JORDAN A CANDIDATE, IF— Whether He Would Again Lead Cotton Growers "Depends," He Says. Atlanta Special, 13th, to New York Commercial.

Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton Association who recently said that he might not accept a re-election should it be offered to him, and who was erroneously quoted as saying he would not accept, when asked to-day if he would be a candidate for re-election said: "That depends on certain conditions that will have to be met, and I cannot tell exactly what I shall do until I reach Birmingham. Until then I could not say whether I would be a candidate for the place."

Richard Cheatham, secretary of the association, has said positively that he would not take the position if it were offered to him again. Neither he nor President Jordan, according to Cheatham, has received any salary since last March. On this account it is not thought there will be a rush of candidates for officers' places in the association. M. L. Johnson, president of the Georgia division; Thomas E. Watson, and E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, are among those mentioned as candidates for Mr. Jordan's place.

The convention, which will open at Birmingham, Ala. January 17, will discuss the $100,000,000 cotton-holding project recently launched by members of the executive committee. Mr. Jordan says this company will not affect the association. The two will work together, he says, and their plans will not conflict. The convention, it is said, will formally recognize the $1,000,000 holding company recently organized by the Sea Island cotton growers.

Mr. R. S. Gray Leaves. Mr. Ransom S. Gray left last night for his new home at Ardmore, Oklahoma. He will be joined at Salisbury this morning by his wife and daughter, Miss Lottie Gray, who have been visiting Mrs. Charles Leonard, at Petersburg, Va. Dr. Merhoures is a young man of fine ability, but he raked and he rambled in his boyhood days. He is very popular with the people, although he is wealthy. This is the third or fourth time he has been elected.
