WAKE FOREST.

Correspondence of The Observer. Wake Forest College, Sept. 29.— The handsome alumni building at Wake Forest College stunds as a monument to the tireless efforts of Prof. John B. Cartyle, at the head of atin language and literature, and Dr. J. Henderson Gorrell, professor of nodern languages. The building is one of the most handsome in the State and is said to be the handsomest wned by North Carolina Baptists The building not only portrays the loyalty of the many alumni who have rone out from this institution, but s a part of Prof. Cariyle and Dr. Gorrell. The former of the two proessors raised the funds for the building and the latter superintended the construction.

The first time the matter of erecting a building here by the alumnt was discussed was at the alumni meeting of commencement, 1902-3. The association decided to build a bliological laboratory and asked Prof. Carlyle to raise the money for the building. At the same commencement, Prof. Carlyle, already having become fired with zeal for the cause and always equal to the occasion when it comes to a matter of education, made a stirring address before on commencement and $7,000 was exercises of that meeting closed.

Realizing that before contributions could be received in abundance it would be best to begin work on the building, work began with only $50 collected, but money began to come The first brick was laid by the little son of Prof. Carlyle, Master J. B. Carlyle, Jr., and in the spring of graduating class. In the winter of 1904-5 the building was built to the first story and stood till the summer of 1905, when it was completed to the roof. In the fall of last year was complete inside and in 1906

Special to The Observer

Concord, Sept. 39 .- The matter of electing a site for the proposed publie building for our city has theme of conversation and all absorbing interest to-day. Mr. Elisworth has given all the prospective speculators a chance and the thing has narrowed down to dimensions. A government purchase will not be made unless a corner lot 120x130 can be obtained. COTTON RECEIPTS FALLING OFF special to The Observer.

Wilmington, Sept. 50 .- The remark able falling off in cotton receipts at this port is being discussed to so extent among business men on the wharf. Since the first of September to date only 28,190 bales have been received here against 57,928 balos to a corresponding period last year. There are now at the compresses of Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son three large steamers awaiting cargoes and others are expected to arrive daily. Brunswick Superior Court has adjourned with the disposition of only the criminal docket. Judge W. B. Councill, who presided, is said to be still suffering from the effects of the wreck in which he was caught on the Seaboard Air Line recently at Hamlet. The only case of interest at the term just concluded was that of A. M. Beck young white man who engaged in a fight with a witness against him in front of the court house Tuesday night. He was taken on a bench warrant and was sentenced to 12 months on the roads in Columbus county. Young Beck is prominent in the Shallotte section of Brunswick and every effort was made by his friends to get the sentence changed to the payment of fine, but Judge Councill was unmoved in his purpose to punish the young man severely. The witness assaulted was badly cut and one of his
