

PERRY EAGLE TO JAMESTOWN.

Master Wooden Bird Now in Boston Navy Yard Will Be Moved Up This Week For Shipment. Washington, Feb. 2.—An eagle, 10 feet high, weighing a ton, and carved from wood, now in the Boston Navy Yard, will be boxed up this week and sent to the Jamestown Exposition. This massive bird was on the flag of the USS Perry's flagship, the Niagara, when the American squadron went to Japan in 1852. It was built for the Niagara and not one of the wooden ships of the American navy has ever had a more artistic and massive figurehead than this. To make it fit the ship's bow it was found necessary to remove a part of the bird's back, but this has been replaced and the whole has been painted an appropriate color. The Navy Department has promised the Boston Navy Yard that their much prized relic shall be returned to them at the close of the Jamestown exposition. Another relic, to be exhibited at the Jamestown Exposition, also from the Boston Navy Yard, is the steel scroll removed from the stern of the Olympia, the flagship of Admiral Dewey when he won his famous victory in Manila bay.

Among the famous other mementos to be sent to the Jamestown Exposition are pictures of the Constitution, Niagara, Susquehanna, of two British warships laying the Atlantic cable, a model of the first dry dock and the old ship's bell from the Constitution.

LAND FOR A BRIGADE POST.

Army Officers Suggest to War Department That the Tract Adjoining Fort Oglethorpe Is Well Suited For This Purpose.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The report has been received at the War Department of the special board of army officers who were detailed to select land in the neighborhood of Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., for use as a brigade post and a manoeuvre ground. The tract will cost nearly a million dollars. The board has obtained options on certain land, which will expire in March and July. The report states: "The board is of the opinion that the portion of the tract adjoining Fort Oglethorpe is well suited for expansion into a brigade post, with necessary ground for drills, ceremonies and elementary instruction in extended order. It is considered that this tract is sufficiently large for a mixed garrison, not to exceed three regiments. The tract is well situated for this tract should be utilized for working out problems involving combined operations of all arms and any number of troops concentrated for manoeuvre purposes. The land is so situated that in operating over it it will be necessary to remain out over night. This is considered an advantage, as it necessitates a closer approximation to service conditions. This land is well suited for the use intended. It admits of all forms of tactical operations."

DR. LULL SHOT.

Explosion of Cartridge by Street Car Wounds Durham Veterinary Surgeon, Though Not Fatally—Kappa Sigmas Meet.

Special to The Observer. Durham, Feb. 2.—The annual meeting of the Kappa Sigma fraternity for the fourth district, this including North and South Carolina, met here to-day and the annual meeting was followed by a banquet at Hotel Carolina to-night. Two business sessions were held—the first this morning, and the other this afternoon. To-night there was an initiatory session, when five new Kappa Sigmas were made. There were representatives here from the University, the Agricultural and Mechanical College, Davidson and Wofford; these in addition to the Trinity delegates. To-night Dr. E. Lull, veterinary surgeon, was shot and wounded in a most unusual manner. He was standing on the sidewalk in front of the drug store when a passing street car ran over a 28-calibre pistol cartridge, and this exploded. The ball entered the side of the face, just under the jaw bone. It is not thought that the wound is of a very serious nature, but it is impossible to tell at this time. The cartridge was evidently placed on the track.

HELD WITNESSES IN $1,000 BAIL.

Samuel Bell and George Flood Arrested in Connection With Murder of Staten Island Physician.

New York, Feb. 2.—Samuel Bell and George Flood were arrested to-day and held by Coroner Cahill in $1,000 bail as witnesses in connection with the murder of Dr. Charles W. Townsend, who was shot and mortally wounded at his home in New Brighton, Staten Island, a week ago. Bell is a step-brother of John Bell, the street conductor who is held without bail, in the case, and Flood is a friend of Samuel Bell. The arrests to-day were due, the police say, to their having found two revolvers at the Bell home in Brooklyn. On their first visit, they say, the pistols were not discovered, but on a second search they found them concealed in a closet. Coroner Cahill said to-day that Samuel Bell admitted that he had removed the revolvers from a bureau drawer on the day Dr. Townsend was murdered and took them back to his own home. Both men, the coroner said, denied having cleaned or put fresh cartridges in the revolvers, which the police declare were fully loaded and bore evidence of a recent cleaning when they found them.

DURHAM COURT ENDS.

G. W. Vickers Wins Verdict of $642.50 in Suit for $1,000 Against Durham & South Carolina.

Special to The Observer. Durham, Feb. 2.—The two weeks' term of Durham Superior Court came to an end yesterday and Judge Justice left on the afternoon train for Greensboro. The case of G. W. Vickers against the Durham & South Carolina Road also came to an end. The jury gave the plaintiff a verdict for $642.50. He asked for $1,000. This was the litigation that grew out of a forest fire and it was claimed by one side that the fire started from the railroad engine and by the other that it was started by a blockaded still. The jury allowed Vickers $15 per acre for thirty-two acres burned over, and also allowed him $2.50 per cord for 65 cords of wood on the place. An appeal has been taken to the Supreme Court.

