

A MATTER OF THE MAJORITY

THINKS CRAWFORD WILL WIN

Mr. W. H. Miller Reviews the Situation in the Tenth and Concludes That Crawford Will Win by a Probability of 2,000 Majority.

On the eve of the battle of ballots next Tuesday and after nearly two months on the campaign in the tenth district, I speak of the congressional contest between Messrs. Crawford and Britt to two clever gentlemen who "hear without reporting the grand old name of gentlemen."

Crawford is a magnetic and aggressive mountaineer who stands like Saul head and shoulders above his brethren; Britt, a revenue man and ex-school teacher, called justly or unjustly professor in a scholastic talker and a good dogger of debate.

Crawford is an impetuous, aggressive campaigner, who enthralls and keeps close to his crowd and he has a quiver full of the arrows of sarcasm and ridicule.

Britt is more scholarly and learned in literature, but a cold blooded propositioner who is not the peer of Crawford in sledge-hammer blows in arguments, in knowledge of politics and sarcasm.

Crawford and Britt are the arch-foes of their own fortunes or selfishness. It is said that self-made men worship their makers, themselves, and this is true of Prof. Britt, an intense egoist.

Britt boasts of his candor and fairness, "the dotter too much" for he is artful, and Crawford has exposed two of his misstatements, or tricks to mislead the voters, and as he hurried the proofs, he added, "No man can go to Congress on a false issue."

2,000 MAJORITY IN THREE. The question now is how much will be Crawford's majority in the thirteen counties of this empire district in this lovely mountain section that was hung up to dry after the flood.

Let us compare the three populous Democratic counties with three Republican counties with the same population, as the other counties are small in population and with a close margin on either side.

The Democratic majorities in Rutherford, Haywood and Buncombe will be about 200 votes for Crawford, or 2,000 for Britt in the Democratic trio, if the Democrats go to the polls and vote their sentiments.

This estimate is made from a careful and recent poll of the voters, Democratic, Republican and doubtful, and an increased registration of newly registered voters giving a Democratic majority.

In Rutherford Crawford is a general favorite and will lead the ticket; the aggressive Democratic chairman, John C. Mills, estimates Crawford's majority at 800 votes.

Haywood will approximate 600, and Buncombe will give 200 majority. The defeat of the Republican candidate in Buncombe has been conceded for a week.

DISAFFECTION IN HENDERSON. In the Republican column the three strongest counties are Henderson with 300, Swain and Cherokee with 350 each majority, making a total of 650 majority for Britt in Henderson.

Henderson is Republican in affection, because the Asheville revenue ring, so friendly to Britt, knifed Ewart and helped to defeat him and the Republican chairman told me the Republicans in Henderson would make no gains.

Their ticket—Democrats and disaffected Republicans together—that promises a good vote against Republicanism but a mixed ticket is like the algebraic X, an unknown quantity. Little Clark, on the Georgia line with its 24 Democratic majority, will give 200 total Democratic majority to be offset by two Republican counties of 200 total.

McDowell is this week claimed earnestly by 100 majority. His influence and the county ticket, but whiskey is an important factor in McDowell politics and the whiskey ring that worships whiskey and the money it brings into their pockets, dominates McDowell and can elect either side that is subservient to their wishes.

In Jackson county the local and pecuniary question of the removal of court house from Webster to Sylva is a disturbing factor in the Democratic and Republican ranks. It will hurt the Democratic majority of 95, but if it will hurt the Republican vote in Sylva, for the Republicans vote solid and the rebellious Democrats have to kick and vote as they please.

This district in Jackson may defeat two on the local ticket, but will cut no ice in the vote for Crawford, who is a sure winner and has his forces well organized for the battle.

The majority of Guider was 550 two years ago; this will be increased by Crawford, whose majority will approximate 1,200.

The Democrats must remember that thorough organization, incessant work with tact and vigor, bugles and vehicles at the polls to bring the lame, aged and lukewarm voter before noon to the polls, lists of illegal and challenged voters at precincts, careful work on next Tuesday from sunrise to sunset—all these are necessary adjuncts to a big Democratic victory for honest and good government in this State.

