CONCORD.

Concord, Feb. 28.—One of the most charming social events that Concord has enjoyed for a season, was the reception given at the residence of Mrs. J. S. Fisher and daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Ridenhour, complimentary to our February bride, Mrs. Joseph P. Fisher. More than 300 invitations had been issued and from seven until late a throng of friends came to meet the bride and extend to her numerous good wishes. Mrs. Fisher's large and stately home was especially attractive on this occasion in its decorations of pink and white. At the door the guests' cards were taken by two charming little misses, Frances Ridenhour and Adelaide Erwin Harris. Mrs. John H. Rutledge and Mrs. W. D. Pemberton received in the hall and directed the guests into the parlor; where Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Ridenhour were assisted in receiving by Mesdames Mary, Joseph, E. Fisher, John W. Cannon, Joseph E. Cook, Wright G. Campbell, J. E. Stink, W. J. Hill, Misses Nell Fisher and Frances Hill. This room was especially pretty in white, anemones, narcissus and ferns, and with the handsome costumes of the wedding party made a pleasing scene. From the parlor the guests were directed by Mesdames Chas. J. Harris and A. Jones Yorkie into the dining room, which in its decorations of pink hyacinths and Southern-smylax, with crystal chandelabra, and exquisite lace centrepieces was indeed a scene of beauty. Elegant and delicious refreshments were served by Mesdames J. L. Hartsell, A. M. Brown, W. R. Harris and A. E. Lentz, of Salisbury, the guests were then directed by Mrs. C. L. Smith and Miss Ellen Gibson into the parlors. After a decoration of red carnations and potted plants was presided over by Mrs. V. L. Gaffney and Mrs. John M. Cook who poured the coffee that the hostesses, Mrs. Joseph P. Fisher, Mrs. Blanche Brown and Mattie Brower, the whole affair was one of keen enjoyment and the friends of Mrs. Ridenhour were voted ideal hostesses. Mrs. Joseph P. Fisher, in whose honor it was given, is pleasantly remembered here as Miss Calve Wagge and her many friends are glad to welcome her back to Concord to live among us.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the evening, the entertainment given by the Girls' Guild of St. James Lutheran church on Tuesday, was a decided success. The program, "A Trip Around the World," was taken with stops at Japan, Greece, Egypt and America. At each place refreshments were served by young ladies in costumes pulled in from all countries. The program was remembered by those who took the journey and the treasury of the guild was swelled to the amount of $30.

The beautiful operetta "An Irish May Day," presented at the opera house on Friday evening of last week was most enjoyable; and netted a great sum for the Light House and Central church, under whose auspices it was given. All the children carried out their parts well. The drill by the "Sunbonnet Babies" and "Overshoe Boys" was pretty and effective, and the "goodies" in which the girls in gowns and caps were decidedly the "hit" of the evening, their every movement eliciting round after round of applause from the audience who greeted them.

The Thursday Afternoon Book Club was entertained at her meeting by Mrs. M. L. Marsh, at her handsome home on South Union Street. The club is purely social and is one of the most recent organizations in the city. Mrs. Marsh fully sustained her reputation as a charming hostess on this occasion and made the afternoon pleasant and happy for her guests. Tempting refreshments were served. The members are Mesdames M. L. Marsh, J. H. Rutledge, R. E. Ridenhour, W. S. Bingham, G. E. Low, H. C. B. Bingham, W. L. Bell, J. F. Goodson, W. H. Goshorn, H. P. Parks, D. B. Morrison and Thomas Hawthorne.

Mrs. Mamie Alexander, Concord's popular milliner, is in the North Carolina city studying the latest designs in headwear.—Miss Barbara Mallard, of Greenville, S. C., spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Nannie Alexander.—Miss Willis Richmond, after a visit of several weeks to her sister, Mrs. C. L. White, has returned to her home in Bedford City, Va.—Miss Blanche Howell, of Morganton, a missionary to Brazil, is in North Carolina for a visit, and spent a few days here recently with her friend, Mrs. W. C. Houston. While in the city she gave two most interesting talks at Central and Kerr Street Methodist churches.

Mrs. Doris C. Manney, of King's Mountain, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. S. Fisher.

DURHAM.

