CHARLOTTE DAILY OBSERVER, JULY 22, 1906.

THE LYERLY MURDER CASE (Continued from Page One.) breathe. Addie went back upstairs and hot us some clothes, which we put on in the frace. DOOR AND WINDOW OPEN. "The front door and the window." The front door and the window." "The front door and the window."

DOOR AND WINDOW OPEN. "The front door and the window that opens into papa's room from the porch ware open. The key das on the inside of the door. I always locked the door at night but after papa went out and, on returning, terrot to turn the key. Anyone could have gotten in through the window, without much effort. "Papa's axe isy at the woodpile, for I saw it there the afternoon before. John and Alice had been cutting

ohn and Alice had been cutting

John and Alice had been cutting "When I went to bed papa was fast asleep, snoring. Mama was dosing off. That was a few minutes before 9 o'clock. Addie and I slept together. I heard no noise. "The lamp, which had a porcelain bowl, was nearly full of oil. It had been filled the Saturday before. I know that it was sitting 'on the bureau and the burner was on. When we arose, the lamp, was on the we arose, the lamp was on the hearth. Bearth. "John Gillespie and e Henry Lee, son and step-son of Nease, started a grop. They lived in the house with Nease and his wife, old Fannie. One day Fannie came down home and got after papa for having Henry and his wife live in with them. She was mad because they slept on her beds. Saturday following, Nease came and naked father what was the trouble with him and the boys." They had some conversation and Nease cursed papa, who drove him out of the yard. George Cranford, who worked for us then, said that Nease declared that he would kill 'old man Ike Lyerly.' Mr. Cranford told us about it the next morning. Nease was mad. Papa told him that he would have to sow the wheat or leave. "Mr. Cranford went from here to his home at Hildebrand. "Nease was down there once or twice after that but I never heard any more until a few days before the Nease came down and tragedy. asked papa what he was going to do with the wheat. Papa told him "thrash it."

"Della, Jack's wife, and mama trouble Friday morning about the moap suds in the tub. After mama left I went down to the spring and heard Della say: 'If she (meaning mamma) had said three more words I

"Jack and papa did not get along together. Jack had been there just about a week. He told papa that he was going to work for Mr. Penning-er. Papa said, 'Well, Jack, if you go there and work five days without laying off. I will treat." "I heard Jack say that he wouldn't go to work for no man before 7 o'clock.

"Mr. Jim Taylor, who had been working for us and sleeping in the house, spent last Friday night with Sam Cooke. I was straining the milk when he left. Sam Cooke had come over to our house to bring a grain cradle which his father had borrowed that morning. Jack was at the lot with Della who helped us to milk the cows. Jim Taylor, Sam Cooke and Jack left together, going down the path toward the spring. That orning Jack had worked for Mr. Cooke and then he went down to Mr. Penninger's to get a job. Jim Taylor had seen Mr. Penninger and secured work."

On being questioned by the law-yers Miss Lyerly continued: "Papa kept most of his money in the bureau upstairs. Nothing in the house was disturbed. Even Alice's little pocket book, which contained 25 cents, was left on the bureau by her bed.

she had slept. "When papa turned off the Gil-lespie boys, Nease came down and asked him why he had done it. Papa told him that they would not work the land, and they had to get out. Nease was ordered sway and as he went he muttered something but I could not understond what he said. could not understond what he said. Mr. Cranford told us that Nease was saying that he would kill 'old Ike Lyerly. "Jack's wife said that if mama had uttered three more words she would have downed her.

"Della, that is Jack's wife, knew how we all slept."

Webb, an illiterate Mr. Matt L. white man who drove a wagon for Mr. Penninger, stated that he and Nease had worked together. In part he said: "Three weeks before the he said: tragedy, in conversation with me, while loading lumber at Mr. Powlass', Nease brought up the subject' of wheat. He declared that he thought the crop would be pretty good this year. I told him 'yes.' Then he said: "Well, old man like Lyerly can cut mine but he won't eat it, or get the money for it. I told Jones Thompson what Nease had said and he declared that Nease wasn't dangerous. LITTLE HENRY TELLS HIS STORY.

After the foregoing persons had had their say a small, bright faced, curly haired boy, with blue eyes, and pretty features came in. . He carried a little white, solled hat in his hand. His lips twitched nervously, and he seemed uneasy. He looks more like his Anglo-Saxon father than he does his African mother. When asked who his father was he called the name of a well-known white man. "Do you like Nease Gillespie?" some one asked.

