Judge J. L. Webb, of Shelby, is making good progress with the civil docket here this week. Several cases of peculiar interest have been disposed of. In one, that of R. J. Philips vs. J. J. Little, the plaints was suing to recover the value of a mule and harness he claims to have traded to the defendant when he (the plaintiss) was so drunk that he did not know what he was doing. He claims that Mr. Little got the better of the trade on that account. Witnesses testified both ways, but the jury decided that Mr. Philips would have to stand by the trade he had made, drunk or sober.

Two cases against Mr. T. R. Tomlinson were disposed of. These suits were brought by Mr. C. M. Burns and both were of an unusual nature for this court. Mr. Burns sued Mr.
Tomlinson on two counts. First, he alleges that during the month of February, 1905, Mr. Tomlinson entered alleges that during the month of February, 1905. Mr. Tomlinson entered into a written contract to deliver to him one hundred bales of cotton during the month of the following October, price to be 7.50 a pound. Cotton and suit was soon commenced for the difference, which he alleges to be $1.50. In the second count in the case against Mr. Tomlinson, Mr. Euras alleges that he paid Robert Moore & Co., of New York, $2.950 on a future contract he was carrying with that firm for Mr. Tomlinson during the same year.

In answer to the first count, Mr. Tomlinson almits signing the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends the first delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends the first delive

In answer to the first count, Mr. Tomlinson almits signing the contract for the delivery of the cotton to Mr. Burns but contends that the contract was like any other contract for futures and that the actual delivery of the cotton was not contemplated. He also contends that some time after this writen contract was made he closed it out with Mr. Burns with a small difference in his (Tomlinson's) favor. In regard to the Robert Moore & Co. contract, Mr. Tomlinson claims that Mr. Burns closed it out soon after it was made with a small loss to him (Tomlinson), but not as much as the plaintiff was due him on the other contract. In the first count me jury decided that Mr. Burns was enjury decided that Mr. Burns was en-titled to recover $1,250, and in the second count Judge Webb instructed by Bell Telephone to The Observer.

T. W. Chambliss, Dr. W. J. McLendon, Mayor Brock and Messrs. T. L. Caudle, J. G. Boylin and L. D. Robinson were present.

Mooresville, Oct. 12 .- The board of Thursday night, all members being present except Mr. Culp. Messrs. Z. V. Turlington and J. P.

Talephone Company, appeared before the board and made complaint that the municipal electric light and pow-er plant had damaged their telephone lines by allowing the electric light wires to come in contact with their books over to the tax collector as soon as his bond was approved.

The board of directors of the Merchants and Farmers' Bank met Friday night and Mr. A. W. Colson was elected cashier, Mr. E. W. Brawley having been elected president at a previous meeting.

The question of a location for the bank building was brought before the board and it was decided to purchase the corner lot belonging to Mr. J. C. McLean, where the red-front store now stands. The bank will move the wooden structure on the corner and will erect a handsome and commodious structure for its banking house.

Mount Airy, Oct. 12.—The Virginians who engaged in a bloody duel near Ward's Gap, Va., last Sunday are still living. One of the two men is now considered out of danger, but the other is not doing so well.

W. R. Davis and wife left this week for High Point, where they will spend the winter with their daughter.

T. E. Bryant, of Roanoke, Va., who represents the Roanoke Notion Company, was in town yesterday. Mr. Bryant is an old Surry boy, and he enjoys his visits to his home folks here at Mount Airy.

Bryant is an old Surry boy, and he enjoys his visits to his home folks here at Mount Airy.

There is still talk of a daily paper for the Granite City. It costs burrels of cash to run a daily, but Mount Airy is growing so fast and has so much business and so many well-to-do people that it is not impossible to publish a daily here. Of course, the net profits for the first year or two would not be anything to boast over.

All the furniture factories, cotton and woolen mills, buggy and wagon factories, granite quarries and other industries, granite quarries and other fullest extent, none of these industries finding it necessary to shut down for a single day this year on account of a lack of orders for their products. These talings being true, the operatives have onjoyed a feat—work every day and good wages in cash every two weeks.
