CAROLINA COLLEGES

Correspondence of The Observer.

Chapel Hill, Oct. 18.—In the muscul department of the University everything points to a successful year. Conductor Wollen reports better material and more of it than he has seen had before. The gice club has begun practices and gives every indication of attaining the excellence of last year's club.

The Odd Number Club met Tuesday and elected officers for the year, he follows: Prof. E. K. Graham, president; Q. S. Mills, vice president, and treasurer. The following named menwers made members of the club: T. W. Andrews, R. B. Burns, W. E. Talverton, H. B. Gunter, O. R. Rand and C. G. Mullen. The Odd Number Club was organized last year with a view to encouraging the creative literary work at the University. Informal meetings were held monthly last year at which a number of sketches, verses and essays, written by members of the club, were read and discussed. So successful was the experiment that it was decided to make the club a permanent organization.

Officers of the German Club have been elected as follows: Hampden Mill, president; Carroll Wiggins, vice president; F. C. Whitaker, secretary; Manilus Orr, treasurer; Frank Daniels, leader of the November Gormas.

A reception and dance was given in the D. K. E. hall Thursday night.

A new gas plant is being installed in new alumni building this week.

Abali made its debut for the season here yesterday afternoon with a large and enthusiastic audience on the diamond. The same was the first of a diamond. The game was the first of a series of three games arranged by the manager of the team, Mr. Kyle Elliott of Etowah, Ala. in cinection with Mr. Crosier and others. The game resulted in a tie of 6 to 0. There was a fierce struggle on both sides to get by the line, but no score could be made. Not a single man was laid out of the game on account of being hurt, and the game was one of snap throughout. Three more games will have to be played before the championship of the two teams can be decided.

The October number of The Wake orest Student has made its appearage and is a creditable number. The liters for the year are: Dr. J. Hen-

Six seniors are selected from each society. The twelve deliver orations before the public and a committee of the faculty, the duty of this com-mittee being to select six of the twelve to speak at commencement. Thursday will probably be granted as holiday by the faculty in order that all who wish to do so may attend the State Fair in Raleigh.

Basket ball is already being played in the gymnasium daily, but next week regular work will begin under the supervision of the physical director, Mr. J. Richard Croxler, with a view to training men from whom he will select a basket ball team to represent select a basket ball team to represent the college. Three games will prob-ably be played with Trinity College this fall and it is boyed that the team can take a Southern trip in the spring. There will be a number of applicants for positions on the team.

WHITSETT.

Correspondence of The Observer. Whitsett, Oct. 13. The Young Men's Christian Association has now about one hundred and twenty-five members and has organized a very ag-gressive campaign for the year. Lead-ers have been selected to take charge of ten Bible classes and these classes are being well attended. The work of the association was never on a better basis and much good has already been done this fall.

Last Thursday was hollday for the Central Carolina Fair at Greensboro and about one hundred spent the day on the fair grounds. The day was bitterly cold, but all seemed to enjoy it nevertheless. It was a subject of general remark that the fair was the cleanest yet held, and the splendid attendance of over twenty thousand proves that a fair free from the low shows of recent years will attract a large crowd of people and please them also. It is to be hoped that the change is a prominent one, for all our fairs have been greatly burt by the low attractions of recent years.

Cards have been received here for the Broadhurst-Strowd marrige next Thursday in Greensboro. Miss Effe Wharton, who was at Salem Female College last year, will teach near Greensboro-this year in the Groome graded school. While the school will not suspend its work, a number will go from here to the State Fair at Raleigh next week. Students from eastern Caro-lina find the State Fair a convenient place to meet their friends and many attend each year.

The literary societites have recently raised a fund with which to place handsome chandeliers in each of the society balls. The halls were re-papered last spring before commence-ment, and with the improvements to be made will be very attractive. Mr. W. D. Wolfe, of Albemarie, a

ERSKINE COLLEGE.

Correspondence of The Observer.

Due West, S. C., Out. 12.—The week just closed has been a very quiet one at Erskine, and on this account the students have accomplished much solid work. Great activity is being shown in the athletic line, especially in football. There is ideal weather here for this game and the students are beginning to manifest much interest in it. Each class will put out a est in it. Each class will put out a strong team and contest for the col-lege championship. Perhaps a num-ber of games will be played next

TRINITY.

Correspondence of The Observer. Trinity College, Oct. 13.—The entire with much pleasure to the address of Mr. John Charles McNelli Monday night on "The Art of Suggestion in Literature." In, anticipation of this lecture, last night Dr. Edwin Mims gave in the Y. M. C. A. Hall a reading from Mr. McNeill's volume of poems, "Songs Merry and Sad." There was a good-sized audience to hear the eading and all were pleased with it. Dr. Mims selected those poems that est represent the genius of the author and with comment on these and by the inimitable Dr. Mims has as a reader the students were capti-

Last Jone Mr. Raymond Browning, a former student of Trinity and a professor last year in Trinity Park School, brought out a neat little volume of poems entitled: "After-Study Meditations." WINTHROP.

Correspondence of The Observer.

Winthrop College, Oct. 18.—The two literary societies have begun the new school year with much activity and great interest. New members have been added to both and a large number of candidates are awaiting initiation into their chosen society. The annual open seasons are always a source of pleasure to every one commenced with the college and are large by attended. The Curry Society gave ofte on Saturday evening. like this to give rise to a long dissertation on the social problems of our time.

Quoting from Tacitus the short sentance, "I am in doubt whether the gods in anger or in kindness has denied gold to the Germana," the speaker said this sugests the whole doctrine of human activity and self-reliance, and shows what a great Roman historian thought of the problem of earning your bread by the sweat of your brow. Furthermore, we are in danger of thinking, in a country new and beastful like ours, that all the wisdom of the ages has been developed eight here in America and that what we do not know is scarcely worth knowing. I should prefer," he said, "to see our young people grow enthusiastic over the treasured wisdom of the past."

In conclusion, the president urged the students to put into their studies the spirit of mastery, hard study, strenuous effort, the spirit that means business instead of a lazy indiffernt one that accomplishes nothing. The manifest appreciation of these remarks is indicative of the fact that such a spirit largely provails already at Guilford.
