

The Charlotte Observer.

J. P. CALDWELL, Publishers. D. A. TOMPKINS, I.

Every Day in the Year.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE: DAILY. One Year $3.00. Six months $1.80. Three months $1.00. SEMI-WEEKLY. One Year $1.00. Six months $0.60. Three months $0.35.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

No. 34 South Tryon street. Telephone numbers: Business office, 124; city editor's office, 124; news editor's office, 124; advertising rates as printed on application. Advertisers may feel sure that through the columns of this paper they will reach all Charlotte and a portion of the best people in this State and upper South Carolina.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1906.

ZACH MCGHEE ON TILLMAN.

There are some men about whom the public never tires of reading or hearing. Such a man was Napoleon, such a man was Lincoln, and such a man is Tillman. The names of biographies and character sketches of the two former find ready sale, and all the magazines and newspaper talk about Tillman since his contest with the rate bill forced him into a livelier national attention.

BOND ELECTION IN NOVEMBER.

The commissioners of this county yesterday ordered an election on the issue of the general election on the issue of $200,000 of bonds. The proceeds of the sale of these bonds, if they are voted, are to be used in extending the principal macadam roads to the county lines, for the extension of other roads and to pay off the floating debt.

After a brief account of the oligarchy which governed his State, he says and justly, before the war, and resumed its government upon the overthrow of the carpet bagger, Mr. McGhee reaches the point where it is necessary to state the issue on which Tillman mounted into power.

"I should like to ask Mr. Tillman what he has to say for the people of South Carolina in 1868 and afterwards was Tillman himself, and his campaign was an attack upon the general goodness of the situation. The article describes the picturesque hearings, when Tillman seated in a farm wagon draped with agricultural products, was drawn to the stump by his devotees and escorted by a howling procession, describing some of the quaint characters that the revolution swept into temporary prominence.

"I am before the Senate," said Tillman, "I should like to ask Mr. Tillman what he has to say for the people of South Carolina in 1868 and afterwards was Tillman himself, and his campaign was an attack upon the general goodness of the situation. The article describes the picturesque hearings, when Tillman seated in a farm wagon draped with agricultural products, was drawn to the stump by his devotees and escorted by a howling procession, describing some of the quaint characters that the revolution swept into temporary prominence.

"I am before the Senate," said Tillman, "I should like to ask Mr. Tillman what he has to say for the people of South Carolina in 1868 and afterwards was Tillman himself, and his campaign was an attack upon the general goodness of the situation. The article describes the picturesque hearings, when Tillman seated in a farm wagon draped with agricultural products, was drawn to the stump by his devotees and escorted by a howling procession, describing some of the quaint characters that the revolution swept into temporary prominence.

"I am before the Senate," said Tillman, "I should like to ask Mr. Tillman what he has to say for the people of South Carolina in 1868 and afterwards was Tillman himself, and his campaign was an attack upon the general goodness of the situation. The article describes the picturesque hearings, when Tillman seated in a farm wagon draped with agricultural products, was drawn to the stump by his devotees and escorted by a howling procession, describing some of the quaint characters that the revolution swept into temporary prominence.

"I am before the Senate," said Tillman, "I should like to ask Mr. Tillman what he has to say for the people of South Carolina in 1868 and afterwards was Tillman himself, and his campaign was an attack upon the general goodness of the situation. The article describes the picturesque hearings, when Tillman seated in a farm wagon draped with agricultural products, was drawn to the stump by his devotees and escorted by a howling procession, describing some of the quaint characters that the revolution swept into temporary prominence.

NOT TWO OF A KIND.