"No, he has been mean to me," was the quick reply. Solicitor Hammer took Henry between his legs, pulled off his hat and patted him on the shoulders, saying: "Boy, we're not going to hurt you. Nobody wants to harm you. Now you must tell us all you know." "Nease Gillespie beats me. He's branch, this side of Mr. Ike's, Fri-day night. That's what pa and John when they came back. Pa said that he didn't care what they did

sald

"Maw

he said 'It's none of your business, but you'll know when I come back.' She said no more. Paw and John came back before day. I was in bed with maw. "When paw and John came in they paw where he had been and he said: 'God damn it, I've been down to old he didn't do it. I was in one room lice Lyerly's. I God, I went down that night and Nease was in another. there and killed them. I told you i John didn't come to my house that was going to kill them, and so, by night. He went away at dinner time vas going to kill them, and so, by night. He went away at dinner time Nod. I did.' "It skeered maw nearly to death was at Mr. Mann Walton's. Nease are we to believe you or the boy?"

couldn't eat it. I was afraid of being interrogated she made the fol-lowing ladditional declarations: in the Charlotte jail. Henry is dislowing inditional declarations: "When I went down mama's face was covered with a pillow. One of her feet was on the floor. Little sister iny beside her on her back, just as she had slept. I have been be told the day after the is smart and very bright. If his

If the blackest old hag in darkest Africa were brought here and put side by side with Fannie Gillespie, the wife of Nease, it would require an mother how to tell the truth." expert student of negro faces to tell The boy told his story over again. which was the native of America. I Old Fannie turned her head away and equal. She is black, dirty, mean and stubborn. For two inches back the hair has been clipped from her forearound her eyes the skin of her lean "I ne face is dark colored, as if she had Fannie. applied tar to her face until it had come to be a part of her. She wore a filthy, short dress, and nothing more. Her fee led and scaly. Her feet were naked, wrink-"Fannie Gillespie," she said, "is my name." where the man took the name of his wife. Nease, who had been known as Mich Graham, became a Gillespie and Solicitor Hammer tried to ex-has lived, fear her. They say that che is crazy and likes to run people. She is not formidable looking, but when her foot falls it does so without proaches him.

boy," said Fannie. "What is the matter with your face and eyes and head old woman?" ask-

many a time.

my grandpa. He whipped me last Friday. Pa (meaning Nease) and John met Henry Lee and Jack at the years. Me and Nease and John and "I have been married to Nease four officers, little Henry lived together. John is Files. 15 years old. I am his grandma and Nease is his paw, by one of my girls. ed. 'Did you have any hand in the "The first I knew about the death Lyerly affair?" of Mr. Ike was before it came light, with him after he had done what of Mr. Ike was before it came light, "'N he wanted to do. Maw, old Fannie, when Mr. Pless Barber came along dfd.'" asked paw where he was going and and called Nease and asked him if Ike, Miss Gussie and the children. called to Henry, waked him up and told him about it. "Nease got up, and left for his didn't stay for no break-about sundown.

work. He set down by the fire and maw asked fast. I told him if the Lyerlys were dead to come back and tell me but pot in question,

AFRAID OF NEASE.

Fannie had made the error that home a

Nease. I ran because Nease had told age that white folks would 'do you' whether they had anything against you or not. When little Henry said 'Lord, look at the people' I left, but I didn't run. I went to the home of a begro named Brooks. "When her they had have been floor and called Mary. We worked in the dark. "After we had put out the fire I ran upstairs and got some clothes for us. I did not see any light or hear any talk as we passed Jack's house." Miss Addie corroborated other statements made by her sister. On being interrogated she made the fol-

Earlier Fannie had declared that Nease did not as much as take coffee. "No, I don't know what Henry says.' She was told that Henry had said that she was frightened when Nease told her what he had done. "Well, if Henry heard that didn't.'

HENRY WAS BROUGHT IN. A most interesting thing occurred here. Little Henry was brought in. The boy saw his grandmother and tears welled in his eyes and his have never, in all of my experience beat a gentle tattoo upon the floor with negroes, seen Fannie Gillespie's with a pitiful looking big toe. "Didn't paw say he killed them, mama?" asked Henry, with tears in his eyes, as he looked his grandhead, and the remaining kinks are mother in the face, after she had done in thread. For several inches turned around.

"I never heard . him," answered "Well, he said," declared Henry with spirit. Henry was returned to the jall.

Old Fannie wilted a little but screwed her lips into a funnel and Hilespie," she said, "is made up her mind to tell nothing. This is an instance She told those about her to take her after he married Fannie. The chil-dren in neighborhoods, where Fannie harm her.

