Time, 1:08. The visitors played all around the Yale team for almost the whole of the first half—sensational work marking the opening moments of the game. The blue team played almost entirely in the defensive during the first half, depending on Veeder's punting to keep the ball out of dangerous territory.

In the second half Yale showed better form and while the forward pass was not once used, and no trick plays were in evidence. Brown's offense was held in betetr check and the Blue began to play more aggres-

Princeton Scores West Point. West Point, Nov. 10 .- Princeton defeated the West Point cadets on the football field here to-day by a score $ to 0. The visitors scored twice in the first half through the splendid kicking of Harian. His scoring of a goal from a drop kick was the feature of the game and his goal from placement was as straight as the flight of an arrow.

Eight thousand enthusiastis crowded the stands and fringed the lines. It was a fast and well played game, with few fumbles and the general impression at the finish was that in comparing the showing made by Yale and Princeton against the army the New Jersey me will be able to give the New Haven contingent a hard battle next Saturday. Rulon Miller, of Princeton, and Weeks, of West Point, were put out of the game for slugging. The second half was full of exciting plays and several changes were made in the line-up on both sides, owing to injuries, but the only one badly hurt was Dillo, who it is said at the lend of the game was not seriously injured. Cornell Defeats Holy Cross.

SENTENCED TO HANG DEC. 6 WALKER GUILTY OF BURGLARY

At End of Two Days' Trial of Henry Walker, the Negro Charged With the Shooting of Mr. Holt at Gra-ham, Jury Returns Verdict of Burgiary in the First Degree and Judge Imposes Death Sentence-Court Congratulates People on Their Forbearance and Approves the Verdict—Walker Denies Guilt to the Last. Special to The Observer.

Graham, Nov. 10. - The court house was packed to-day with an audience of men and women, white and colored, eager to hear the conclusion of the trial of Henry Walker for the shooting of Mr. L. Banks Holt.

Mr. E. S Parker, Jr, opened with careful review of the evidence-Walker's discharge by Mr Holt, his wrath and profane and violent threats against Mr. Holt before many witnesses, his display of his pistol Monday night to Graves and the women and his tirade against the Holts; the scene with Fannie Mc-Caine in Luis Rudd's restaurant Tuesday evening, where Walker declared his intention of killing Mr. Holt that night, with the assistance of Annie Turner, the housemaid; the mysterious disappearance of the gir from the Holts' residence that night till after the commission of the crime, and the hall door being found unlocked with the key on the out-

Solicitor Brooks then followed with a splendid tribute to Mr. Holt's character as citizen and employer Who could commit such a crime! only one man. His motive has been shown; his heart a distillery of venom and malice; his mouth full of profane abuse and threats; so full of ate that he could not sleep Monday hate that he could not sleep Monday night and poured out anathema against the whole Holt family.

Walker gave himself completely away when arrested by saying, 'Take me to Mr. Holt, and he can't say anything but that he was shot? No one could say that except the man who knew that Mr. Holt had been shot while standing in a lighted hail by one lurking in a dark hall behind him. We ask for a verdict of burglary in the first degree.

Mr. J. S. Cook, for the prisoner, made an able defense. In circustantial evidence each link in the chain must be strong enough to support a verdict of guilt. The motive alleged was utterly insufficient. A mere discharge without a quarrel would not enrage such a negro, and Walker had left quietly. The Statements of witness were confused, and some of the witnesses prejudiced. Court here took recess till 3:30 o'clock. After recess the judge charged the jury that several elements must constitute burglary in the first degree; the house that several elements must constitute burglary in the first degree: the house must be used as a dwelling; be actually occupied; be broken into by unlocking, etc.; and at night; and for a fellonious purpose. He then summed up the evidence, and dismissed the jury to consider their verifict.

In about 29 minutes the jury returned and rendered a verdict of "guilty of burglary in the first degree."
The prisoner stood up and being asked if he had snwthing to say, spoke with deep emotion: "I never put my foot on Mr. Holt's place since I left him: I never made any threats; may God stiffen my tongue if I did this thing. I'm ready to meet my God but white God stiffen my tongue if I did this thing.
I'm ready to meet any God, but, white folks. I sure never did this, and you will all know it at the day of judgment.
May God convict me then if I'm not telling the truth. There isn't a colored person sat in that witness chair told the truth. I sure deny this thing."

The judge warmly complimented the
