After an hour of an interesting

After an hour of an interesting conference with Mr. E. D. Latta. systed 66 minutes of time and a good supply of lung-power yesterday afternoon quibbling over a matter which in the final analysis, was referable solely to the beard of aldermen for action. This discovery was even amusing to the members, themselves who had called the consultation for the expressed purpose of forming some agreement with Mr. Latta about the specifications of his preliminary work on the street car tracks. Mayor T. S. Franklin allowed the board to spend an hour in the conference, discussing the situation with Mr. Latta, before he informed the members that the board of alderment was the only body to say when in the specification of the city for five years for repairs.

It must be apparent to these who are acquainted with the railroads of the state that many of them are acquainted with the state that many of them are acquain men was the only body to say when the work on the streets should begin, and this was in answer to a direct question from Mr. A. H. Washburn. The final action of the board in view of this discovery was to adopt a resoto the effect that the service board, being greatly embarrassed in sending out legal notices to property owners and in getting all preliminary work out of the way, would ask the aldermen to indicate some definite time when the laying of permanent improvements should begin. "And that is just about as indefinite as the judgment day," again remarked Mr. McAden. given then the assurance that he would not delay the laying of permanent improvements at all. He stated his position without equivoca-tion and while a little out of humor, he pledged the board his hearty cooperation in pushing this work completion, only asking that he officially notified as to the definite

This was one of the several significant statements made by Mr. Latta in the course of the conference. THE GIRL FROM OUT YONDER. Although it is the great success that "The Girl From Out Yonder" achieved last year that is the principal reason Adelaide Thurston, the brilliant young actress will use it again for the current season yet there are many things about the play that appeal to her artistic temperament more than any play she has ever had. She would very probably have continued in it even had it not been such a good money maker, because it gives her opportunities for a fuller display of certain of her talents that in her previous plays had only been in her previous plays had only been suggested.
