He was away shead on points and had smashed and cut Nelson all through the fight without being severely hurt himself,

Nelson was looked after by Billy

At 2:54 p. m. "Battling" Nelson entered the ring first. He was closely followed by Gans. Both entered the ring clad in heavy bath robes.

The time keeper selected by the club failed to respond and another man had to be selected. Nelson's manager protested against any California man being chosen to act. Bert Ulmer, of Goldfield, was finally chosen.

Gans' time keeper was Jack Welch, of Ban Francisco, and Charlie Dixon, of the same place, is acting for Nelson.

The betting closed 100 to 60 on Gans, with no takers.

GANS. WINE TORS.

Gans won the toss for corners. He selected the southwest corner, by which the sun was at his back.

Neison got in a high right over the eyes. Gans hooked a wicked right to the stomach and Nelson shot a straight left to the face. Several of Nelson's swings went wild. They went to a furious mix in the center of the ring in which Gans drew blood from Nelson's nose with straight left. Nelson got in a good right to the face as the bell rang. Nelson is being outpointed, but he never gives ground and seems to thrive on Gans' punches. It was Gans' round.

At last he drew his right arm and hit Gans a victous hiow square in the groin. The colored boy sank to his knees and rolled over on his back. Referee Siler without hesitation ordered Nelson to his corner and awarded the fight to Gans and then drove Gans against ropes, and the drove Gans against ropes, and the drove Gans against ropes, souther the face, which he duplicated a moment later. Gans then put a right to the face, which he duplicated a moment later. Gans then put a right to the stomach and belt rang. Nelson brought the great crowd to its feet as he went to his corner with a faint smile on his sco. Nelson had a shade best of it. KEEPS NELSON'S NOSE BLEEDING. FOURTH ROUND NELSON'S. Siler's decision received almost unanimous approval. The foul was so obvious that not even men who had bet on Nelson could say that it had not been committed. All through the long contest Nelson had employed rough tactics. He repeatedly butted Gans.

Referee Siler said to the Associated Press that while he would not say that the foul was intentional, there was no doubt that a foul was committed.

Siler was loudly cheered as he left the ring, as was Gans, who was carried to his dressing room. Nelson and his seconds were hissed as they departed. All Nelson would say was that Gans was tired and quit.

GANS' WORK REMARKABLE.

Gans, in many ways, put up a remarkable fight. His endurance surprised every one. His work was the more wonderful when it is known that in the 33rd he broke the right hand. Never after that did he strike a blow with it, with the exception of a few short-arm joits while clinching. He did all his work with the left hand.

Gans said after the fight that Nelson intentionally fouled. He said he could finish Nelson, as he was committed that no the said shape when he took his chair, the foul of the said and looked sure winner.

"Larry" Sullivan announced for Gans that he would meet Nelson in two weeks in another fight, as he was sure he could whip him and did not want to take advantage of the foul. It is hardly probable, however, that the men will meet again in that time.

Nelson swung right and left and hard to Gans' jaw, but Gans more than evened matters, sending the Dane back with rapid-fire rights and lefts to jaw. Gans bled slightly from the mouth after the bell rang.

GANS BEGINS BLEEDING ALSO. Round 10—Gans met Nelson with straight left to the face. They went in close and Gans smothered Nelson with rights and a succession of lefts to the face. Nelson bored in and whipped his right and left to the negro's jaw. Nelson then brought blood from Gans' mouth in a stream with a succession of lefts and rights to that member. Round 11—They clinched, with Gans fighting hard and at the request of Referee Siler that Nelson stop butting with his head. Nelson apparently realized that his only chance was to fight breast to breast, and judging from preceding rounds he is the better man at this game. Nelson started a stream of blood from Gans' mouth by two wicked uppercuts, They broke from a clinch and Gans immediately whipped in two rights to Nelson's jaw. Gans was cautioned to keep away, but Nelson kept at close quarters. Nelson finally swung a light left to the mouth as the bell rang. If anything, Nelson had slight lend in this round.

