

UNIVERSITY.

College Night was observed Monday night in Gerard Hall. Mr. W. Stacey, president and in a graceful speech explained that the meeting had been called for the purpose of introducing to the new students the different phases of university life...

The University Dramatic Club met Tuesday night for the first time of the year. The club decided to present a play either late this fall or early next spring. The play to be selected is "The Merchant of Venice"...

Therefore, Be it resolved by the students of the University of North Carolina in body that the following resolutions be sent to his family and to the States News, to the Tar Heel and to the States papers, and that a copy be written in minutes of the minutes of the Union of the University of North Carolina...

The officers elected by the second year medical class at its meeting last week are: W. H. Moore, president; J. M. Harper, vice president; H. H. Ficus, secretary and treasurer; C. E. Gold, coroner; N. L. Linn, chaplain.

Coach Larson lost time in getting to work and has a good squad of candidates for the Varsity and scrub football teams hard at work. There are a good number of men out and although the majority of them are lighter than might be desired, they are working hard and will no doubt develop into fast and steady team. Some of last year's men who are back are McNeill, Davis, Mann, Stratton, Thompson, Williams and Manning. With these and some of the new men and last year's scrubs Carolina ought to get a good team.

As for the practice has been confined to punting, passing and falling on the ball. Interference running, etc. Coach Larson has taken his special attention to the coaching of the linemen and a good strong line from him may be looked for.

The coaching force this season is especially strong and efficient. Coach Larson is ably assisted by Coach Simmons, T. J. Robertson and Jacobs, the old star quarter back.

WAKE FOREST.

Wake Forest, Sept. 21.—This has been a week of "hoop-fugging," excessive kindness toward another, unusual politeness toward the other fellow, in college slang, one of much "legging." Every other man you meet is out for office, either in his society or his class. Start across the campus and you will see some dignified person walk up to another classmate who is as stiff as a stick, and placing his arm about his neck in the most affectionate manner, propose that they go down street and have cigars.

Over in another corner of the campus stand a bunch of sophomores, with their trousers rolled half way up their shanks, one hose blue and the other a bright red; baggy trousers and long-tailed coats with stripes a half inch wide and hats with long brims. They are talking politics, too, but with a careless air that is refreshing after the stiffness of the seniors.

Even the poor little freshman, with covert blances and trembling voice, lets it become a plea for some office. The senior class met Tuesday and elected the following men: H. H. McMillon, president; J. E. Ray, vice president; Preston Stringfield, secretary; W. W. Gay, treasurer; R. McMillan, poet; W. H. Higgins, prophet; J. S. Martin, historian.

The sophomore class met Thursday afternoon and had elected its president, when the news was received that the freshmen were holding their meeting in Dr. Sledge's class room with a high attendance. They were rushing out to look after troublesome "newish."

Wednesday night Rev. J. C. Owen, an alumnus of Wake Forest, and now a teacher and missionary in China, spoke of the missionary work in China. He spoke of the pleasure that he felt in visiting his old home, the college, after an absence of eight years. In the course of his talk he told of the work that is being accomplished now, and of the great need for workers; of the difficulties that confront the missionary to-day and of the struggles that they had to undergo one hundred years ago. He also spoke of the great opportunity that a teacher has in China to-day.

Mr. Owen's talk was most interesting and instructive and was enjoyed by the large crowd that heard him. The Euzelian and Philomathesian Societies met last Saturday and held their first regular meeting. The anniversary officers of the Euz. Society are: A. Patterson, chairman; J. H. Ray, Ferdinand, first and M. Broughton, Jr., second marshal.

ELON.

Elon, College, Sept. 21.—The new students continue to arrive daily and the total enrollment is now close to the 20 mark and within two weeks will reach the total enrollment for the coming year, 212 students. These students represent 22 States, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Pennsylvania and Maryland, and three countries, United States, Spain and Cuba. The majority of them, however, came from Virginia and North Carolina.

Mr. J. J. Newman, of the chair of Greek and Biblical literature, who spent last year on the faculty of Wake University, pursuing special studies in his department, has returned to the college and will begin his duties on Monday. Newman has always been a strong man and his year's work at Yale rendered him even more so. His many friends will be glad to know that his health is considerably improved. Prof. W. P. Lawrence, of the chair of English language and literature, who spent the summer of 1907 in Europe, returned to the college on Monday. Professor Lawrence is a Ph. B. graduate of Elon College, in the class of 1894, and a M. A. graduate of Yale University, in the class of 1897.

Mr. R. A. Campbell, of Dayton, Va., has just arrived on the hill, and has begun the organizing of a college band. Mr. Campbell is a very gifted musician, playing with success all of the instruments in a band and having had several years' experience as leader of a band. He is especially skilled in playing the cornet, and has the reputation of being the best cornetist in Rockingham county. He is a music lover and cornet player. Mr. Campbell will also give instruction in stringed instruments to those who may desire it.

A press association has been organized at the college with Professors Harper, Wickens, Robertson and Tucker as faculty and about fifty students as special correspondents to the daily and county papers. The purpose of this association is to furnish to the daily and county papers going to the homes represented by the student body the news of general interest in the college.

The interest in athletics continues to grow. The young ladies' gymnasium will soon be completed and Miss Heintzstein will then begin the work of the club. The new athletic park for the young men is well under way and will be ready when the first term opens next spring. By far the most interesting contest of the fall term was the game of baseball between the faculty and the members of the junior and senior classes to-day.

The Methodist will begin a protracted meeting here Sunday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 p. m., by Rev. A. S. Raper. The services will be held in the Reformed church and will continue throughout the week.

