

UNIVERSITY MAGAZINE.

A Credible and Representative Issue—Hard to Get Students to Write in Southern Colleges—No Financial Support.

The University Magazine for the month of November has been bound from the press at Chapel Hill. Neatly bound in brown, with a table of contents which includes five poems and about that number of pieces of fiction, the issue is an interesting one to all who are in any way interested in college life. One cannot expect to find in a publication whose creators are undergraduates much that makes a universal appeal, but there is quite as much of this in the magazine referred to as there is in any college publication short of one or two of the great Northern universities, where monetary remuneration is allowed the writers and where the deftness of touch and originality found is little below that in popular magazines. All Southern college magazines labor under the disadvantage of having too little inducement to offer the students to participate in creative literary work.

As the editor pointedly remarks, in reviewing the material: "Much of it is crude. It has been almost forced from the pen of the student, or written to write, or who write perfunctorily when they have nothing else to do or are persuaded by their friends. Much of this is available and much is good. Still this does not represent the best work that a college man can do."

It is believed that the Southern Intercollegiate Short Story Contest, which was launched last year by the University, accepted by a number of other institutions, being later dropped on account of delay in choosing judges, will go far to remedy this.

Following is the table of contents: "The Flower and the Bee," poem, J. B. Reeves; "The Transgression of the Five," P. H. Royster; "The Coming of the Shadow," poem, S. H. Lyle, Jr.; "Democracy, A New Unfolding of the Human Power," J. J. Parker; "The Bell Boy," poem, J. J. Parker; "A Profitable Courtship," D. Z. Newton; "A la Française," poem, S. H. Lyle, Jr.; "On Knocking," D. Phillips; "A Fool and His Money," C. W. Tillett, Jr.; "The Sailor Lad," poem, B. E. Washburn; "The Road," S. H. Lyle, Jr.; Sketches: "Sixty-Six," poem, J. B. Reeves; Editorial: Things Talked About; Exchanges; Alumni Notes; Book Review.

Wreck Delays Southbound Trains.

The running of northbound Southwestern Railway train No. 30 into a silver Wednesday afternoon late at Lynchburg, Va., miles this side of Lynchburg, Va., delayed all trains from the North yesterday. In the accident the engineer, Mr. Seaborn Berry, and his fireman both saw the danger in time and jumped, this fact being all that saved them. No. 37 which is due here until about 11 o'clock did not arrive until here at 5:35 in the morning did not arrive until still later in the afternoon.

Light Bearers' Entertainment.

The entertainment given last night at Tryon Street Methodist church by the Light Bearers, the juvenile society of that church, was a very enjoyable affair. The programme, which was published in full yesterday, was rendered with spirit and taste. Every number was enjoyed, the young people acquitting themselves in each instance handsomely. A good crowd was present and a neat sum was cleared.

Confederate Pensions Received.

A good-sized batch of pensions, about 100 or more, was received by the clerk of the court yesterday, to be paid out to the pensioners of Mecklenburg county. Pensioners of the first class this year receive $72; those of the second class $60; the third class $48, the fourth class $25. These amounts cover, of course, an entire period of one year.

The Play To-Night.

"Coming Thro' the Rye" is the attraction at the Academy of Music to-night, and advance sales of tickets indicate that a full house will greet this splendid company. Both in numbers and in individual ability the cast is said to be all that could be desired. The programme is "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," Monday night.

Appendicitis

How to Avoid It and Escape a Surgical Operation, Told by One Who Knows.

A Simple Method That is Always Efficacious.

It has only been a few years since it was discovered that a surgical operation would cure appendicitis. In fact, it has been but a short time since the disease was discovered and named.

Whenever there is an inflamed condition of the appendix, caused by impacted faeces in the small cavity opening into the intestine, you then have appendicitis.

The older doctors used to call this inflammation of the bowels, and were puzzled to know the cause.

Even now with all the knowledge we have of the disease, no medical man can tell you why we should have an appendix, why we find it where it is, or what are its functions, if it has any.

The disease for which the operation is a cure is usually caused by indigestion, and in many cases follows a large and indigestible meal.

Physicians have until recently recommended an operation, but now, as it is known that it is caused by indigestion or dyspepsia, a cure without an operation is assured.

Where the patient is treated with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the unhealthy conditions prevailing rapidly disappear, the stomach and intestines are placed back in their normal condition, every organ of the body operates as it should, and the inflammation is reduced and the operation is avoided.

Conscientious physicians, who are looking after the best interests of their patients, will always keep a supply of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets handy in their office, where in cases of sudden attacks of indigestion they can relieve the patient at once.

There is no record of a case of appendicitis where the stomach and bowels were in a healthy condition and properly digested the food from meal to meal.

No better advice can be given to any one who has attacks of indigestion, or who has been threatened with appendicitis, than to tell him to go to the drug store, pay 50 cents and take home a package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Whenever heartburn, gas in stomach or bowels, heart distress, acidity, sour troubles, sour eructations, acidity or fermentation are present, act at once. Take a dose of the tablets and get relief as soon as possible.

At all drug stores—50 cents.

Send us your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free of charge. P. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

The Shannonhouse-Orr Trial This Afternoon.

Interesting developments are being looked for by a portion of a curious public from the trial of Mr. Frank J. Shannonhouse on a warrant charging an affray with Chief W. S. Orr, of the fire department. Mr. Orr has already been fined $5 and costs for his participation, but this trial was postponed at the instance of the defendant. It is said that both sides "came thunder up their sleeves" and consequently it is possible that there may be electricity in the atmosphere of Magistrate J. W. Cobb's office this afternoon at 4:30 when the case is due to be called. Both sides expressed their satisfaction with the trial on the 13th, as a day of trial. To what extent the city government may be involved, if at all, remains to be seen. It is probable, as a matter of fact, that the whole matter will end quietly.

Prisoners at the County Jail to Date.

There were but 9 prisoners in the county jail yesterday. Of these two are negro women, 4 are negro men and 3 white men. The latter are H. B. Shoaf, James Lang and John M. Benton, the postoffice clerk who is under sentence to the Atlanta Federal Prison. All the negroes have been put there since the recent term of court except one, Atlas Fry, who was held over from the term of Superior Court proceeding that just held. His charge is that of disposing of mortgaged property. He took an appeal to the Supreme Court and his case has not yet been passed on.

ARCHITECTS TO MEET.

North Carolina Architectural Association to Meet in Charlotte December 27th and 28th—Local Meeting Monday to Precede Programme.

The North Carolina Architectural Association will meet in Charlotte Friday and Saturday, December 27th and 28th, to discuss matters relating to architecture and to have a good time. There are about 30 members. In addition to these, the members of the South Carolina association are invited to meet with their Tar Heel brethren on this occasion. The meeting will be held at the Seiywa. It is planned to have something in the form of a smoker to wind up the affair. Definite plans will be made Monday night at a meeting of the local members of the State association.

Recorder Smith's Court.

Denizens of the tenderloin played a rather conspicuous part in police court proceedings yesterday morning. Ruby Ashe, who lives on First street, was charged with disorderly conduct and fined $5 and costs, Maude Adams, who lives in that section, was the prosecuting witness, testifying that the woman came to her house and raised a disturbance. Mr. J. D. McCall appeared for the defendant and Mr. T. L. Kirkpatrick for the city. Bill McKenzie was fined $5 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. Jennie Price and Sergeant Youngblood testified against him. Another case in which painted women figured was postponed until to-day.

BADLY MIXED UP.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease, two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me, so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed for blood poison, weakness and all stomach liver and kidney complaints, by all druggists, 50c.