GOOD CITIZENS MUST VOTE. The thirteen thousand votes of this county are the custodians or agents for the eighty million people of the United States; into the hands of the voters are committed the ship of State and the destiny of this land for well or woe, for glory or dishonor.

To vote is therefore the highest duty of citizenship, for every intelligent and honest voter is an unrecognized king or ruler when he deposits modestly his ballot that helps to shape the destiny of his country. Not to vote in critical times is to betray to that high trust or agency imposed upon each citizen; therefore be loyal and vote to continue good government and to select firm and honest men who "wear the white flower of a blameless life." Therefore, vote on Tuesday for honest and good government and all will be well with this and thy country.

W. H. MILLER. Asheville, Nov. 2, 1906.

ALL SAINTS' CELEBRATION.

The Feast Celebrated at Belmont With Pomp and Splendor Worthy of the Occasion.

Belmont, Nov. 2.—The feast of All Saints was celebrated at Mary Help Abbey church with all the pomp and splendor with which the Catholic Church loves to commemorate the memory of those countless children, who have fought the good fight and have kept the faith.

The ceremonies began at nine a. m. with Solemn Pontifical Mass. The officiating ministers were: Rt. Rev. Bishop Hall, O. S. B., celebrant; Fr. Eugene, O. S. B., assistant priest; Fr. Thomas, O. S. B., deacon of honor; Fr. James, O. S. B., subdeacon of honor; Father Ambrose, O. S. B., and Fr. Ramiro, deacon and subdeacon of the Mass in the order named; Fr. Felix, O. S. B., master of ceremonies.

After the reading of the Gospel, the Rt. Rev. celebrant delivered a characteristic sermon, during which he spoke of how the Church loves to honor the heroes of faith, just as the State loves to pay tribute to her great ones. In conclusion, the preacher emphasized the truth that the best way to honor the saints is to imitate their virtues.

A very pleasing feature of the services was the singing of the Gregorian chants, in accordance to the late Pope's decree by the trained choir, assisted by the orchestra. Both players and singers reflect great credit upon their reverend director. Especially fine was the work of the boys to whom were assigned the soprano parts.

Today's celebration was brought to a close with Solemn Vespers and procession to the Abbey cemetery, where the office of the dead was chanted in anticipation of the feast of All Souls November 2d.

"WHITE-UP" MAN RELEASED.

Iredell Court Held Strous to be Guilty of Nothing More Than Breach of Contract—New Company Organized—Furniture Employee Hurt—Other News.

Stateville, Nov. 2.—Many cases of minor importance have been disposed of by the Superior Court this week. The State docket was finished yesterday and the dockets taken up.

The court will adjourn this evening until next Wednesday on account of the election.

M. E. Strous, the expert write-up man who collected money under contract to write up the town for The Mascot, and then left town with $33 without making good, was released by the court yesterday. It was decided by the court that he was guilty of nothing more than a breach of contract and under the conditions the court could do nothing.

As Strous was discharged for the offense here he was arrested on a warrant from Hickory, where he had worked his game. Strous is also wanted for similar offenses at several places in North Carolina and Virginia, and if he is released at Hickory he may be re-arrested on a warrant from some of the other points.

Mr. Stamey Ballard met with a very painful accident Wednesday afternoon while at work at the Kincaid Furniture Factory. Mr. Ballard was standing in the aisle of a circular saw that was in operation and the stack of lumber was accidentally knocked over. A piece of the timber struck the saw and the force of the blow hurled against Mr. Ballard, knocking him down. He was taken to the Long Sanatorium for treatment and is getting along as well as could be expected.

The Bell Telephone Company's new office building on Front street is completed and the switch-boards and other fixtures are being put in. Congressman Blackburn and Hon. Thos. Settle are canvassing the county this week. They spoke at Jennings and Cool Spring yesterday and had good success in hearing them.

Mr. Settle is billed to make two speeches here to-morrow. The Republicans will put up a strong fight in the county and if they do not gain ground, it will not be the fault of their leaders or the lack of enthusiasm.

