It will be the principal work which these women will undertake. There are already two girls who are receiving their education at the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, under the care of the educational committee of the U. D. C.'s of the western section of North Carolina. In Charlotte the Stonewall Jackson Chapter provides every year for the education of one girl at the Presbyterian College. As soon as one girl completes her course of study this chapter enters another in her stead. Speaking of this educational work in her address, Mrs. Faison urged all of the various State chapters, which were represented by the nine hundred women assembled in the general convention to take similar action to that taken in the North Carolina chapters, and thus provide the means of the convention of a $10 fine.

The streets were thronged in the imposition of a $10 fine.

GROWTH IN THE STATE.

There were 80 U. D. C. chapters in North Carolina at the time the convention was held, and since that time Mrs. Faison has organized four more. She will organize several more in the near future. The total by Charlotte people at the result of membership is more than 3,000. INTERESTING NORTH CAROLINA FACTS.
North Carolina sent a delegation of 25 Daughters of the Confederacy to the general convention, this being the largest delegation from any one State. In closing her address, Mrs. Faison paid high tribute to the part to bring itself to any high state anything to eat. North Carolina has taken in the history of the United States, referring with pride to the facts which are highly valued by loyal North Carolinians, but which are not so thoroughly known to others, viz: That the first settlement in America made on Roanoke Island, in 1785; the first white child born in America was born on this Island, and the first "tea parties" in America were held in Edenton and Wilmingten, long before the famous party in Boston; the Declaration of American Independence was first declared in Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, more

Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, more than a year before the national Deciaration at Philadelphia and, best of all, that North Carolina was "first at Bethel, farthest at Chickamangs and Gettysburg, and last at Appomattox."

All of these announcements were heartly applauded, as were these of leter date; North Carolina sent 125.

One of the big features of the day, of course, was the feating. At every hotel in the city scores of guests sat down to tables which in quality and quantity of the edibles set forth thereon were unsurpassed. The Mrs. Faison's report showed also that every U. D. C. chapter in North Carolina observed in a fitting manner the one hundredth, anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee last January. This was another evidence of the excellent organization of the chapters in this State, and of the loyalty of the women to that great leducer. This leader who was "foe without hypocrisy," man Christian without hypocrisy, man seemly mirth and happiness held menus published in yesterday's Obseemly mirth and happiness held sway, though the buoyant boisterousness of Christmas time was largely lacking.