The recent removal of the Federal troops from Fort Brown, Texas, is discussed as a like action to the closing of the postoffice at Indianapolis, Miss. The two cases do not strike us as at all alike. At Indianapolis the white citizens made trouble with Minnie Cox, the colored postmaster—not that she was not well-behaved, as we remember it; not that the duties of the office were not properly discharged, but only because the postmaster was a negro. This being an offence to the sentiment of the community, such an appointment ought never to have been made, but it was neither unlawful nor unprecedented. In time past there have been a number of negro postmasters in North Carolina, for instance; there are now negro mail carriers and postal clerks, and none of them was ever mobbed. In the circumstance we were never able to share the general indignation against the President for closing the Indianapolis postoffice nor blame him for sending the people of the community elsewhere for their mail. The Brownville case is of quite another kind. Here insolent negro soldiers behaved outrageously toward white citizens of the town, without provocation so far as has appeared, and a riot naturally resulted. According to the reading of the stories the negroes were wholly to blame, yet the President arbitrarily refused to replace them with white troops, removed the negroes but dismantled the fort, leaving exposed a frontier which had always been protected. His action was wrong and indefensible. The similarity between this case and that of Indianapolis is too obscure for us to see.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

In a word Mr. Bryan has destroyed the hope his party had that under his leadership there would be a steady march from this time on to victory in 1908—marking, probably, the most brilliant appointment this country has felt in its history. It is not surprising if Mr. Bryan's attitude does not mean the nomination of Roosevelt for another term.—Charlotte Times.

DR. FISHER MAKES REPORT.

Dr. Fisher and Mr. Kirkpatrick pursue the same methods, and I am endeavoring to have steam under pressure on many of the dairymen. The dairies as I can convince that that is the only means we now have for anything like sterilization. Mr. Berryhill is just starting in the business again, building the necessary buildings. I have requested Mrs. Kerley to build a dairy house, place a floor under her cows, and make a solid partition between the cows and horses. Charles Peeler, a colored dairyman, has been requested to build a new barn before winter. He is now milking his cows under the trees, and a barn will be absolutely necessary when bad weather sets in, as mud, dirt and manure will get into the milk if the cows are compelled to stand and milk in the open during winter. I also requested him to clean up his present barn, which is now used by his father, who has six cows. He informs me that they are high individual property; that the city has nothing whatever to do with them, that he sells his butter to people practically living in the country, and feeds the buttermilk to the hogs, and that he has nothing whatever to do with his son's business. The son sells sweet milk and buttermilk and has informed Mr. Robinson that his butter to Biddle University. How much is sold in the city I have not learned, but it seemed to me that it would be advisable to request him to clean up his place, and stop washing milk utensils in or near the house.

MONKEY VEAL IS STILL SOLD IN THE CITY.

"I am satisfied that monkey veal is still being butchered and sold in Charlotte. I have no positive evidence at this time, but I should have certainly noticed it if it were being sold. Men are still buying calves from three days to a week old from the dairymen, who are not going to raise them, and the only thing I can see is, that those calves are bought for veal. A central slaughtering house would stop the practice quickly.

MANNING IS CONFIDENT.

Gubernatorial Candidate in South Carolina Has High Hopes of Success.—Commissioner Watson Securing Immigrants in Europe. Observer Bureau, 1209 Main Street, Columbia, S. C., Sept. 3.

Senator R. I. Manning, candidate for Governor, reached the city this evening from an extended trip to the country. He seemed in the best of spirits and greeted his friends with the most confident air. When asked as to his prospects in the coming election he said: "I am very much encouraged with the situation. I am convinced that my vote in the up-country will be largely increased. The news from the central and southern parts of the State is flattering in the extreme. I am assured by friends of Messrs. Blaise and Brunson that the far greater part of that following will go for me and I confidently expect the major part of the votes which, in the first election, went to my friends, McManhan, Sloan, Jones and Edwards. Oh, yes, it is a big lead to beat but I am firmly of the opinion that the opposition polled the bulk of its strength in the first primary. My friends in every part of the State are enthusiastic and send me the most encouraging assurances. My chances are bright and I am now just beginning to fight."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

In a word Mr. Bryan has destroyed the hope his party had that under his leadership there would be a steady march from this time on to victory in 1908—marking, probably, the most brilliant appointment this country has felt in its history. It is not surprising if Mr. Bryan's attitude does not mean the nomination of Roosevelt for another term.—Charlotte Times.

DR. FISHER MAKES REPORT.

