WHO WOULD A HERO BE?

The Governor of South Carolina Receives Unusual Request From a Western State—If the Applicant Cannot Induce the State to Give Him a Medal He Will Coin One for

Observer Bureau,

1209 Main Street, Columbia, S. C., May 12. The Governor's office is constantly receiving freak requests, suggestions and letters and communications of various kinds. One day a cripple writes to know if he may not do a blind tiger business on the quiet for a nominal license fee, which he offers to pay on the installment plan, and the next an anxious mother pleads with the Governor to help her regulate her wayward son or control her drunken husband. The newest freak request is that which has come in a lengthy letter from a Western State, giving minute details of how at Elmyra prison, New York, in the winter of 1865-66 he saved the life of "a fellow prisoner named Lyons from Charleston" by building a fire ful in the selection of the guard to to keep him from freezing. The sign-carry out the order; some think that er of the letter says his full name is Laurence Decatur Davis, which he wants engraved on a medal he wishes the Governor to have the Legislature give him. The heroic part of his stunt in saving Lyons comes in the alleged fact that he carried fire a great distance at the risk of being shot down by a sentry. This interesting self-discovered hero says he had made arrangements to present him-self with a mdal, "for which a brotawhen he sees a breach of discipline Oregon a 35 gold nugget to go into he is accustomed to check it forthwith it." when "the happy thought preand on the very spot. er had sent him $5 in gold and son in the South Carolina Legislature present him with a medal." *
Fearing that his letter might be referred to the Carnegie hero commission he mentions the fact that Senator Tillman has presented his claim to that body with the result that the board replied that it did not recognize heroes originating prior to the creation of the board. Mr. Davis says he is a brother of Col. C. T. N. Davis. of the Sixteenth North Carolina Reg-iment, who was killed before Richmond and who was a law partner of Zeb Vance.

nxious to Communicate With Rela-tives of James Overstreet, Who Represented York District, S. C., in the Seventeenth Congress.

Gaffney, S. C., May 12 .- Col. T. B. Butler informed your correspondent that on his return from Jamestown he met on the train a gentleman named Thomas, who resides at China Grove, N. C.; that Mr. Thomas informed him that about two years ago the good ladies of his neighborhood decided to clear off an old disused graveyard; that during the progress of the work they uncovered an old marble slab which disclosed the fact that it had been erected to the memory of Congressman James Overstreet, of York district, S. C. Mr. Overstreet was a member of the Seventeenth Congress and had died while on his way from the national while on his way from the national capital to his home in York county, he never heard of this Congressman he never heard of this Congressman before, and the Seventeenth Congress must have held its session about 80 years ago. The ladies of the China Grove section are anxious to communicate with some of the relatives of the dead Congressman, and should this be seen by any of them they can get full information by writing to Mr. Thomas, China Grove, N. C.

Mr. D. Sam Cox, Manager of Agents. Columbia, S.C.

Bear Sir:-

I have your request for a statement as to the regard in which I hold the State Life Insurance Company. You are aware of the fact that I have held a policy in this Company for a number of years and have always regarded it as being an excellent contract in many ways.

In March, of this year, I visited the Home Office of the Company. as well as the Auditor of State of Indiana, in whose office the securities of the State Life Insurance Company are held. I investigated the quality of these securities and also made considerable investigation, of the affairs of the Company as shown and operated in their office, an it gives me pleasure to state that I found the affairs of every department in such shape as to cause me to congratulate myself on having a policy in the State Life Insurance Company.

I regard with special favor the law of Indiana, It limits the investments of Indiana Companies to the very best quality of escurities, and requires the deposit of these securities with the Auditor of State for the protection of all policy holders.

Yours very truly,

Borleth

The above letter doesn't need much explanation. It just means that each year a committee composed of the best business men in North Caroline makes an examination of the affairs of the State Life, and then tells you about its affairs and management. Doesn't the plan appeal to you'l