NEWS UP IN WATAUGA. Mr. Howie to Speak in Boone To-Day—County Candidates Close Campaign—Corn Crop Damaged by Hail.

Special to The Observer. Sugar Grove, Nov. 2.—The county candidates will close their campaign at Boone Saturday, Nov. 3.

Mr. T. C. Howie, of Jefferson, will address the citizens of Watauga on the issue of the day at the same time and place. Mr. Howie is an interesting speaker. A large crowd is expected.

Mr. Blackburn will not get as many votes in Watauga as he did two years ago, as there are a great many in his own party who say that they will not support him.

Farmers are busy now shucking corn. The corn crop in some parts of the county is said to be badly damaged by the rain.

FAVORS WATERWAYS WORK.

Chief Executive Recently in Synopcity With National Rivers and Harbors Congress in Effort to Develop Trade Through Improvement of Streams and Ports—Big Convention Fixed for Next Month in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 2.—President Roosevelt this month starts on a trip that will establish a precedent, so far as the United States of America is concerned. In his desire to see just how the work is progressing on the Panama Canal he is going to the Isthmus to view the scene. It is the first time in the history that an occupant of the White House has gone so far afield.

In fact, the President has taken up waterways improvement as his special hobby, now that he has seen the railroads curbed. In mounting his new hobby he is endorsing the views of many men of affairs, notable among them Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell, chairman of the executive committee of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, that water competition offers a sure and more lasting solution of transportation troubles than any law that could be framed.

However, the President's interest in either the Panama Canal or the development of the rivers and harbors of the United States is not new-born, by any means. Last January he received the delegates to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress at the White House and in addressing them said:

"A congress like this is always welcome, because it has at heart the affairs in which the whole nation is deeply concerned, for it is unnecessary to say that those who live remote from any navigable river, from any deep sea harbor, yet have almost as great, though an indirect concern in their proper care and development as those who live right on the borders. For the development of our commerce depends in large part upon the intelligent treatment of the rivers and harbors of the United States."

The attitude of the President to exert a strong power for good in the crusade for greater appropriations at the hands of Congress for the work of making these channels of commerce navigable. It is not known yet whether he will send anything more than a formal message of greeting to the National Rivers and Harbors Convention, which meets here next month, but the fact that his sympathies lie with the organization is certain to have a powerful effect in urging the national legislators to grant the $50,000,000 annual appropriation asked for by the convention.

It has been pointed out here by experts that the Panama Canal opening will not be of any great commercial benefit to the American manufacturer, merchant, or farmer unless the work of developing the nation's rivers and harbors keeps up with the progress on the big isthmian ditch. This fact is so patent that the President on his return from inspecting the canal, is expected to jump into the fight with characteristic energy and aid in the movement to secure increased funds for the rivers and ports.

As a matter of fact, it long has been a thorn in the side of the administration that Great Britain and Germany practically control the entire trade of Mexico, South and Central America. Secretary Root was astounded on his recent visit to Latin-American countries by the extent to which these nations have gobbled what rightfully belongs to the United States. He found at that time that England and Germany were enabled to float their commerce mainly because of water transportation.

HATS OFF. Facts About the American Indian's Healthy Hair. The American Indian, accustomed from time immemorial to go bareheaded in all kinds of weather, is never troubled with falling hair or baldness.

The close atmosphere caused by our "civilized" headgear is conducive to the breeding of infinitesimal germs which dig into the scalp and thrive on the sap of the hair root.

This true cause of baldness is of recent discovery and explains the success of all hair vigor which treated baldness as a functional disorder.

Newbro's Hairdye is a direct extirpator of the germ. It destroys the cause and permits the hair to grow as nature intended.

SOME "OLD TIMERS" With Revolutionary war ideas, such as tall and wax candles, and plow-line rope to measure land and establish lines with, are trying up the country. They don't seem to open their eyes to the knowledge that the country is now ready to be operated by the power of electricity and modern machinery. The sooner this crowd get their ideas to an emery stone and have them ground down to finer points, the better it will be for the country. Let us try to keep young and travel with the boys, otherwise go fishing or hunting and let the boys run the country on up-to-date methods.