Dr. Fisher and Mr. Kirkpatrick pursue the same methods, and I am endeavoring to have steam under pressure on many of the dairymen. The dairies as I can convince that that is the only means we now have for anything like sterilization. Mr. Berryhill is just starting in the business again, building the necessary buildings. I have requested Mrs. Kerley to build a dairy house, place a floor under her cows, and make a solid partition between the cows and horses. Charles Peeler, a colored dairyman, has been requested to build a new barn before winter. He is now milking his cows under the trees, and a barn will be absolutely necessary when bad weather sets in, as mud, dirt and manure will get into the milk if the cows are compelled to stand and milk in the open during winter. I also requested him to clean up his present barn, which is now used by his father, who has six cows. He informs me that they are high individual property; that the city has nothing whatever to do with them, that he sells his butter to people practically living in the country, and feeds the buttermilk to the hogs, and that he has nothing whatever to do with his son's business. The son sells sweet milk and buttermilk and has informed Mr. Robinson that his butter to Biddle University. How much is sold in the city I have not learned, but it seemed to me that it would be advisable to request him to clean up his place, and stop washing milk utensils in or near the house.

MONKEY VEAL IS STILL SOLD IN THE CITY.

"I am satisfied that monkey veal is still being butchered and sold in Charlotte. I have no positive evidence at this time, but I should have certainly noticed it if it were being sold. Men are still buying calves from three days to a week old from the dairymen, who are not going to raise them, and the only thing I can see is, that those calves are bought for veal. A central slaughtering house would stop the practice quickly.

MANNING IS CONFIDENT.

Gubernatorial Candidate in South Carolina Has High Hopes of Success.—Commissioner Watson Securing Immigrants in Europe. Observer Bureau, 1209 Main Street, Columbia, S. C., Sept. 3.

Senator R. I. Manning, candidate for Governor, reached the city this evening from an extended trip to the country. He seemed in the best of spirits and greeted his friends with the most confident air. When asked as to his prospects in the coming election he said: "I am very much encouraged with the situation. I am convinced that my vote in the up-country will be largely increased. The news from the central and southern parts of the State is flattering in the extreme. I am assured by friends of Messrs. Blaise and Brunson that the far greater part of that following will go for me and I confidently expect the major part of the votes which, in the first election, went to my friends, McManhan, Sloan, Jones and Edwards. Oh, yes, it is a big lead to beat but I am firmly of the opinion that the opposition polled the bulk of its strength in the first primary. My friends in every part of the State are enthusiastic and send me the most encouraging assurances. My chances are bright and I am now just beginning to fight."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

In a word Mr. Bryan has destroyed the hope his party had that under his leadership there would be a steady march from this time on to victory in 1908—marking, probably, the most brilliant appointment this country has felt in its history. It is not surprising if Mr. Bryan's attitude does not mean the nomination of Roosevelt for another term.—Charlotte Times.

DR. FISHER MAKES REPORT.

Dr. Fisher and Mr. Kirkpatrick pursue the same methods, and I am endeavoring to have steam under pressure on many of the dairymen. The dairies as I can convince that that is the only means we now have for anything like sterilization. Mr. Berryhill is just starting in the business again, building the necessary buildings. I have requested Mrs. Kerley to build a dairy house, place a floor under her cows, and make a solid partition between the cows and horses. Charles Peeler, a colored dairyman, has been requested to build a new barn before winter. He is now milking his cows under the trees, and a barn will be absolutely necessary when bad weather sets in, as mud, dirt and manure will get into the milk if the cows are compelled to stand and milk in the open during winter. I also requested him to clean up his present barn, which is now used by his father, who has six cows. He informs me that they are high individual property; that the city has nothing whatever to do with them, that he sells his butter to people practically living in the country, and feeds the buttermilk to the hogs, and that he has nothing whatever to do with his son's business. The son sells sweet milk and buttermilk and has informed Mr. Robinson that his butter to Biddle University. How much is sold in the city I have not learned, but it seemed to me that it would be advisable to request him to clean up his place, and stop washing milk utensils in or near the house.

MONKEY VEAL IS STILL SOLD IN THE CITY.

"I am satisfied that monkey veal is still being butchered and sold in Charlotte. I have no positive evidence at this time, but I should have certainly noticed it if it were being sold. Men are still buying calves from three days to a week old from the dairymen, who are not going to raise them, and the only thing I can see is, that those calves are bought for veal. A central slaughtering house would stop the practice quickly.

