Average condition May 17, 1917, 66.3.
Average condition June 19, 1917, 69.2.

The figures show, as will be noticed, an average improvement of 2.9 points in condition since the 17th of May, but the average condition is still the lowest on record. There has been a very serious decline in the condition of the crop in North Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Indian Territory and Oklahoma. This is largely attributed to the abnormally low and unseasonable temperature which has prevailed in these States during most of the month of June, the temperature having been an average of nearly 18 degrees below the normal. An abandonment of 4.7 per cent. in the acreage contemplated a month ago is reported, this abandonment being largely due to the inability of the planters to get the seed and labor necessary by the sodden condition of the fields after the heavy rains. The total indicated acreage is now 30,418,000 acres.

Throughout the entire area the crop has had to be replanted an average of 1.3 times and, in consequence of this and the low temperatures, it is reported to be an average of 24 days late. The outlook as disclosed by these replies is certainly grave in the most serious degree. With a continuation of low temperatures or rain, the world would be confronted with practically a complete failure. If, on the other hand, a prolonged spell of high temperatures should set in, the practical incineration of a feeble and succulent plant would result, as it is the general complaint that the development of the tap root is so imperfect as to leave the crop absolutely without any means of self-protection against drought.

A Dog's Faithfulness.

Adair County News.

The faithfulness of a dog has been demonstrated in this town. Last Saturday Silas Cain, who lives near Glenville, was in Columbia, his shepherd dog being with him. In the afternoon Mr. Cain went into T. E. Paul's drug store, leaving his dog on the outside. After transacting some business Mr. Cain left the store, but his faithful canine did not notice him. The dog waited patiently lying upon the doorstep, and when Mr. Paul closed his store at bedtime he had not moved.

Sunday morning he was still watching, and continued to watch during the whole of Sunday and all Sunday night and up to 10 o'clock Monday, when Mr. Cain returned. There is no way to express the joy manifested by the dog when he saw his master.

COTTON

New York, June 24.—Herewith I submit my usual monthly crop report, which is compiled from replies of an average date of June 19. The questions submitted to my correspondents were as follows:

"Expressed in percentage, what is the present condition of the cotton crop in your section, assuming 100 percent to be the standard of normal or reasonably perfect development at this season? What percentage of the acreage in cotton or under contemplation for cotton on May 25th has since been abandoned? Taking into account the abandoned acreage, what is, in your opinion, the percentage of the acreage actually planted in your section, as compared with the normal?"
