stranger in the name of the Church with the greatest perspiculty. These fakirs trump up unheard of pretenses and it is only when they have been shown up in their real character by the test of time that the guileless ones open their eyes. An editorial apropos this subject appears in this morning's Charlotte Observer and we reproduce R. Says our contemporary:

"The religious nature of the ignorant seems to furnish one of the most fruitful, deversified and profitable fields for deception of all those seized upon by the ingenuity of the modern swindler and fanatic. The methods differ in different countries. In America, the gigantic fraud, 'Elijah' Dowie, in spite of the constant exposure of the public press for years, was not until recently repudiated by the thousands of unbalanced individuals who firmly believed him what he professed to be, the personal representative on earth of God. This did not take place until he had accumulated more than a million dollars 'for the Lord." "The Switzerland method is to retail at holiday rates, through tickets, in-

Due consideration is taken of the state of the purchaser's pocketbook and he is given his choice of four grades of tickets This commendable enterprise, operated by a prelate in Schwytz (which is not a typographical error), has enjoyed a large and continuous popularity. Lately, however, the inconsiderate and officious local police have called halt and have reported the prelate's conduct to the bishop, "But the Switzerland ticket-buyers ought not to be judged too harship How many million more are there in the world who would do the same thing if only they thought it would work?" The Switzerland prelate is simply another type of the clerical humbu or the hypocritical laymen in other parts of the world who brings reproach upon the Christian religion. The only strange thing about their success is that people otherwise noted for good horse sense are among their most stubborn supporters. The religious fakir gets altogether too much room and that is the reason

he thrives. LEFT BOARDS FOR NEWSPAPERS

THE ROSARY OF MY TEARS. Father Abram J. Ryan, in Irish World. Some reckon their age by years, Some measure their life by art; But some tell their days by the flow of their tears, And their lives by the moans of their heart. The dials of earth may show

The length, not the depth, of years 'ew or many they come, few or many they go,

But time is best measured by tears

Ah! not by the silver gray