Treasurer Removed for Using Public Money for Private Uses.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 2.—Judge Scott of the Henrico County Circuit Court to-day entered an order providing for the removal of Henry C. Hechler from the office of treasurer of the county for using public money for private purposes. At the request of Treasurer Hechler's counsel a writ of habeas corpus was granted to allow the preparation of papers leading to an appeal. Hechler's term expires Jan. 1, 1908.

BETTER SCHEDULES MADE.

The Southern Railway Will Put on New Train From Greensboro to Goldsboro, Protecting the Connection With the Coast Line at Selma—What the Change Means.

The following interesting announcement has been made by the Southern Railway:

That, effective February 10, new passenger trains will be inaugurated daily between Greensboro and Goldsboro, leaving Greensboro at 10:00 a. m., arrive at Goldsboro at 2:00 p. m., returning leave Goldsboro at 4:30 p. m., arrive at Greensboro at 8:30 p. m. "Train No. 126 will leave Greensboro at 2:30 p. m., instead of 2:30 p. m., arriving at Goldsboro at 2:30 p. m., instead of 1:30 p. m. These trains to leave their terminals on time each day."

On the 6th of January there was a general change of schedules on the Southern Railway and the running time of all the trains was lengthened. In this shake up the connection with the Atlantic Coast Line at Selma was broken. The corporation commission served notice on the Southern Railway that the Selma connection would have to be protected. In a spirit of fairness to all concerned the Southern suggested the foregoing arrangement, which met the approval of the commissioners, and all pending suits and penalties were withdrawn.

The new trains and the change in the schedule of No. 126 should give a splendid service between Greensboro and Goldsboro, and protecting the connection at Selma in either direction, making close connection at Goldsboro for Wilmington. Train No. 44, leaving Charlotte at 5 a. m., connects with the new train at Greensboro. The new train leaving Goldsboro at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon connects at Greensboro with Train No. 34 for all points North and with the new train recently put on for Winston-Salem.

MRS. JACOB H. GALLINGER DEAD.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Jacob H. Gallinger, wife of Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, was taken ill in the Belasco Theatre to-night and died shortly afterward. Senator Gallinger, his wife and four friends went to the theatre to-night as the guests of the Belasco Theatre. Mrs. Gallinger entered the building when Mrs. Gallinger swooned and it at once became evident that she was very ill. Dr. A. S. Rowan, of Baltimore, who happened to be near, attended her. While waiting for the ambulance of the Emergency Hospital, where Dr. Rowan advised that she was to be taken, Mrs. Gallinger expired. Death was due to angina pectoris. The body will be taken to her late home in New Hampshire tomorrow afternoon.

As the stricken woman was being removed to the lobby of the theatre, Mrs. Roosevelt, Associate Justice Moody and others forming a box party, came through the private entrance. It was not until some time afterward that Mrs. Roosevelt was advised of Mrs. Gallinger's demise and she was greatly shocked.

THE VOICE OF THE WIND.

The night is cold; within my close-shut room The fire burns low—the chimney rumbles loud In answer to the sullen roaring of the wind That with untried strength now hastens on To scourge the empty regions of the upper air. And as it sweeps along a myriad voices sound In blended wailing, as of bitter woe, With sob and sigh, and moan, and stifled screams of spirits damned that ride upon the gale In endless expiation of their crimes. But now the sullen roaring ceases, and With fenshish yells and shrieks that rend the night Gropes the demons of the upper air; Madly they thunder, howling far above, Shrieking, raving, battling to and fro, With frightful strength that rends and tears the clouds. Until the firm earth trembles far below, And a vague shudder thrills the lower air. Then, hurdling downward in their furious war, In fight, more swift than thought, they rage near by; The stout oaks reel and twist, while in their tops Demoniac voices shrill yell through the night. They fling a thousand hideous curses forth; They chill my heart; stout branches crack, and yield, And whirl aloft as mighty war-clubbs gripped, And brandished high by awful demon hands. Still down the evil spirits whirl, until, In frenzied wrath they beat upon the walls, the roof and shake the fast-closed blinds; The building quivers, and I start in fear. As ghostly fingers rattle at the door, And voices whisper low, and sob, and sigh Within the dark recesses of my room, While others groan without, or loudly Beneath the eaves, to rob me of my peace. But hark! the mourning voices cease—away! They sweep in one wild ecstasy of grief, The babel echoes in the wintry sky—Once more the wind roars sullen, far above. —Q. S. MILLS.
