RELIEF FROM RHEUMATIC PAINS.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Roland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain-Expeller. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by W. L. Hand & Co.

Cheap Life Insurance.

A few days ago a train going over the mountains on the Pennsylvania Railroad met with a accident, derailling some of the cars. The cars ran down a steep bank, rolled over and landed at the brink of a stream, but not a passenger was killed. Suppose the rolling stock had been cheap? In time of storm at sea, how would you like to hear how cheap were the anchor, the cable, the life-boats, and all that goes to give security and safety in time of storm? Would you not willingly pay more to travel on a line where you knew no expense was spared to make them safe and secure; to be sure they would float in seas and weather that would sink other than the strongest ships? What would it be worth to you and your family at home to feel that the vessel on which you sailed was the strongest in the world? For commercial purposes only, our railroads and steamships spare no expense to get the best material giving the utmost security. Life insurance ought to be the last thing in the world in which cheapness is considered at the expense of security, liberality and certainty of payment. Insurance is to make sure. Uncertain life insurance is a contradiction of terms. It would be wiser almost to trust a life preserver that would sink instead of support you. It is the sheet anchor that is intended to hold in every storm. Ought there to be any uncertainty about this, whatever else one may have to buy cheap?

The test of your life insurance will come either after your death, too late to correct any mistake, and will fall not upon you, but upon your innocent wife and children; or upon you in your old age when you can no longer remedy the mistake of youth. No company in the world offers greater certainty of payment than the Equitable. This is the first consideration in life insurance. No company can furnish safer life insurance at a permanently lower cost than the Equitable.
