WARRING FACTIONS DISCIPLINED Fight in First Baptist Church at Wilmington—Terms of the Settle ment—Eastern Truck and Fruit Growers Disappointed Over Failure of Legislature to Pass Certain Measures—Meeting of the Hinernian Benevolent Society—Society Folks at Airlie—Turpentine Ruling High—Interesting in Forthcoming Y. M. C. A. Convention.

Fred D. Hale, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, white, leading to the report, which was adopted, all members of the warring faction, who were disciplined are returned to church membership; Rev. J. H. Rhoe, the pastor, is to resign, effective in three months, and thirty or more indictments against recalcitrants for indictments against recalcitrants for disturbing religious worship a few Sundays ago are to be withdrawn. Meantime pustor and members are en-joined from discussing past differences and they are to dwell together in peace and unity during the remaining three months of Rev. Rhoe's pastorate. The disturbing of religious worship charges against thirty-odd of the recalcitrants grew out of their occupation of the church in February and drowning out the words of the paster with song when he attempted to open the services at the appointed hour. The colored people involved are among the most prominent in the city and the church property owned and in contro-versy is valued at something like $25,-000. The opposition to the pastor grew out of a charge in the courts against him of improper relations with a female member of his flock. He was acquitted, however, of the