MANNING IS CONFIDENT.

Gubernatorial Candidate in South Carolina Has High Hopes of Success.—Commissioner Watson Securing Immigrants in Europe. Observer Bureau, 1209 Main Street, Columbia, S. C., Sept. 3.

Senator R. I. Manning, candidate for Governor, reached the city this evening from an extended trip to the country. He seemed in the best of spirits and greeted his friends with the most confident air. When asked as to his prospects in the coming election he said: "I am very much encouraged with the situation. I am convinced that my vote in the up-country will be largely increased. The news from the central and southern parts of the State is flattering in the extreme. I am assured by friends of Messrs. Blaise and Brunson that the far greater part of that following will go for me and I confidently expect the major part of the votes which, in the first election, went to my friends, McManhan, Sloan, Jones and Edwards. Oh, yes, it is a big lead to beat but I am firmly of the opinion that the opposition polled the bulk of its strength in the first primary. My friends in every part of the State are enthusiastic and send me the most encouraging assurances. My chances are bright and I am now just beginning to fight."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

In a word Mr. Bryan has destroyed the hope his party had that under his leadership there would be a steady march from this time on to victory in 1908—marking, probably, the most brilliant appointment this country has felt in its history. It is not surprising if Mr. Bryan's attitude does not mean the nomination of Roosevelt for another term.—Charlotte Times.

DR. FISHER MAKES REPORT.

Dr. Fisher and Mr. Kirkpatrick pursue the same methods, and I am endeavoring to have steam under pressure on many of the dairymen. The dairies as I can convince that that is the only means we now have for anything like sterilization. Mr. Berryhill is just starting in the business again, building the necessary buildings. I have requested Mrs. Kerley to build a dairy house, place a floor under her cows, and make a solid partition between the cows and horses. Charles Peeler, a colored dairyman, has been requested to build a new barn before winter. He is now milking his cows under the trees, and a barn will be absolutely necessary when bad weather sets in, as mud, dirt and manure will get into the milk if the cows are compelled to stand and milk in the open during winter. I also requested him to clean up his present barn, which is now used by his father, who has six cows. He informs me that they are high individual property; that the city has nothing whatever to do with them, that he sells his butter to people practically living in the country, and feeds the buttermilk to the hogs, and that he has nothing whatever to do with his son's business. The son sells sweet milk and buttermilk and has informed Mr. Robinson that his butter to Biddle University. How much is sold in the city I have not learned, but it seemed to me that it would be advisable to request him to clean up his place, and stop washing milk utensils in or near the house.

MONKEY VEAL IS STILL SOLD IN THE CITY.

"I am satisfied that monkey veal is still being butchered and sold in Charlotte. I have no positive evidence at this time, but I should have certainly noticed it if it were being sold. Men are still buying calves from three days to a week old from the dairymen, who are not going to raise them, and the only thing I can see is, that those calves are bought for veal. A central slaughtering house would stop the practice quickly.

MANNING IS CONFIDENT.

Gubernatorial Candidate in South Carolina Has High Hopes of Success.—Commissioner Watson Securing Immigrants in Europe. Observer Bureau, 1209 Main Street, Columbia, S. C., Sept. 3.

Senator R. I. Manning, candidate for Governor, reached the city this evening from an extended trip to the country. He seemed in the best of spirits and greeted his friends with the most confident air. When asked as to his prospects in the coming election he said: "I am very much encouraged with the situation. I am convinced that my vote in the up-country will be largely increased. The news from the central and southern parts of the State is flattering in the extreme. I am assured by friends of Messrs. Blaise and Brunson that the far greater part of that following will go for me and I confidently expect the major part of the votes which, in the first election, went to my friends, McManhan, Sloan, Jones and Edwards. Oh, yes, it is a big lead to beat but I am firmly of the opinion that the opposition polled the bulk of its strength in the first primary. My friends in every part of the State are enthusiastic and send me the most encouraging assurances. My chances are bright and I am now just beginning to fight."

COAT SUIT DEPT.

