OPPORTUNITY OF DEMOCRACY.

Bryan Considered as a Power For Success or Failure, According as He Rises to the Situation—Effect of Another Defeat Would Be to Disintegrate Democratic Party. Brooklyn Eagle.

If Mr. Bryan should insist on putting himself before his party, he could probably bag a renomination and score a third defeat. Should he be large and sentient enough to prefer his party to the increment of his gains, as a nominee, an editor, a lecturer, and "a great defeated," he might by making another man President create for himself a reputation for sagacity and unselfishness, which he has not yet attained by desecrating.

Among these factions and precedents is the proposition that the next Democratic nominee for President cannot be selected from among any present members of the party who opposed Mr. Bryan in 1896, or in 1900.

Those Democrats who could not conscientiously vote for him were sustained by the American electorate. Mr. Bryan was rejected twice by that electorate. Democrats the people sustained should stand at least as well as Democrats the people refused to sustain—Mr. Bryan, for instance.

After his first defeat, Martin Van Buren, though urged for renomination, was retired by Polk, who was elected. Indeed, before Mr. Bryan, except Jackson and Cleveland, no Democrat on a defeated ticket was again nominated.

Jackson's first defeat was charged on a coalition of unnaturally affiliated adversaries. The recoil carried Old Hickory twice into the presidency, but over he renounced a third term while Mr. Bryan, twice rejected, is charged with seeking a third nomination, in an endeavor to win a first term!

Invariably fealty to Bryan does not define Democracy. "Principles, not men," defined Democracy to Jefferson. The people's invariable rejection of Bryan has made his proposed third nomination wear, first, a purpose to enrich himself, at the expense of his party, and secondly, to reinsure Republican success by three times defying the people's will, always an extra hazardous venture. Mr. Bryan cannot afford so to fight himself down to retirement, until it can be restored, and recast into its right mold.

Democratic conditions should be recast. Men who can be elected should be preferred to men who cannot. Two men who cannot be are Mr. Bryan and Mr. Hearst. Men who probably could be elected are Logan, such as Judge George Gray, Judson Harmon, Richard Olney, Governor John A. Johnson, or any Southern Democrat of presidential size, born since the war between the States. At least these men could rehabilitate the Democracy as a fighting force, if not at once restore the party to power.

A third Bryan defeat would palpably disintegrate and disband the party. Both Mr. Bryan and Mr. Hearst should unite all Democrats, by renouncing their own impossible presidential aspirations, and adding the party to find a candidate who would unite it and who could draw to the party many Republicans who would delight to see Republicanism to retirement, until it can be restored, and recast into its right mold.

Fetichism is not Democracy. Neither the Bryan fetich nor the Hearst fetich should define a party it can only divide and defeat and destroy. The man who give to either fetichism a name should abandon their idolatry of an ambition that can never be realized, and put themselves to the work of creating with and around other Democrats a militant party in lien of a congeries of factions and fallacies that are manifestly obnoxious and impossible to the electorate of the United States. Our conviction that they should be greater than our faith, that they will, but that they should know, and that they will we would fain believe.

It Would, Indeed. Nashville Tennessean. As a Senator from South Carolina, there is no doubt that Major J. C. Hemphill, of the Charleston News and Courier, would uphold the dignity and prestige of the office, but the transfer of his activities to Washington would make a gap in journalism hard to fill in these degenerate days.

STOMACH TROUBLE CURED. The verdict is the same everywhere—every time. Mrs. Joe Person, Charlotte, N. C. Dear Mrs. Person: I have been intending to write to you for some time to thank you for your wonderful medicine. I had a child one year old last July, and he was taken sick in June with a stomach trouble, I had two doctors to attend him and they did not do him any good. He was sick about three months and every one who saw him thought he would die. He was nothing but skin and bones. I quit the doctors' medicines and went to giving him your Remedy and he began to improve at once, and one-half bottle cured him sound and well. He is now nearly two years old and is fat and well. Every time my children get sick I give them your Remedy. I think it is the best medicine in the world to-day. May God bless you for the good you have done your fellow men. Yours truly, MRS. MINNIE DURHAM. Glencoe Mills, Burlington, N. C. April 24, 1907.