Durham, Feb. 27.—A marriage of much interest was solemnized Wednesday morning of last week when Mr. Samuel Pickard and Miss Ira Pickett, a popular young couple of this city, were united in holy bonds. It was a quiet wedding, attended only by relatives and a few friends. The home was prettily decorated. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. W. C. Barrett pastor of the Second Baptist church. Immediately afterwards the couple, accompanied by friends, repaired to the union station, leaving for a visit to the groom's parents in Orange county. Miss Pickett is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pickett and is very much beloved by her friends. The groom holds a responsible position with the American Tobacco Company and has made a score of friends since living in Durham.

ing for a visit to the groom's parents in Orange county. Miss Pickett is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pickett and is very much beloved by her friends. The groom holds a responsible position with the American Tobacco Company and has made a score of friends since living in Durham.

Rev. C. J. Thompson arising from a sick bed Wednesday night of last week, performed the ceremony that married Miss Grace Lois Edwards and Mr. Robert Fulton Perry both of this city. The vows were said at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fowler of Greensboro, who was the best man and Miss Mabel Wilkinson the maid of honor. The wedding was a very quiet one, witnessed by only a few friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Immediately after the ceremony the couple went to the home of Mr. O. M. Perry where they will board for the present.

SHELBY.

Shelby, Feb. 28.—The entertainment given Friday night in the parlors of the Central Hotel, under the auspices of the Civic League was a decided success. The attendance was unexpectedly large. The programme was an attractive one, consisting of musical selections, vocal and instrumental duets, readings, recitations and a charming little comedy. "An Imitation Sweetheart," rendered in faultless style by Misses Patti Roberts, Kate and Mrs. Bush Harvey. The readings and recitations by Misses Cleo Hayes, Mamie Jones, Olla Ford and Mrs. C. R. Hoey and Miss Dorothy McBrayer, were given in exceedingly happy style and elicited merited applause. The instrumental duets of Mesdames Hudson and Hennessy were executed with brilliant and dashing technique. The vocal duet of Mrs. George Hoyle and Mrs. Thomas Babington was greatly enjoyed as was the duet of Master Frank and little Miss Mildred Hull. The vocal solos of Mrs. Hennessy and Mrs. J. L. Lenoir, returned to the stage with ease and most pleasing effect. The evening was one of rare pleasure and most thoroughly enjoyed.

Fortunate indeed were those members of the Chocoma Club who availed themselves of the privilege of attending the meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Blanton. A characteristic grace and hospitality on the part of Mrs. Blanton and her guests and after the rendition of a particularly pleasing and entertaining programme, elegant refreshments were served. Mrs. O. Max Gardner and Mrs. Landrum presiding over the charming dinner.

Miss Fan Barnett spent Thursday in Charlotte.—Dr. Reid R. Morrison returned Friday from Charlotte where he attended the sessions of the Tri-State Medical convention.—Mrs. Y. Harnett Cabiness returned Friday from Charlotte. She was accompanied by Mr. Cabiness, who spent the night here. Mrs. Graham Anthony returned Friday from Raleigh.—Miss Eloise Allen, of Lawrence, spent Friday here.—Mrs. David Schenck and son, Mr. Paul Schenck, of Greensboro, passed their week-end here.—Misses Mary and Lawrence, who will visit Major and Mrs. H. F. Schenck.—Mrs. Garland Green, who has been spending several days here with her father, Dr. J. Rufin Osborne, returned to her home in Boiling Springs, Saturday.—Mr. J. Frank Roberts has returned from a business trip to Spartanburg.—Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hudson spent Thursday night in Charlotte with friends.—Miss Madge Webb spent Thursday and Friday in Charlotte, the guest of Miss Lucy Oates.—Mr. Henry T. Lewman, who is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, returned to Philadelphia last week. He returned Tuesday.—Mrs. James L. Webb left Thursday for Chiffade to attend the funeral of her cousin, Mrs. Chapman of that place.—Mrs. J. P. Boyer spent last Tuesday in Charlotte.—Mr. O. Max Gardner spent Tuesday in Gastonia on legal business.—Mr. Clyde K. Hoey has returned from Gastonia.

OXFORD.

