Twenty-nine acceptances out of 106 offered in the recruitment of a New Orleans Recruiting Station—Cigarettes Given as the Cause.

That the majority of Southern boys who offer themselves for enlistment in the United States army are found to be physically unfit and are rejected is the startling statement which had its origin in the New Orleans recruiting station this morning.

Lieutenant William E. Bennett, who is in charge of the local recruiting office, says that last month 106 men offered themselves for enlistment, and out of that number only 29 were accepted.

A large per cent of these men were naturally, from the South, but this city, being cosmopolitan, there were also many men from other parts of the country.

Many of the men were rejected because their hearts and lungs had been affected to such an extent that they were unfit for service in the army.

Other men had lived in the city, and their mode of life militated against them in various ways and so they were not accepted.

However, the Southern boy was barred in a large number of cases, not because of trouble with his heart, but because of not being up to the required height, and more often for not weighing enough.

Lieutenant Bennett said that lack of weight more often kept Southern boys out of the army than anything else, and he attributed their light weight to the effects of climate here.

The requirements for enlistment are that a man shall weigh not less than 125 pounds and that he shall not measure less than 5 feet 4 inches.

Often times a man is a bit underweight, but if he is healthy he is enlisted by special orders. Robert Mullen, who was only 5 feet 3 1/2 inches in height and weighed only 120 pounds, was enlisted here last month by special permission of the War Department, as he promised to make a good soldier.

Lieutenant Bennett says that the country boys show up much better than the city boys. In regard to the desire of the men in this section of the country to enlist, the lieutenant says that the percentage is as good here as anywhere else, but, as everywhere else, the country boy does not come forward for an enlistment as often as the city boy, for many of the men who enlist are the ones wandering around the country, and more especially is this so with regard to summer.

Cigarette smoking, the use of stimulants and the fast life of the city are falling on the American youth, says Lieutenant Bennett, and he is no longer the man his father and grandfather was.

HAYWOOD'S TEACHERS.

Annual County Institute Closes Successful Session—A New Hotel—Methodist District Conference—Waynesville News Notes.

Waynesville, Aug. 4.—The Haywood County Teachers' Institute, held at Clyde, has just closed. The work done this year has been of a high order and much attention has been given to the primary teachers.

The county superintendent has at last realized the importance of the teachers in this district, grades being well prepared for their work.

Prof. Foust, of the Guilford graded schools, was in charge of the institute and was assisted by Prof. Owen, McCreath, Crutchen and others.

There was in attendance about 75 teachers, most of them old teachers. Superintendents J. Y. Joyner and C. D. McIver, of Raleigh and Greensboro, respectively, made thrilling addresses.

Monday, Superintendent Lenette made a visit to Bryson City during the meeting to attend the meeting of county superintendents of western North Carolina.

Toward the end of the meeting the women club for betterment of school houses and land was organized, with Miss Cora Ward as secretary.

Miss Sarah K. Roberts read a paper on the condition of school houses in the county, and Superintendent Lenette responded to it.

On a whole Haywood county teachers are aroused on the matter of elementary training and much good is expected to result in the coming fall.

Several of the districts have arranged for special tax and free libraries for schools.

The Haywood District Conference closed Sunday. The meeting was held at the Grove Hotel, near Waynesville, and there was an abundance of dinner on the grounds every day.

It is one of the greatest meetings ever held in Haywood county. Bishop Atkins, of Waynesville, preached Sunday, and a strong sermon it was. Presiding Elder C. F. Sherrill was present with other noted Methodist ministers, among whom were Rev. Mr. Stokes, of South Carolina, and Rev. Mr. Kennedy, of Bristol.

It was a great occasion, and an immense crowd was present Sunday. The house would not seat one-third of the people.

"Brannercrest," the home of Bishop Atkins, has been changed into an up-to-date hotel under the name of "Reverie." The house is crowded, which speaks well for the manager, Mr. Felton.

The Hayes Book and Art Store is a new attraction for Waynesville. Mr. Hayes, the proprietor, is from South-east Texas, but pastor here for four years, has resigned and returned to the Lone Star State.

Mr. Simms, while here, made a great many friends and is creating a great spirit in the erection of the First Baptist church.

The trustees of the Waynesville graded school have let the contract for the erection of a high school building to S. C. Limer. The building is to be placed just behind the graded school building and is to have an auditorium which will seat 2,000 people.

The lower floor will be for recitation rooms, and the buildings will be joined together. The auditorium, which is now in being, will seat 1,500 people and has modern seats and all that is necessary for the comfort of children.

Postmaster J. E. Aymus and J. K. Bean have sold their residences on Main and Boundary streets for $2,800 and $3,000 respectively. These gentlemen will buy other lots and live in town.

PERMANENT INJUNCTION. It is Granted by Judge Neal to East Lake Lumber Company Against Buffalo City Mills and Others—East Part of Land in Dare County Involved.

Elizabeth City, Aug. 4.—Judge Neal in Superior Court has issued his judgment in the famous and long-standing case of the East Lake Lumber Company versus Buffalo City Mills, Limited, A. J. Brown, J. J. Edwards, Matt Bousch and other defendants.

This is an action involving the title to large timber tracts embracing a tract of about 167,555 acres of timber land. The plaintiff claimed that and applied for a temporary injunction restraining the defendants from cutting timber. The matter came up at the last term of court, Judge Neal presiding, the plaintiff being represented by Messrs. Shepard, Bruden, Ward and Alexander and the defendants by Messrs. Aydelett and Ehringhaus. It was then agreed that, instead of arguing the matter, counsel should present their briefs to the Judge, his decision to be rendered out of term time.

He decides in favor of the plaintiff, the temporary injunction being made permanent.

MONUMENT UNVEILED. Dedication of Shaft to Late Abel Edwards and Wife in Chatham County Witnessed by Large Crowd.

Special to The Observer. Greensboro, Aug. 4.—A large number of people from here attended the unveiling of a monument to the memory of Abel Edwards and wife, Olive Craven Edwards, at Providence, Chatham county, to-day.

The affair was one of the most largely attended ever held in Chatham county in many years. Many descendants and friends gathered at Providence to witness the unveiling. Memorial exercises were held in the church, to have a religious service and an interesting musical programme was rendered. Among the members of the family who went from here were: Rev. J. B. Craven, of A. E. A. Edwards, of Coal Creek, Tenn.; Mr. F. C. Sanders, of Charlotte; Mr. R. O. Andrews, of Rock Hill, S. C.; Mr. W. C. Andrews, of High Point; Mr. C. P. Edwards, of Charlotte; Mr. J. P. Sanders, Miss Vaille Sanders, Richard Edwards, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Craven and Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Edwards of this city.

To Chickamauga August 19th. To the Editor of The Observer: Several days ago you published in your paper, through your Raleigh correspondent, a statement to the effect that the Third Infantry would leave North Carolina the 15th of August for Chickamauga. The statement was incorrect and was not given out by me. We leave August the 19th.

Owing to the fact that I have had to answer several inquiries in regard to this statement, I hope you will publish this, that any one seeing it may know the correct date on which the troops will move.

J. N. CRAIG, Col. Third Inf., N. C. N. G.

Prof. Tyler, of Amherst College, said recently: "A man can live comfortably without eating, or man even exist without a digestive system. The dyspeptic has neither faith, hope or charity." Only by dry people realize the importance of caring for their digestion; realize the need of the use of a little corrective agent, Kennedy's Digestive. It is sold by Druggists.