Round 12—Nelson rushed on and they fought shoulder to shoulder for an advantage. Gams, getting Nelson away from him, whipped a stiff right to the face. Nelson forced Gams against the ropes and slipped to the floor. Gams held out hand and assisted him to his feet and they immediately renewed hostilities. Gams rested himself and seemed content to permit Nelson to do the leading. They fought breast to breast like two bulls and Nelson butted Gams on the jaw with his head. They bent very low, head to head, in monotonous fashion, each seeking to fight according to the manner best adapted to his peculiar style. The beit rang. Gams had slight lead of a tame round. Biler said he thought Gams was resting up.

The September meeting of the poard of aldermen was held in the council chamber of the city hall last night. There were present Mayor S. S. McNinch and Aldermen W. F. Dowd, W. W. Ward, J. H. Ross, George La Krueger, Dr. I. W. Faison,

J. P. Carr, M. F. Kirby, J. H. Anderson, Z. T. Smith, W. L. Long and B. F. Withers.

The greater part of last evening's three-hour session was taken up in hearing reports from the special comhearing reports from the special com-August meeting of the board. Alderman Ward came first with the report of the committee consisting of Aldermen Smith, Bates and himself, relative to the advisability of opening up West First street from Mint to Cedar streets. This special committee, af-ter looking over the ground and investigating the situation thoroughly, reported in favor of the proposed work, urging that the city open up this street to a width of 50 feet and that the Southern Railway Company subways of approved pattern and design over the crossings of West First street and the railroad tracks. After discussion, the report was adopted and an ordinance embodying provisions enacted. Alderman Krueger and Mr. Hugh W. Harris, city attorney, were delegated a special committee to confer with Mr. J. R. Winchester, late meat and milk inspector, to see if they could not adjust the differences which have been existing between the two for the past several months. The following report was submitted: have conferred with Mr. J. R. Winchester with reference to an adjustment of his claims on the position of food inspector and have found him willing to relinquish his claims if given employment in some other department. And, after conference with Mr. S. J. Asbury, chairman of the board of building inspection, and Col. A. b. Smith, of the fire committee of the police, fire and health combut mission, we have found that these boards can give Mr. Winchester employment at his former salary of $50 per month, until May 1, 1907, and we recommend that this board authorize his employment as special spector by them upon his resig-nation as food inspector." The report was signed by the two committeemen and was adopted.

A FALLING OFF OF DOGS. A little humor was injected into the meeting man of the finance committee, re-ported that only 102 dog tags had proven been sold this year as against 776 last year. He could not account for light upon the "dog-gone" Mayor McNinch suggested that it might be well for the board to appoint Mr. Winchester "dog-catcher" instead of special building inspector, as provided in Mr. Krueger's previous report. After a rather scattering discussion, half in earnest and half in fun, the matter was deferred to the next meeting.

They sell milk and do as they please as to their sanitary conditions." The report is an exceedingly interesting one and is worthy of the consideration of all those who use milk in the city: DR. To prevent actual bloodshed and the possible dynamiting of property, some of the best citizens of feared was a grave situation and as a result Harbison College, at Abbeville, is closed and the president of the institution has gone to other climes. From what little can be earned here the notice of the actual resignation of the president was re-ceived to-day. It is a somewhat long story, the deals of which are not all relevant. Harbison College has been in a flourishing condition in Abbeville for some time. It gets its money largely through the Northern Presbyterian Church and all of its money comes from the North for the education of the colored youth. It is co-educational, or rather it was. Boys and girls have been going to the so-called college for some time. Thomas H. Amos is a Northern colored man. He is apparently a man of education and was picked up from the North by the the college, from the ranks of the colored people, to be placed at the head of Harbison. He was there for some time.

He left Abbeville for Baltimore and is supposed to be there now.

The notice of his resignation was eceived to-day and a request made that one of the board of di-rectors of the college be given a hearing in the hope of establishing a better feeling. It is understood that the sentiment of many of the people of Abbeville is that Northern aid be withdrawn from Harbison College because it is believed if this is done and the Northern Presbyterian Church withdraws its aid the college will go into decadence and close its doors for the class of work it has been doing.
