

WITH THE CAROLINA COLLEGES

DAVIDSON.

Correspondence of The Observer.

Davidson, Jan. 4.—President Smith has recently worked out and had printed one of the most complete and perfect registration and college record books to be found anywhere.

This college record book on the front side has space for recording the student's history through his four years in college and on the reverse side is provision for a fifth year and also his record as an alumnus.

His friends upon their return to college report a very serious accident that befell E. D. Tomlinson, of Jacksonville, Fla., a member of the sophomore class, on his way home last night.

Dr. W. J. Martin left today for The First church, where he will conduct services for Rev. Walter Walsh tomorrow.

President Smith speaks in Salisbury Thursday night under the auspices of the men's society.

It is not infrequently happens that one subscribes to and reads a college magazine from a sense of duty and loyalty to the institution and the young man in a similar case but it is not always so.

The other departments of the magazine are up to standard and show that the men are interested in their work.

ERSKINE.

Correspondence of The Observer.

Due West, E. C. Jan. 4.—The students who were here for the holidays left the little quiet, distant, secluded, still country village of Due West never to see it again.

The Due West Democrat has been new in operation Friday, December 27, 1907, the citizens of Due West gathered on the hill in front of Mr. Arch Kennedy's house and saw the first locomotive that ever came to Due West.

WAKE FOREST.

Correspondence of The Observer.

Wake Forest, Jan. 4.—The college opened January 1st and work for the term is now well under way.

The athletic committee at a recent meeting awarded the "H" to several men for football services.

College Bursar E. B. Earnshaw will cooperate with Prof. J. B. Carlyle in the collection of the $150,000 endowment fund.

A religious dinner party was given last evening by Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Cullom, in honor of Prof. and Mrs. J. Henry Highsmith.

The notable movement led by Dr. John Lynch at the late State Baptist Convention, which met in Wilmington, on "Symmetrical Benevolence," appeared in a late issue of the Baptist Argus and was distributed by the North Carolina Board of State Missions.

Mrs. Dr. Charles E. Brewer has improved a great deal in the last few weeks and appeared in a roller skate several days ago.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

Correspondence of The Observer.

Durham, Jan. 4.—After two weeks of vacation college resumed its work yesterday at 10 o'clock and almost all the students were back in their classes.

Dean William P. Few spent the holidays in South Carolina to spend Christmas. Dr. William K. Boyd, of the department of history, returned to New York City, Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Crawford visited at Troy during the week.

The athletic council of Dr. Merle Theron Acheson, assistant dean of Trinity, has secured the services of Dr. Merle Theron Acheson, assistant dean of Trinity, has secured the services of Dr. Merle Theron Acheson.

WHITSETT INSTITUTE.

Correspondence of The Observer.

Whitsett, Jan. 4.—Prof. C. C. Wiggins has just returned from a four-

Much Mystery as to Who the Fellow is, the Name Given and the One in His Hat Not Corresponding—Much Suspicion of Major Jenkins in His Loss of $25,000, as Well as Sword Destroyed.

Observer Bureau.

Over thirty new men are already here and a number will arrive within the next few days.

The reception to new students will be given January 11th. This is always a very enjoyable occasion.

The three literary societies began their work for the spring term last Friday.

Prof. Thomas R. Foust, county superintendent of Guilford, was a pleasant visitor Thursday afternoon.

Seaboard officials here are acquainted with a fire claim agent named J. W. Johnson, but this is an elderly settled man of a jolly disposition.

The alleged North Carolinian, who attempted suicide at Greenville about a week ago by drinking laudanum, disappeared from there mysteriously just before the occurrence at Prosperity, and many believe the two are one and the same.

People all over the State are sympathizing with Major Micah Jenkins in the severe loss he sustained last night.

These articles would perhaps have been saved but for the anxiety Major Jenkins felt about his children, who were asleep at the time the fire was discovered and who were got out too hurriedly to allow them to be dressed.

Two Checks Written on Special Blanks of Whitehead Hosiery Company Turn Up at Burlington.

Special to The Observer.

Burlington, Jan. 5.—News of two bold forgeries for small amounts has just been received from the banks of Burlington.

While Linnert was having printing done at a local printing house the checks for the Whitehead Hosiery Mills were also being printed.

The class of the Burlington post-office has just passed from third to second.

Miss Caille Newton, of Morganton, a student in the Baltimore Conservatory of Music and sister of City Attorney H. S. Newton, arrived here yesterday.

Major J. E. Alexander will proceed to administer the case as referee.

Winston-Salem, Jan. 5.—On January 14th, in the office of Major J. E. Alexander, referee, in the case of the first meeting of the creditors in the noted Hardin bankruptcy case will be held.

Hardin's creditors will be called upon to appear before Judge James E. Boyd in the Circuit Court.

Major J. E. Alexander will proceed to administer the case.

Hardin's creditors will be called upon to appear before Judge James E. Boyd in the Circuit Court.

Major J. E. Alexander will proceed to administer the case.

