

FAILS HER TO FORTUNE.

James E. Fitzgerald Located in Asheville and Notified of His Good Luck — An Interesting History. Special to The Observer. Asheville, March 13.—A dispatch received here late yesterday afternoon from Pittsburg, Pa., stated that the police of Pittsburg were endeavoring to locate a man named James E. Fitzgerald, who had fallen heir to $20,000. It was stated that Mr. Fitzgerald was the son of the late James K. Fitzgerald, of Harrisburg, and that by his death and that of an uncle, David McDonald, former chief of the Pennsylvania railroad detectives, the much sought-for man had fallen heir to $20,000. The dispatch further stated that when last heard from James E. Fitzgerald was in Asheville, but that letters addressed to him here had received no reply. The Observer's correspondent with the aid of the postoffice employees located Mr. Fitzgerald on the yards of the Southern Railway where he is employed as machinist. A few questions satisfied your correspondent that the man was the same sought by the Pittsburg police and he was shown a dispatch telling of his good fortune. Mr. Fitzgerald, a man probably 40 years of age, and wearing his every-day work clothes, read the dispatch carefully and then without any show of excitement but not expecting any of my folks to leave me $20,000. I am not excited about it a little bit. If it is all true I am simply $20,000 ahead; if there is nothing in it, I have not lost anything." Mr. Fitzgerald handed the reporter the dispatch and in a general sort of way told his family history. He said that his uncle, David McDonald, had thought a lot of him when Fitzgerald was a little fellow. "It has been many years since I last saw my uncle, though," continued the man. "It is all news to me that he died wealthy." Mr. Fitzgerald asked what course he should pursue to ascertain if the alleged facts contained in the dispatch were true. It was suggested that he communicate with the police of Pittsburg. He pondered upon the suggestion and a letter to the Pittsburg authorities. He said it was hard for him to believe that he had fallen heir to $20,000, and that he didn't propose to get worked up over the affair. Mr. Fitzgerald has been in and out of Asheville for several years recently. He returned from Chattanooga, where he worked as a mechanic.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM FLAMES.

Virtue of Asbestos as Fire-Preventing and its Incombustibility Promingly Demonstrated. Special to The Observer. Chapel Hill, March 13.—The fire in the fireplace of a room on the second floor of the D. K. E. fraternity hall on the campus rolled out on the floor about noon yesterday while all of the occupants of the house were out and started a blaze which came near proving serious. When discovered it had burned through the floor and already charred through the ceiling of the room beneath. Asbestos padding between the floor and ceiling and the prompt action of a bucket brigade prevented the flames from spreading, but not before all of the furnishings of the room had been ruined by smoke. The room below was much damaged by water, but all damage to the building is fully covered by insurance. Had the fire not been gotten under control, the result would have probably been disastrous. Not only would the D. K. E. house have been destroyed, but the old S. A. E. hall, the new S. A. E. hall and the Sigma Nu hall would have been certain to while the Beta Theta Pi hall, the infirmary and the new library would have been in great danger.

RALEIGH AND REV. MR. DURHAM

The Charlotte Minister Did Not Do Himself Any Harm. "You people down here ought to be proud of the Rev. Plato Durham," the Charlotte minister who was forced to explain a sermon to a lot of politicians," said a man from Raleigh yesterday. "The proceeding was so remarkable that it has aroused the utmost indignation, but the minister comes out unscathed and with honor." It was in the Attorney General's office when he was testifying, and I have seen many witnesses on the stand, but none who displayed more courage or finer qualities of the real man. The expressions heard everywhere show that the best element in North Carolina is with him and is strongly opposed to the methods employed to humiliate him. But the latter did not succeed, and Mr. Durham's appearance made those who had instigated the farce heartily sick that they had ever jumped into it. By his splendid conduct Mr. Durham not only retains the admiration of his friends, but has the respect of thousands who have never seen him. The thing is over now, but the investigators would give a great deal to have kept him off the witness stand."

Special to The Observer. Spartanburg, S. C., March 13.—If P. Johnson, formerly of Columbia, N. Y., but more recently of this city, who died here several days ago, left valuable property in this city, Florida and New York State, in all valued at $200,000. His will has been probated here and most of his property goes to his wife, though he left the sum of $1,000 each to thirteen relatives, $50,000 to the Board of Missions of the Northern Methodist Church, $1,000 to the Methodist church of Columbia, N. Y., and $5,000 to his friend Harvey De Baum, who with Mrs. Johnson was named as executor of the will. Mr. Johnson came to Spartanburg several years ago and made considerable money here speculating in real estate. His property here will be sold and at auction and the proceeds from said property amount to $150,000.