"Henry Lee told his daddy," said the old negress, "that old man lke Lyerly should be killed. "Yes, I told Mr. Roseman (a con-making a sound or leaving a track. stable) that white folks stuck to-She glides swiftly, but silently. One gether but negroes wouldn't do it. I thinks of the missing link as she ap-The night of the mur- count if they would stand together. der she and little Henry were in the Mr. Dave Alexander of Mecklenburg same room. Their stories do not said to me once that negroes would tally. "I raised Henry Mayhew, the little stick to each other." not be any good until they learned to

"Is that why you are sticking to Nease?" was asked.

"If a negro wont stick to me do guess he does it for it happens while this juncture and told the solicitor am a sleep. He has whipped me what Fannie had said to him the morning she was running from the

"'You reckon they will kill me?' Me and Nease and John and she asked as she came up," said Mr

"'Have you done anything?' I ask-

"'No,' she said, 'but my husband and called Nease and asked him if he knew that some one had killed Mr. and said: "Hang me when you get ready."

Everybody had become convinced that Fannie was lying and that she had made up her mind to continue to do so. She had been trapped in a dozen or more instances. In a way she was defiant. If a rope had been was defiant. placed about her neck she would not have flinched. She had been treated kindly by Mr. Hammer.

See that the above trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," is on each bottle of

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

as it is sold in bottles only, never in bulk. Also note that the seal over the cork is unbroken. Demand the genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, the best invigorating stimulant and tonic, which makes the old young and keeps the young strong. It has been tested thousands of times during the past fifty years by the leading chemists and doctors throughout the world and always found absolutely pure and free from fusel oil. Accept no cheap imitation or substitute. They are dangerous. Also guard against refilled botties. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold by all druggists and grocers, or direct, at $1.00 a bottle. Illustrated medical booklet sent free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, N.Y.

atmost sorry for her, but the next 9 o'clock that night. We were in a man, said: "Nease and George Ervin nothing Boldly and doggedly she disowned declarations that she was said to have made last Saturday.

they felt for the lawyers. For two hours they tried her, but she told nothing Boldly and doggedly she THE FIRST TO SEE THE AXE. For two back room. Taylor is at his home at worked for me. Nease left before Mr. Charles Brown, of Cleveland, supper but George remained there. "I had heard nothing about wheat since February. Nease told me that he thought he could hold his part by law but would not he would let Mr. Lyerly have it. harmed, were as good as charged with lyorly home. We got there about lying by her. I solve the solve the solve there about the solve the house we noticed a light. Mr. Pless started to gear them, but he changed his mind and told me that he believ-"About 5 o'clock we arrested Jack ed that he would not work that day. We knocked at the That was before the Sheriff came. . Ed. Barber told Jack to get man by the name of Gray and Jim Jack's wife told us to not come Taylor told me of the crime. I went Jack down and asked Nease about it. He said nothing. He was a long time said nothing until I spoke to him, but he had hardly had time to do so "Friday afternoon, at the mill, I "That's no more than I have been." He seemed at a loss to know what to hired him and asked if he would stay that night. He said no, he would go made a trade with Jim Taylor. to Mr. Lyerly. He left my place between sundown and dark.

"We did not go by Jack Dilling-ham's house, which was close to the path that leads to Mr. Cooke's, for we were afraid that Jack might hear us. We slipped by, fearing that he might want to kill us too. Sister Janie, who is 10, going on 11,, said that she heard talking in Jack's house as we passed. It was then about 11:30 c'clock. We arrived at Mr. Cooke's at 11:55."

MISS ADDIE LYERLY ON THE STAND. Miss Addie, the second Lyerly child, a blond haired girl of 15 years, told of her experience on the hight of the murders in a very diroct and interesting way.

"That night," said Mise Addie, "after Mary and I had finished washing the dishes and doing our regular work I sat the lamp in papa's room, up to our room. Some time between 10 and 11 o'clock I with between on the bureau, blew it out and went felt the heat and smelt the smoke of a fire. Mama had been unwell and my first thought was that she had become worse. I went down to her room and, as I entered the door, I saw that the bed in which papa and John slept was on fire. Papa was on the foot of the bed, with his feel drawn up. His head was close to the back wall. He lay on his right I felt him; he was not cold, but a little stiff.

