If one is in commerce or manufactures The Observer will show opportunities time and again by which the merchant or manufacturer can find new business or better business than he had before.

The Observer has a force of bright men in the field all the time. This force is working for the readers of and the advertisers in the paper. They keep before them the interests of the patrons of the paper. They gather not only the general news but also specific news that will be of advantage to the reader. They are on the look out for new channels of trade, for new construction work, for new developments in agriculture and for all information patrons might want or be able to make use of.

The Evening Chronicle

THIS PAPER GIVES TO-DAY'S NEWS TO-DAY'

It gives the news and other reading for the family at the supper table and after supper.

It is the paper for the working man whose best opportunity to read is after the day's work is done.

It is the paper for the out of town manufacturer or merchant who cannot get the morning paper until late in the day. The Chronicle gives the same market reports of the current day that the morning papers give on the following morning.

It is the paper for a family to take for the children who are in school.

It keeps well up with politics, literature and industrial conditions.

The price is made to suit the family of modest means and the working people.

The Semi-Weekly Observer

The semi-weekly is in some degree compiled from the Daily Observer.

In addition to the compiled matter, it contains much original matter. The semi-weekly, price and paper considered together, is one of the cheapest papers in America. We send 104 papers a year to a family for one dollar. This is less than one cent each for a paper, each copy of which is more than a book.

Special attention is given to make the semi-weekly a paper for the farmer. But it is also a paper for any family which does not feel able to buy a daily paper and which is so situated that it cannot receive a paper daily.

We repeat that it is the best paper for the money in America.