Negro Convict Drowned While Making a Break For Liberty.

Special to The Observer. Wilmington, March 13.—While making a break for liberty this morning at the State camp at the edge of this city, a negro convict is supposed to have met a watery grave. His broke for liberty and made for a creek near by. He was tried upon but, apparently uninjured, reached the water, plunged in and struck out for the opposite shore. When mid-stream he sank and it is supposed that he was wounded and was overcome while swimming. The creek was surrounded in order to prevent the success of a possible trick by the convict, but the negro did not come to the surface again. The body is now being searched for.

FOUND AT LAST.

J. A. Harmon, of Lenoire, West Va. says: "At last I have found the perfect remedy for my cough, cold, and for the best of me afflicted with colds, croup, and chronic bronchitis, will cure. Do Witt's Little Lizard Cough Cure, which is now being searched for."

HIGH POINT NEWS BUDGET.

Mr. Willis B. Dowd a Visitor—Impressive Dedication Service—Personal Mention. Special to The Observer. High Point, March 13.—One of the strikingly impressive things in connection with the impressive dedication service of the First Presbyterian church here Sunday, when Rev. Dr. W. W. Moore, of Union Seminary, preached, was the effect of the discourse upon the people, regardless of faith and denomination. One young man residing in High Point and supporting a widowed mother and a sister, called on Dr. Moore at the conclusion of his sermon and asked that he be allowed to contribute $100, payable May 1st, in order that the sermon just delivered might be printed and thus put into permanent form for general distribution. Dr. Moore is seriously considering the matter from the viewpoint of the earner, man, who has by no means alone in the estimate formed and so expressed.

Mr. Will Tate will soon move to Colorado for permanent residence. A committee from the furniture manufacturers of High Point have gone to Washington to appear before the Senate Commerce Commission in regard to rates. Mr. Stephen Fulford, a native of Randolph county, died yesterday afternoon in Newbern at the age of about 60 years.

Alonzo York, a young white laborer engaged in work on the First National Bank building in High Point, suffered injuries by a fall of several feet from a scaffold gangway. Phons Hainey, a white man, 40 years old, was recaptured by officers here yesterday and was confined in the care of his brother pending admission to the State Hospital for the Insane. The man was not violent or dangerous, but had become deranged over the state of his soul and had fears for the safety of his children, which seemed to pray upon his mind unceasingly.

High Point is soon to have an Odeon or Grand Opera House, which will be a novelty of the people here. Willis B. Dowd, of New York, who is here to represent the Carnegie Trust Company, with the First National Bank, spent last night in the city, the first visit in High Point in 25 years. Mr. Dowd is greatly impressed with all the changes which proceed in fact that only one landmark is in much evidence, that being the old Jarrell Hotel. It was in High Point that Mr. Dowd saw his first railway locomotive, when his father, the late Maj. C. Dowd was en route to Charlotte from Columbia, S. C. on the Seaboard over the old plank road from the last named point to this town.

Mr. Dowd says the people of the North are getting more and more unimpressed over the climate of the immediate section of the State. He refers also to the great impression made upon the Seaboard by the people who are at-day at work on the now of things and not living on and by traditions.

GOES TO THE SEABOARD.

Capt. R. I. Cheatham, for Years Traffic Manager of the Durham & Southern, at Durham, Becomes Assistant General Freight Agent at Norfolk. Special to The Observer. Durham, March 13.—Capt. R. I. Cheatham, who has been traffic manager for the Durham & Southern road for some time, is to leave here about the first of next month, having accepted the position of assistant general freight agent for the Seaboard Air Line system, with headquarters in Norfolk. It was rumored here yesterday and last night that Capt. Cheatham had accepted a high position in the service of the Seaboard road, but he could not be seen. This afternoon, however, he was seen by your correspondent and verified the rumor that he was to leave Durham. Capt. Cheatham has long been in the railroad service. Years ago he was local agent for the Seaboard in this city, was promoted in the service of that company and went to Atlanta as one of the assistant general freight agents of a division or section, later resigned this position to take the position of traffic manager of the Durham & Southern, which position he has held since that road began to operate trains. The fact that he is to go back into the employ of the Seaboard road is no surprise, as he is a very fine railroad man and has been in the service of that company most of the time for many years. It is not stated who will take his place as traffic manager for the Durham & Southern in this city.

FIRE BUGS AT WORK?

