after decision in the divorce case. The Hartje counsel protested and threatened proceedings to force the hearing, but Alderman King granted the postponement. The trial of the divorce case will be resumed Monday or Tuesday, but in the meantime there are indications that the sensational disclosures are not at an end. It was said to-night that Miss Ida Scott, sister of Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje, will go on the stand to-morrow next week and swear that she wrote exhibit No. 34, "Thomas Madine," care of Schulenberg's stable. It was one of Mr. Hartje's strong cards, as he alleges his wife wrote it. She will also swear that she wrote exhibits Nos. 53 and 54. She will tell why she wrote to Madine and what business she had with him.
