Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Griffin, of Manchester, N. H., who have been spending several days in the city, left yesterday for points South on a pleasure trip.

That the Charlotte Day Nursery is claiming the interested attention of a large number of Charlotte women was evidenced yesterday by the large attendance at the "silver tea" given for the benefit of the nursery. The tea was in fact a delightful reception, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hook, on East Morehead street and from 4 until 7 o'clock the ladies called, made their silver offering to the cause and enjoyed a delightful social time.

The pretty home was decorated in palms, ferns, chrysanthemums, and roses, and the arrangement was charming in effect. At the door Master Walter Hooke, the attractive little son of the home, received the silver offerings and in the reception hall Mrs. Hook welcomed the guests. A receiving party consisting of Mesdames W. G. Rogers, R. C. Holland, A. H. Washburn, E. C. Register, and Miss Julia Robertson, president, treasurer, first vice president, recording secretary, and corresponding secretary, respectively, of the Charlotte Day Nursery Association, was in the parlor. From the parlor the guests were conducted to the dining room where delicious ice cream and cake were served. Mesdames J. O. Gardner, G. L. Patterson, of Concord, and C. A. McLaughlin presided in the dining room, while Mrs. F. D. Lethco acted as Miss Marjorie Long served the tea in the library.

The offering amounted to $33, and the occasion was pronounced an entire success in every particular.

Among the guests at the Central last night were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Clinard, of Hickory.

A DELIGHTFUL CONCERT.

The Richardson Orchestra, Surpasses Itself—The Special Numbers Good—The Programme Rendered.

In the second of the series of concerts being given by the Richardson Orchestra at the Academy of Music last night, that body of musicians surpassed itself. The programme was well selected and no orchestra in the South could have rendered the various numbers better than did Mr. Richardson's aggregation. The 20 members work together well, and the technique of rendition is most excellent. The orchestra was assisted by Miss May Courtney Oates, contralto, who rendered two solos beautifully. Miss Oates has a voice of superb quality and tone. Probably the most enjoyable number on the programme was the sextette from Lucia di Lammermoor, Donizetti. The quartette, "Alice, Where Art Thou," by Messrs. Baker, Thornton, Keesler and Alderman, was exquisitely rendered, as was also the flute and French horn duet by Messrs. Asbury and Keesler. The programme rendered follows:

- 1. Reveille du Lion. 1. Von Kottlitz. 2. "Alice, Where Art Thou?" 3. "Alice, Where Art Thou?" 4. "Alice, Where Art Thou?" 5. Bohemian Girl 6. Les Patineurs 7. Serenade (Duo Flute and French Horn) 8. "Alice, Where Art Thou" 9. Sergeant Kitty (request) Sloane 10. "Spring Has Come" Mo Virino White. 11. Miss May Courtney Oates. 12. Miserere and Finale (Act III) from II Trovatore 13. Verdi

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE GYMS.

Out-Door Gymnasiums at the City Schools a Great Success—Besides Developing the Children Physically, They Reduce the Number of Tardies and Makes Better Discipline Possible.

Few people in Charlotte have any idea of the work being done in the graded schools of the city. It is a treat to visit either of the white schools, to see the children in the rooms, to see them march out in an orderly manner at recess and disband at the tap of the bell or drum. When the bell rings for them to return, every child is in line and stillness reigns within a few brief moments.

The newest feature at the city schools, and a feature that is something of a departure in this State, is an outdoor gymnasium at each of the white schools. The gyms are proving a great success. Besides developing the children physically, the gyms get them to school in time. "There haven't been one-third as many tardies since we have had the gyms," said Superintendent Graham yesterday. "The children begin coming before 8 o'clock to do stunts, and large numbers of them come back to the grounds after school in the afternoon."

At the North school, where there are nearly 900 pupils there are several swings, a horizontal ladder, parallel bars, etc. At the South school, where there are 1,200 pupils, there are seven swings, several other single rope swings with bars, horizontal ladders, parallel bars, etc. All the children are enthusiastic over gymnastics and some of them are becoming expert performers.