Oxford, Feb. 27.—Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, the Book and Embroidery Club held their final meeting before Lent, with Miss Sara Danie, hostess. The members of the club were present in large numbers, and social and pleasure, and during the meeting cake and ambrosia added to the attractions of the pastime. Tuesday an informal tea party was given by Mrs. E. H. Bell and Miss Cooper, which in elegance of menu and beauty of serving was peculiarly unique. The highly-polished mahogany table in the dining room, where handsome antique furniture and lace table-cloth, were artistically arranged, was a dream of loveliness, ornamented with elegant designs of prettiest lace and centre-piece of rare handiwork, beneath choice flowers. The guest of honor was Mr. J. Crawford Cooper, of Abbeville, who is visiting relatives in Oxford. Wednesday afternoon the Social Club met for the last time before the Lenten season at the cozy and hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Crenshaw. The guests of honor were Mrs. Bonitz of Chicago, and Miss Ann Lou McGuire, of Smithfield. Mrs. Crenshaw at all times proves an unusually cordial hostess, and this occasion was fully recognized as one of the most delightful entertainments of the winter. The refreshments were all that could be desired in the way of salads, pickles and choice dainties.

Character delineation marked the ending of the "L'Allegro Book Club" with Miss Gertrude Winston last week. It was the day for the lottery. The new books were scheduled for the afternoon, but they did not reach here in time, but it interposed not a particle with the club. Mrs. Winston gave her guests an opportunity to stimulate a faculty not illuminated altogether by books. A descriptive contest, pencil work pictures of each other, and a "word game" were infinitely amusing, this character sketching, and when it was done Miss Winston read the accounts of the girls, written of themselves, by themselves. That there were many who wrote untruthfully things about their features, ugliness and hideously caricatured themselves did not so disturb personages as to render them unrecognizable. Three of the writers correctly guessed when the comic word-pictures resembled in actual life. Miss Margaret Boyland, who is the guest of Misses Ethel and they will have an elaborate sale of fancy articles, which promises to be very attractive. Sunday next, the new pastor, Rev. Mr. Thompson, will take charge of the duties of the pastor of the Presbyterian church in Oxford. The coming of their pastor is looked forward to with great interest by the congregation, who have had no regular services for several months. Next Tuesday has been chosen by the "Granville Grays" Chapter U. D. C. as a time to serve a barbecue dinner for the benefit of the Confederate monument fund. According to time-honored tradition those who eat pancakes on Shrove Tuesday incur peculiar good luck. Pancakes will be served on that day.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, N. C., Feb. 28.—The crowning social event of the week among Washington's smart set took place on last Thursday evening, when the different young ladies of the city entertained the young men at a luncheon in the dining room of the Elks Club in the Baughman Building on Main street. This affair was one of the most unique as well as thoroughly enjoyed social functions of the season. The affair was held in the city. Enclosed with each man's invitation was one-half of a playing card and his partner had the other half. The young ladies all wore coming in from the north, had to match their cards for their partners in the hall. The ladies certainly had the men guessing and until 12 o'clock when all the masks were discarded, the young men were very astute at their wife's end to learn their partner's names. Music was furnished by an orchestra from the Washington Concert Band, and to its inspiring strains the young couples danced the evening away until the hour of 1 proclaimed the time for departure.

An apron party was given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church at the residence of Mrs. A. M. Dumay, on West Main street, last Tuesday evening for the benefit of this church. A large assortment of very pretty aprons, attractively were placed on sale and each man presented his lady partner with one of these useful articles. Refreshments consisting of dairy cakes and tea were served and a handsome sum was realized for the benefit of this church.

Miss Mattie Jones and Mr. H. P. Bridgeman will entertain a few friends at the home of Mr. Bridgeman, on West Main street, next Friday evening in honor of their respective birthdays—February 29th.

The Misses Von Eberstein and Miss Brum, of Chocoma, are the guests of Mrs. G. C. Harding, on Second street—Miss Simpson, of Newbern, is the guest of Miss Laughinghouse, on Second street, for a few days.—Miss Beard Ramsey, of Rocky Mount, who has been the guest of Miss Annie P. Nicholson, on West Main street, for the last few days has returned home.

NEWTON.