Jack and paw done it. Paw nothing. said that Jack's wife held the lamp. All met at the branch. Paw took his axe with him, I saw him get it. He that Nease knew about the murder, washed it off at the branch but there Old Fannie had declared, on the was some left on the pole. He and John said they washed it. We saw seen a crowd of men at her well Friwas a speck of blood on it. Paw said he killed Mr. Ike and Miss Gus-(Mrs. Lyerly) and Jack killed sle John and Alice.

never asked no more, for she was skeered. "Jack used Mr. Ike's axe. He and alls. Mr. Ike fell out about a horse. Paw and John said they set the bed afire. "Before day paw put his old overalls with John's, in a bed tick of straw and burned them. He burned his shirts too. We saw them burning them. They burned them because they had blood on them. Blood was all over the shirts and the overalls. "I left home early that morning and told Mr. Mann Walton that paw had killed Mr. Ike and Miss Gussie." "Do you know where you would go if you were to tell a story. Henry? asked Solicitor Hammer.

"Yes, sir, to the bad place," answered Henry. she would admit. She saw that she "Who made you?" "The Lord," was the ready reply.

had left off one shirt. "No, I never saw Nease, Jack and John talking together," declared Fan-nie. "Nease did say that Mr. "Paw said they threw the lamp in the brier patch. I saw . a church nle. lamp at Jack's house the day ma and you want to," said the negress. "No. sir. I didn't see no crowd at Henry had stuck to his story but the well. If I told the sheriff that it was very evident that he feared his I have forgotten it. I did not say grandmother.

Fannie Gillespfe is a wonderful JACK WOULD FIX MR. LYERLY. Old Fannie had declared, on the woman. She looks like a savage, but she thinks well. It was plain to one the axe the next morning and there day night. This, Sheriff Julian said, and all that she lied yesterday, but was a speck of blood on it. Paw was true. Fannie contradicted the there was no way to correct her. sheriff. Mr. Dick Files said that Henry told some one after he left Jack Fannie had told him that Nease knew her presence that she was afraid of night. Nease. That, he declared, was the reason she would not tell the truth. about the murder. This, Fannie de-Nease. nied, also. She did not know any-Nease's axe or overthing about It was suggested that Fannie was a alls. She explained the fire in the believer in the ancient practice of yard, which she said had been built conjuring. When asked concerning concerning on Thursday, by saying that Nease had told her to burn up the bed bugs this she half-way admitted that she feared the tricks of a conjurer. She don't mind I'll fix him." said that Nease was called a con-jurer. Her stories of Nease's cruelty that were literally eating him up. "Nease had a pair of old overalls and a good pair." continued Fannie, "John had two pair. Saturday is my

to her, his burning her with pitch, cutting her hair and trimining her finger nails to the quick, while she wash day. I put three pairs of drawslept, are pitiful to hear. Little ers and one shirt in the pot that morning, when they came after me." Henry has been led to believe that what Fannie says about Nease's cruel treatment is true. Oid Bannie is Here Dr. Dorsett produced two wet shirts which had been taken from the She knows what to say and cunning.

what not to say. She has a certain sort of nerve. Although she was ened. Half a savage and balf a wazard, she is an interesting character. One moment, those who watched her as she fenced with Mr. Lyerly could cut the wheat, but he Hammer, Mr. Kluttz or Mr. Linn were Good men, men who would not see a made the following statement: "Mr. hair on the head of an innocent negro W. U. Carter and myself went to the John Henderson, a tall, black wearing overalls, took the negro, stand after Fannie had been ushered He said that he and Nease and out. Jack were going to Barber's one On the way Jack said: "Me and old man lke Lyerly had a fuse." Nease declared: "Yes, If you fool with old man lke he'll have you on

"But if old may Lyerly said Jack.

THE TROUBLE BETWEEN MR. LYERLY AND JACK.

Mr. Sam Cooke, the young man who walked away from the Lyerly home axe. Friday evening late, with Jim Taylor "I left and Jack Dillingham, said: the Lyerlys at 6:30 and started home. Jim Taylor went with me. Jack came on at the same time. As Jack started away Mr. Lyerly said: 'Well, Jack if you work over at the saw coaxed here, the effect would have mill five days I will treat you.' 'Yes,' been the same had she been threat- Mrs. Lyerly said, 'and I will give you something good to eat, Jack.' "After we had left the house Jack

'If I wasn't on the old man's ers. said: place I would curse him out.' "Taylor and myself went to bed at

W. U. Carter and myself went to the Barber and Will Harber soon came. Dillingham. door. up. She did all the talking. in. making his appearance.

