Dr. Moffatt enumerated the needs of Erskine College in two classes—the internal needs and the external. Among the former he mentioned the need of more interest and attention in the study of the Rible, the supremacy of law and order, a deeper appreciation of the great purpose of education, and closed his remarks by saying: "We want to root out the last vestiges of hazing in all its forms." While hazing has never been of a very violent form in Erskine, the above remark is timely, for the hazing mania is growing in the colleges. All the other needs mentioned will be seen to be crying needs in all the colleges. While speaking of the need for more campus room it will be of interest to note that the town is now opening up a street across the northeast side of the campus. This was by far the prettiest part of the campus. Several of the largest and best shale trees have been cut down. It is believed by those who have the best interests of the college at heart that a great mistake has been made in granting the town this right. This was done by the Synod which met here two years ago. Many of those who voted for the street lid not know the damage it would entail to Erskine's campus. The ferenoon session was addressed by Mr. Jahez R. Mendenbell of Greenberg, on various aids to hall, of Greensboro, on various aids to Sunday school work. Hotel Satisfaction

You will experience here at this hotel something in the way of satisfaction which won't end with your departure; the feeling that follows your sojourn with us will bring you back again; our service, our comfortable and sleep-enticing, beds, big easy chairs that fairly yawn for some fired body to drop into them, and meals prepared by a chef who has not forgotten how to "fix" things according to old-time Southern methods. Nothing pretentious here-just a plain, homelike hotel, where comfort roams without restraint.