The Y. M. C. A. has begun its work with over one hundred members. The officers for the year have been elected as follows: J. H. Joyner, president; C. C. Winship and F. G. Hamner, vice presidents; O. W. Sawyer and E. M. Smith, secretaries; C. P. Quincey, treasurer; H. J. Langston, organist. The meetings will be well attended, and the association is a great power for good here among the young men.

Mr. James D. Oldham, who opened a new boarding house here this fall, has now fifty boarders, and several others have written to enquire rooms with him. His place is proving to be a great success. The room has been needed here for several terms to meet the demands of students.

Both the Athenian and the Dialactic Society have entered the year with splendid prospects. They have each a large membership, and are at a record for vigor in their work. Their halls are handsome and well equipped with the best opera chairs, and they are in every way well prepared to do credit to the college.

Mr. W. T. Whitsett and Miss Little Brewer are in Winston-Salem this week to attend the marriage of Miss Mollie

TRINITY.

Brewer to Mr. E. C. Enosh, of the E. J. Reynolds Company. The first lot of new books arrived last week for the library. New books are ordered from time to time, and this is the first lot for the present school year.

The boys have been on the athletic field almost every afternoon lately, and while it is still rather warm for football the school has been taking decided interest in the game.

Little Miss Rowena Brown, of Virginia Beach, Va., who has been visiting Miss Edie Wharton since her return from the Jamestown Exposition, returned to her home last week. Mr. Henry Vanghisen, a graduate of the college, spent a few days here on his return from a trip to the western part of the State. Mr. S. Greene, of Hertford county, is spending some days here visiting friends. He is a former student.

A new boarding hall is now in course of erection and will be completed by October 15th. This will accommodate twenty more students, and the outlook is that it will be filled up as it is ready to be occupied. New classes are organized and a new teacher added to the faculty at this date to meet the demand from those who must enter school late or not at all.

There are now forty students in the building for the present school year. The teachers are giving all or a part of their time to this work. These forty are taking book-keeping, shorthand and typewriting. The weather has been unusually dry in all this section of the State for some time, and the crops are in a critical condition. The surrounding farmers are busy gathering the crops and preparing for the fall work.

Horner School. Oxford, Sept. 21.—The battalion of cadets at the Horner Military School are to be held in camp at the Horner Exposition some time during the last of October. It is safe to say that every cadet would enjoy visiting the Exposition in person.

The athletic association has been reorganized with H. M. Stubbs as president. The following are the members of the association: H. M. Stubbs, president; J. C. Wooten, secretary; L. J. Carter, treasurer; "The College Press," A. W. Horton, "The Hive," W. M. E. O'Farlan, "The Progress," and last of all, Rev. E. R. Leyburn, of the First Presbyterian church, of Durham, spoke in behalf of the city churches, extending to all the new students a cordial invitation to membership in the community.

Preparations are being made for the preliminary of the first of a series of three debates on the subject of the University, Nashville, Tenn., which, in all probability, will come off some time in December, most likely near the middle of the month. At the first regular meeting of the Debate Council, through the hands of all matters that are to be debated, the arrangements were made for the preliminary to take place October 26th. As soon as it is ascertained who wish to participate in the contest, the council will meet again and perfect the arrangements for the contest.

At this time it cannot be said where the contest will take place, but it is the consensus of opinion of the council that it will be held in Nashville as the first one was held in Nashville, and the second one took place in Durham. The question of the place of the third, however, will be settled soon, and final arrangements for the contest will be made. At the first regular meeting of the Columbian and Hesperian Literary Societies held last Saturday evening in their halls representatives of the two societies were elected to serve on a committee to select the subject of the following men were elected: From the Hesperian, Messrs. A. D. Wiseburg, of Durham, and A. W. Horton, of West Durham; from the Columbian, Messrs. F. S. Love, of Monroe; and E. W. Knight, of Rich Square. From the Hesperian, Messrs. W. K. Boyd and A. C. McIntosh are the faculty representatives of the council.

At the last meeting of the board of trustees an athletic council was created the purpose of which is to have charge of the matters of athletics to be composed of three members of the faculty, four local alumni, and a representative from each class to be appointed by the class. The representatives from the faculty are: Professors W. P. New, R. H. Flowers and C. Wooten; from the alumni; W. W. Flowers, Angier B. Duke, Dr. A. Cheatham and J. E. Pogram. At the recent meeting of the classes elections took place with the following results: From the freshmen, Messrs. T. S. Sutter, sophomores, A. M. Proctor, freshman, C. S. Warren. The council will organize at once and take up its work.

A most enjoyable reception was given the students of Trinity and the Southern Conservatory of Music in the parlors of Trinity Methodist church, Durham, last Tuesday evening 8 to 10:30 o'clock. The attendance was very large and the occasion a most pleasant one. Mr. E. C. Perrow, an A. B. A. M. graduate of Trinity and now a graduate student at Harvard University, is spending some days on the park. Mr. Perrow made an unusually admirable record at Trinity and last year secured a fellowship in the department at Harvard.

Prof. E. C. Brooks, of the department of history and science of education, has purchased a lot on Watts street near the college and will erect a residence on it.

Rev. L. P. Howard, class of 1903, of Edenton, is spending a few days on the park.

Whitsett Institute. Correspondence of The Observer. Whitsett, Sept. 21.—Dr. J. I. Hutchison, one of the professors at Cornell University, who is visiting friends and schools in the South, was here for a few days Wednesday.

Nine new students entered school last week, coming from Beaufort, Alamance, Wayne, Caswell, Northampton and Randolph counties.

The Methodist will begin a protracted meeting here Sunday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 p. m., by Rev. A. S. Raper. The services will be held in the Reformed church and will continue throughout the week.

The Y. M. C. A. has begun its work with over one hundred members. The officers for the year have been elected as follows: J. H. Joyner, president; C. C. Winship and F. G. Hamner, vice presidents; O.
