WEDS ASHEVILLE SUITOR.

With One Sweetheart Sailing O'er Western Seas With Loving Heart and Chest of Curios, and Another Waiting for "Yes," Miss Mansfield, Telephone Girl, Weds the One Who is "On the Spot." Washington Post.

With one sweetheart on the way from China, bringing a collection of curios for the home which they had planned and another in California, believing he was to be the lucky one, Miss Nell Mansfield, telephone operator at Stonleigh Court married the third of her flances, Lewis L. Lane, of Newberry, S. C., at Rockville yesterday.

Until last Saturday Miss Mansfield was undecided which of the three-sultors for her hand she would acsultors for her hand she would accept. Mr_Lane, who is connected with the telephone company at Asheville, N. C. called up Miss Mansfield and said: "Get ready for a wedding, I'll be there Sunday." Then it was that Miss Mansfield decided which of the three she would make happy.

Mr Lane arrived in Washington Sunday morning, found Miss Mansfield, and they visited Cabin John Bridge where the plans which resulted in yesterday's marriage at Rockville were finde. Miss Mansfield resigned her position at Stonleigh Court Monday and informed her family of her day and informed her femily of her intention to wed Mr. Lane.

Miss Mansfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Mansfield were surprised at her sudden decision, believing that she was not to become ing that she was not to become a bride until October, and not being sure which of the three suitors she would wed. Mr. Mansfield, father of the bride, is night doorkeeper at the Treasury. The family home is at 1908 Eighth street northwest.

Miss Munsfield was, last winter, tel-ophone operator at the New Willard, She was regarded as one of the most expert of the Capital city's "helio girls." Since May she has filled that position at Stoneleigh Court with en-tire satisfaction to the management and patrons of the fashionable apart-ment house. Miss Mansheld is ex-ceptionally pretty, with brilliant col-oring and dark hair and eyes, and her attractive manner has made for her a host of friends in this city. The disappointed suitor on his way from China is a sailor in Uncle Sam's navy. He has been in the Philippines and the Orient, and only recently by letter informed her of the collection of curios he had gathered to bring home for the Pilipino corner they had planned to have in their house. The man in California she met at the Wilard last winter, and he loss is livery deed of yesterday, Mr. Jones said ha hoped the time would come when men would respect and obey the law. He laid upon Mr. Manning a shoulders the responsibility for the defeat of the Morgan bill. Mr. Manning in reply said he could hardly claim entire credit for the defeat of the mongret measure, but feally telt glad that he did have something to do with defeating that bill which would have been a very unsatisfactory law. In referring to the crime of yesterday Mr. Manning told the Greenwood people how, by waiting the people of Sumter avoided lynching the wrong man and finally decided to allow the real criminal to be punished according to the regular course of law.

Mr. McMahan hoped there would be no lynching sequel to the crime of yesterday. He suggested a possibility yesterday. He suggested a possibility and necessary reformation of our criminal code with a view to more just penalties and to swifter enforce-ments of the law. He pleaded for a more general enlightenment of the electorate, that they might have a gov-ernment all representative which would best care for the interests of all would best care for the interests of all the people. He deprecates the fact that so many citizens care so little and know so little about those who are running for office.

Col. John Sigan complimented Greenwood on her progressive spirit. He is disgusted because the whiskey question has been the paramount is sue of this campaign. This condition is degrading to every moral sense. "All the Greenwood and all the dead wood in your county could not make wood in your county could not make a fire big enough to burn up the in-consistencies of Ansel's platform." (Laughter), Mr. M. F. Ansel, was delighted to appear in Greenwood, which used to be a part of his judicial district. "You know me and you know whether or not I will do my duty if elected." He emphasized good roads and drainage. Senator Cole L. Blease made a red-hot speech. He would rather be in another part of the county to-day, but duty called him here. Before sundown Greenwood, he thought, would do her part towards settling the race question; this by way of reference to the crime of yesterday. He attacked Mesars. Manning, Ansel and attacked Mesers. Manning, Ansel and Sloan, and asked the people to elect a man who advocates what he really believes in. Mr. Joel Brunson gave an ethical an ethical argument against the liquor traffic and in favor of prohibition This is a prohibition county, and of course Mr. Brunson felt at home here. Mr. W. A. Edwards was absent. All of the gubernatorial candidates were applauded, but Messrs. ## FOR EVERY GIRL

Converse College Has Perfected a Beautifully Rounded Standard of Artistic, Scientific and Womanly Education.

Womanly Education.

It is not imagined at Converse that College Pedagogy resolves itself into the theory of least resistance. Although particular pains are taken to educate every girl according to her tastes rather than athwart them, still instruction in science and mathematics is as painstaking and capable as any other.

Mathematics here rises to the integral calculus, and science to organic chemistry, while in other departments are offered, for example, thorough courses in economics, psychology, etc., all for the sake of breadth, recognizing the educated woman's cultured interest in all things human, yet cherishing in constant remembrance the fact that a woman's interest, a woman's place in the world demands the womanly education of worders. For the exceptional woman there are other institutions, but at Converse College it is not believed that the average girl cares or needs to be a specialist. For instance, in art and music, while the specially talented girl is given fullest opportunity, still each and every individual is taught to hear and see with that understanding which insures full interpretation and appreciation of masterpieces.