Barns and Residences Destroyed in Spartanburg County. Special to The Observer. Spartanburg, S. C., March 13.—During the past few weeks there has been a number of serious fires in this county, destroying barns and residences, and resulting in the loss of $2,500,000 and much property. In several instances the fires resulted from accidents, but in the majority of the fires that have occurred the origin is unknown and many people are of the opinion that fire bugs are at work. Monday the residence of Elias B. Balenger, who lives several miles from Spartanburg, was destroyed by fire, together with all his household effects. The fire occurred while the members of the family were on a visit to friends. No fire was left in any of the rooms of the house and the cause of the fire is unknown. During the last few weeks no less than six barns in various portions of the county, have been burned and in almost every instance horses, mules and cows have perished in the flames. All of the fires occurred during the night and the farmers are at loss to explain the cause of the large number of disastrous fires.

Mrs. Burton Smith Lectures.

Special to The Observer. Spartanburg, S. C., March 13.—Mrs. Burton Smith, of Atlanta, Ga., daughter of the late General John H. Gordon, has begun a series of lectures at the State Normal College on the subject of household economies. There is no better authority on this subject, for she has given extensive thought to the question and has written and lectured on the subject a great deal. The lectures were opened at the College Wednesday, March 13, and will close Friday. Each lecture will be attended by large crowds from the city.

INSTALLS NEW DEPARTMENT.

Southern Establishes a Bureau of Instruction in Its Spencer Shops—Mention. Special to The Observer. Spencer, March 13.—The Southern Railway Company this week installed at Spencer an instruction department which is entirely new in the South, there being only one instruction department in the United States. The institution is in the nature of a school in which will be taught mathematics, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, mechanical drawing and other kindred subjects. The work is in charge of Prof. W. E. McEldowney, of the faculty of the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Penn., who is employed by the Southern at this place. Instruction in the various branches is intended especially for the apprentices in the service of the Southern and will be given without cost to the men, all of whom are allowed time each day from their regular duties to take the studies and are also allowed full pay for their time. The Southern is now having erected an instruction room 40 by 75 feet as a home for the school. It is believed the enrollment will be very large, all appear anxious to avail themselves of the liberal offer made by their employers to attend school at the expense of the company. The courses of study are complete in every respect and upon the completion of the course the branches diploma will be awarded upon standing a successful examination. It is the purpose of the Southern Railway Company to establish a similar institution in every shop on the system for the benefit of apprentices. After the organization at Spencer is placed in effect, the first class of apprentices will be graduated by Prof. McEldowney who will go to other points on the system to inaugurate the line of studies being taught here.

The movement is something new in the railroad world and its development and adaptability to the needs of the employer, who wish to improve their time and become proficient in all mechanical lines will be watched with interest. The movement at Spencer is receiving the hearty approval and support of Master Mechanic F. P. Roesch, Superintendent E. C. Sasser, and all other officials. Although an entirely new thing such work have already enrolled for regular work.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1510.—Fernando Cortez, having taken possession of the Indian town of Tabasco on the day of his landing in the country of Mexico, now marched out with his troops to a plain, where he was attacked by an immense body of Indians, armed with bows and arrows, his soldiers at the point of discharge of their weapons. The Spanish artillery did great execution, but when the cavalry came to the charge, the Indians imagining the horses and riders to be one, were extremely terrified and fled to the woods and marshes, leaving the field and the spoils to the victors. DEBILITY.

Many people who talk to me say: "I feel half sick all the time; I don't just know what the matter with me." This is general debility. It's very common. People who get in this shape have my sympathy. They aren't sick enough for bed, so they drag around and their families get exasperated with them. There are two causes for this condition, bad habits and a weak stomach. By bad habits I mean eating irregularly and too fast and not chewing the food thoroughly. The stomach gives out and loss of appetite, biliousness, constipation and general debility result. First get the stomach in shape and then be more careful in the future, and the worn out, dependent, half-sick feeling will be a thing of the past. Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will put the stomach in shape. Common sense will do the rest. There are fifty thousand people in this country who know this to be true, because they've tried it. Here's a letter from one of them: "I was all run down from over-work, lost ambition and energy and could not sleep. It was difficult for me to attend to my work owing to that tired out feeling. I secured that bottle of the New Discovery medicine and determined to try it. The result delighted me, for renewed strength and vigor and energy came with the first few doses. Its effect was different from anything I had ever taken. I finished the two bottles now and feel well and strong again." E. McDade, 339 Dix Ave., Detroit, Mich.
