Young Jay Gould, it is expected, will win the amateur court tennis championship now being contested in London. His playing thus far has shown him to be in a class by himself since Eustance affles decided not to defend his title.

A degree of international interest has been aroused in puglism since the arrival at San Francisco of the Australian champion heavyweight, William Squires, who comes to these shores with the highest reputation as a boxer of class. A mericans have not forgotten the other great fighters who came from the Anti-fedes and made their way against this country's best, and are inclined to take Squires as the only man in sight capable of giving battle to Champion Jeffries. Squires must first show his worth, however, and as an carnest of bis desire to do so, he has posted a large forfeit at Los Angeles to meet the winner of the Jack O'Brien-Tommy Burns contest scheduled to take place in that city May 28. Should be defeat the winner of that match the Australian champion will ask Champion Jeffries to give him battle and thus will occur a real international ring contest in which there is always intense interest.

The next big stake event of the Eastern horse racing season will be the Metropolitan handicap, to be run May 3 at Belmont Park. Twenty-seven horses, a majority of them gold performers, are entered. Accountant is best thought of by the handicapper, who has allotted him top weight, 125 pounds. The Picket is 10 pounds better off, and Water Tight has still one pound less to carry. Grapple, Pulsus, Brookdale Nymph, Kuroki, Jacquin, Cressina and Zambes are among the entries.