We are now prepared to show you what will be worn this fall and winter, in coat suits and cloaks, everything new in material, style and color. Russian Blouse Eton with ripple peplin short jacket, and tight fitting jacket, hip length, long or three-quarter length sleeve; all skirts made full and neatly trimmed.

CARPET DEPT.

Now is the time to get a choice selection in the way of carpets. All the newest and latest designs in colors, beautifully blended to harmonize with almost any tint of wall paper, etc.

Our parlor designs in Axminsters are especially beautiful. Floral and Persian designs to please all. This season's designs, we think, are more attractive than of any season past. Our prices are always reasonable. A visit to the department will convince you of the many things we have in store for our customers.

New line of those "Famous Roller Tray Trunks." College boys and girls will need trunks. We are saving lots of them money, we can save you money too. Just give us a chance. Prices from $2.00 to $27.50 on trunks.

Plaid Gingham

New Plaid Gingham for girls' school dresses, fast colors, price the yard 12c and 15c.

Galatea

Genuine Manchester Mills Galatea, the new fall patterns. Nothing takes the place of this for boys' waists. Price the yard, 15c.

Nurses Uniform

We carry only the regulation in the best grade. Price the yard, 12 1-2c.

LINEN SHEETING

10-4 Linen Sheeting for fall suits. Price the yard, 85c, $1.00, $1.25.

WHITE LINEN LAWN

All grades of White Linen Lawn, including the famous No. 1000 at 35c per yard.

DRESS TRIMMINGS

Our complete line of new Fall Dress Trimmings has arrived. We invite your inspection and criticism.

BLUE LINEN

Everybody wants Blue Linen. We have all shades and all grades. OUTFITTING. Pin stripe and solid color Outfitting for kimonos and children's clothes. Price the yard, 10c.

The Little-Long Co.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

The American District Telegraph Company delivers packages, parcels, notes, invitations, furnishes messengers for errand service at a very small cost. The Observer will send our messengers, without charge, to your residence or place of business for advertisements for this column.

WANTED.

- WANTED-A smart boy. Must live at home and come well recommended. Apply C. E. Hooper, Buford Hotel. WANTED-A boy, to sell goods on railroad. Must apply in person to News Stand, Southern Dept. WANTED-Position as teacher or governess to small children. Can teach music, painting and drawing. Address, stating salary, Y., Cary N. C. WANTED-Position by a lady teacher, with experience. Prefers primary or intermediate department. Address, "Teacher," care Observer.

MISCELLANEOUS.

- THE OBSERVER CO. publishes The Daily Observer, $3.00 a year; The Evening Chronicle, $3.00 a year; The Semi-Weekly Observer, $1.00 a year, and operates The Observer Job Printing House. The company solicits subscriptions, advertising and job printing. SMALL HOTEL for rent. In the cotton mill village of High Shoals, N. C. (near Gastonia) is a hotel for rent. Address, High Shoals Co., High Shoals, N. C. A BARGAIN-One new rotary Neostyle for making copies of letters. Yarborough & Bellinger Co. FOR SALE-Good family horse and sturdy cheap. W. L. Kenley, Severville. FOR SALE-Two 60-sw gins, press and elevator, good as new. Will buy 60-saw top feeder, 25-H. P. boiler and engine. J. Washaw, N. C. FOR SALE, for quick delivery, one second hand Fry & Egan Double End Taper, price $200.00. Inquiries, H. S. Frames, Macon, Ga. FOR SALE-House and lot, 206 South Church Street. E. F. Creswell. FOR RENT-Furnished house on West Vance street. Apply 309 South Tryon street. LOST-Between-Tryon Street Methodist church and postoffice, a brooch pin, hair ornament & pendant, diamond in forehead. Reward if returned to Observer office. LOST-A small open-face watch with chain attached, initials on back. Watch started the night before last. Found near Mecklenburg Silk Mill, just beyond Highland Park Mill No. 3, on the dirt road leading across the railroad to Gaston road. Liberal reward if returned to his office.

ASSAYING

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS. ORES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION. G. C. MOORE ENGINEERING CO. 24-25 W. 5th street, Charlotte, N. C.