"Nease came by the house about daylight. He asked if all were dead. say. He wanted to say something but could not form his sentences. "I saw the axe at the Lyerly house. It lay beneath the porch, two steps There east of the front entrance.

was blood on the handle as well as the

"I know that Henry told his story after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. "We went to Nease's house about 7 o'clock. There had been one or more fires about the yord. There was evidence that clothes of some description had been burned. One of the party picked up a rock and an-nounced that it was still warm. In a cooking pot in the house we found two shirts and three pairs of draw-

JOHN PENNINGER TALKS. Mr. John Penninger, the lumber

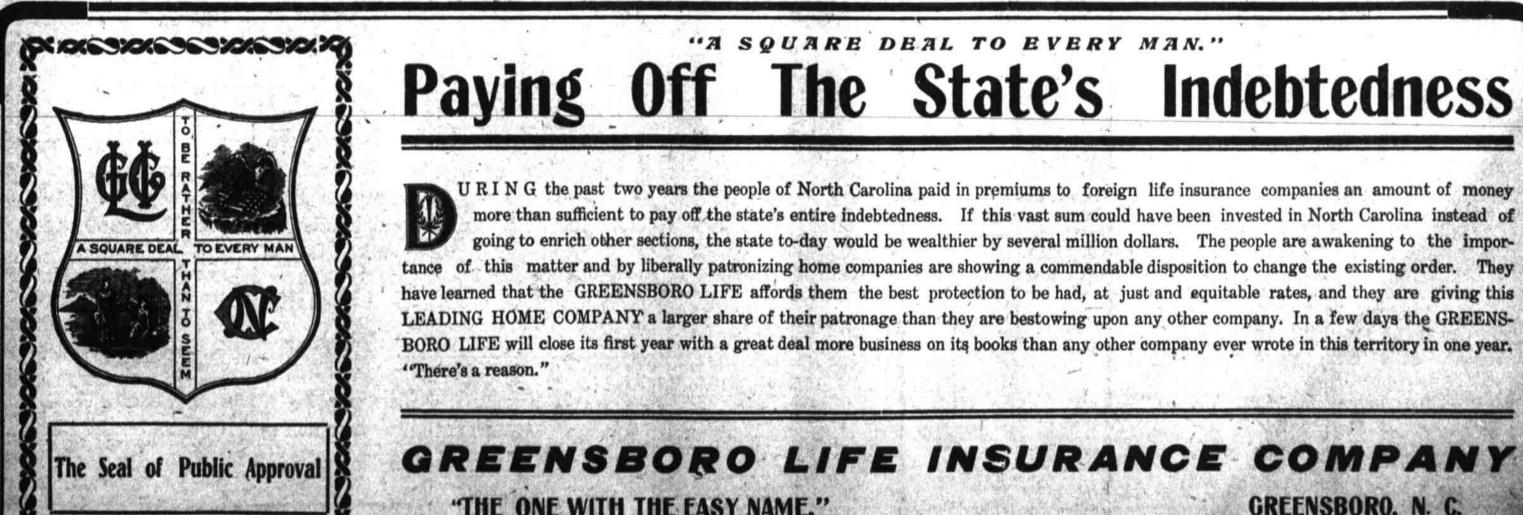

"Nense was arrested at the Lyerly place

ANOTHER THREAT MADE.

Mr. R. F. Cooke, declared that Jim Taylor left for his old home. Bridgewater, last Tuesday. He said that Nease had told him that if he did not get his wheat he would get old man Lyerly.

Chief of Police Frank Miller, of Salisbury, said that he saw the Lyerly axe and that it was bloody. Arthur Thompson said that little Henry showed him where to Nease's axe and that, when he nicked it up in the yard, at 5 o'clock in the

(Continued on Page Four.)

URING the past two years the people of North Carolina paid in premiums to foreign life insurance companies an amount of money more than sufficient to pay off the state's entire indebtedness. If this vast sum could have been invested in North Carolina instead of going to enrich other sections, the state to-day would be wealthier by several million dollars. The people are awakening to the importance of this matter and by liberally patronizing home companies are showing a commendable disposition to change the existing order. They have learned that the GREENSBORO LIFE affords them the best protection to be had, at just and equitable rates, and they are giving this LEADING HOME COMPANY a larger share of their patronage than they are bestowing upon any other company. In a few days the GREENS-BORO LIFE will close its first year with a great deal more business on its books than any other company ever wrote in this territory in one year.

GREENSBORO LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

"THE ONE WITH THE EASY NAME."

GREENSBORO, N. C.

J. W. FRY, President. E. COLWELL, Jr., Secretary. W. B. ALLEN, Agency Manager. I. SMITH HOMANS. Actuary.