U. C. I. Column

THE TOWN OF NO GOOD.

By H. C. Malbrough.

My friend, have you heard of the town of No-good?

On the banks of the River South, Where blooms the Waitawhile flower, Where the Sometimecreeper scents the air,

It lies in the valley of Whatsthouse, In the province of Lateraldia, In the town of No-good, No-good, No-good.

It stands at the bottom of Lashyhill, And is easy to reach, I declare, You're only to follow your hands and glide Down the slope of Wankish's toboggan slide.

To be landed quickly there, The town is as old as the human race, And it grows with the night of years. It's wrapped in the fog of idlers' dreams.

Its streets are paved with Discarded schemes, And sprinkled with useless tears. The Collegebred fool and the Richman's heir,

Are plentiful there, no doubt, The rest of its crowd are a motley crew. With every class except one in view. The Foolkiller is barred out.

The town of No-good is all hedged about By the mountains of Despair, No sentinel stands on its gloomy walls, No trumpet to battle and triumph calls, For Cowards alone are there.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away, Just follow your duty through good and ill, Take this for your motto, "I can, I will," And live up to it each day.

Briefs. Most men think that the "other fellow" has a better job than they themselves have.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

U. C. I. Column

THE TOWN OF NO GOOD.

By H. C. Malbrough.

My friend, have you heard of the town of No-good?

On the banks of the River South, Where blooms the Waitawhile flower, Where the Sometimecreeper scents the air,

It lies in the valley of Whatsthouse, In the province of Lateraldia, In the town of No-good, No-good, No-good.

It stands at the bottom of Lashyhill, And is easy to reach, I declare, You're only to follow your hands and glide Down the slope of Wankish's toboggan slide.

To be landed quickly there, The town is as old as the human race, And it grows with the night of years. It's wrapped in the fog of idlers' dreams.

Its streets are paved with Discarded schemes, And sprinkled with useless tears. The Collegebred fool and the Richman's heir,

Are plentiful there, no doubt, The rest of its crowd are a motley crew. With every class except one in view. The Foolkiller is barred out.

The town of No-good is all hedged about By the mountains of Despair, No sentinel stands on its gloomy walls, No trumpet to battle and triumph calls, For Cowards alone are there.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away, Just follow your duty through good and ill, Take this for your motto, "I can, I will," And live up to it each day.

Briefs. Most men think that the "other fellow" has a better job than they themselves have.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

U. C. I. Column

THE TOWN OF NO GOOD.

By H. C. Malbrough.

My friend, have you heard of the town of No-good?

On the banks of the River South, Where blooms the Waitawhile flower, Where the Sometimecreeper scents the air,

It lies in the valley of Whatsthouse, In the province of Lateraldia, In the town of No-good, No-good, No-good.

It stands at the bottom of Lashyhill, And is easy to reach, I declare, You're only to follow your hands and glide Down the slope of Wankish's toboggan slide.

To be landed quickly there, The town is as old as the human race, And it grows with the night of years. It's wrapped in the fog of idlers' dreams.

Its streets are paved with Discarded schemes, And sprinkled with useless tears. The Collegebred fool and the Richman's heir,

Are plentiful there, no doubt, The rest of its crowd are a motley crew. With every class except one in view. The Foolkiller is barred out.

The town of No-good is all hedged about By the mountains of Despair, No sentinel stands on its gloomy walls, No trumpet to battle and triumph calls, For Cowards alone are there.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away, Just follow your duty through good and ill, Take this for your motto, "I can, I will," And live up to it each day.

Briefs. Most men think that the "other fellow" has a better job than they themselves have.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

U. C. I. Column

THE TOWN OF NO GOOD.

By H. C. Malbrough.

My friend, have you heard of the town of No-good?

On the banks of the River South, Where blooms the Waitawhile flower, Where the Sometimecreeper scents the air,

It lies in the valley of Whatsthouse, In the province of Lateraldia, In the town of No-good, No-good, No-good.

It stands at the bottom of Lashyhill, And is easy to reach, I declare, You're only to follow your hands and glide Down the slope of Wankish's toboggan slide.

To be landed quickly there, The town is as old as the human race, And it grows with the night of years. It's wrapped in the fog of idlers' dreams.

Its streets are paved with Discarded schemes, And sprinkled with useless tears. The Collegebred fool and the Richman's heir,

Are plentiful there, no doubt, The rest of its crowd are a motley crew. With every class except one in view. The Foolkiller is barred out.

The town of No-good is all hedged about By the mountains of Despair, No sentinel stands on its gloomy walls, No trumpet to battle and triumph calls, For Cowards alone are there.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away, Just follow your duty through good and ill, Take this for your motto, "I can, I will," And live up to it each day.

Briefs. Most men think that the "other fellow" has a better job than they themselves have.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.

My friend, from the Dead-Alive Town No-good, Would I could keep far away.

Salisbury, Jan. 5.—The town of No-good is all hedged about by the mountains of Despair.