Newton, Feb. 28.—February 22d Mr. George Hoover entertained a number of friends in honor of his 18th birthday. Nothing loath were the guests to gather at his home, North Newton for all knew that a treat was in store for them.—Games of different kinds added to the merriment of the evening, the enjoyment of the guests to the end of the evening. The most excellent music furnished by the Startown String Band. The mother of the young host served delightful refreshments which were highly appreciated by the guests. To grace the occasion were: Misses Mary Moore, Lula Stewart, Violet Brown, Maude Bolick; Messrs. Hal, Ted and Tom Hoover, Henry Fry, Ernest Post, Earl Cline, E. W. Cross, Hubert Retsell, Russell Simon, Fred Amos and Elliott Stewart.

The entertainment which was to have been given in honor of the birthday of Mrs. C. E. McKorkie last Friday night was postponed owing to the death of Mr. E. P. Schrum.

To-night little Miss Annie Killian, the bright little daughter of Mr. J. W. Killian, will entertain her friends at her home on Second avenue. It was a Washington affair. The decorations in the halls, parlors and dining room were in flags and festoonings of red, white and blue. The tables were covered with the hatchets and miniature flags, the score cards bore the portraits of Martha and George Washington. Delicious refreshments were served and in this the famous cherries were in evidence.

Friday evening Mrs. Parker entertained again in honor of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Utley, of Apex, who is her cousin. The party was a delightful one and refreshments were served. Miss Ethel Gray played several instrumental selections and Miss Utley favored the guests with several songs. Among those present were: Miss E. Brown, Mrs. Mary Gray, Edith Lott, Lottie Blake, Rosebud Adams, Edith Paxonson, Laura Pare, Lowry Shuford, Mamie Cabiness, Mary Della Parre, Mary Burnett, Maud Sparks, Mrs. D. M. Cross, Messrs. Adams, Ed. Pagram, Grier Love, W. B. Morris, Sam Shuford, F. W. Garland, Arthur Jones, Fred Smyre, W. H. Adams, A. G. Myers, K. Dixon and A. M. Dixon.

One of the most beautifully appointed and delightful functions was the reception given by Mrs. L. W. Glenn, Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at her pretty new home on York street, complimentary to the Friendly Matrons. Miss Glenn was assisted in receiving by Mrs. W. E. Gilliam, Misses Julia and Carrie Glenn and Lottie Ray. Progressive refreshments and delicious refreshments in two courses were served. Among those invited were: Mesdames L. N. Jenkins, president of the club; S. N. Broy, J. H. Sparks, E. A. Page, T. L. Crow, W. J. Clifford, R. M. Reid, H. W. Lamar, D. R. Lafer, Robert, Warren, P. R. Huffstetter, S. A. Robinson, M. L. Curry, J. Lee Robinson, J. K. Dixon, F. Torrence, J. K. Kennedy, A. A. McLean, J. M. Stolt, G. W. Ragan, D. M. Jones, Jno. L. Bryan, F. G. Wilson, George W. W. Wilson, John F. Love, R. A. Love, B. H. Parker, W. L. Balwin, W. C. Davis, W. F. Michael, D. E. McConnally, C. J. Epps, E. H. Tuttle, Charles E. McLean, L. L. Hardin, W. E. Gilliam, Misses Lottie Ray, Carrie and Julia Glenn, Lottie Blake Mary Gray Sandifer, Lowry Shuford, Ida Furrley, L. M. Cross, Messrs. Adams, W. M. Ragan, Laura Sloan, Elizabeth Utley, of Apex.

Beautifully engraved invitations as follows have been issued: The Woman's Home Missionary Society at home with Mrs. B. T. Morris Thursday evening 8 to 10 Silver offering.

This was an attractive programme, well executed and much enjoyed by those present. A nice sum was realized. The Epworth League of Main Street Methodist church entertained most pleasantly Friday evening in the league room, which was beautifully and tastefully decorated for the occasion. Sorosis met Wednesday afternoon in the Elks' parlors. The evening was fine and the attendance unusually good. It being the eve of Longfellow's 101st birthday anniversary, it was most fittingly Longfellow Day. Roll call brought out many pretty and happy quotations from the poet. After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Miss Collier, Miss Florence Slater, of New York, read in the most charming and effective manner "The Farmhouse from 'Hiawatha.'" The season review was conducted with great skill by Mrs. M. D. Bailey, and the magazine review equally effectively by Mrs. W. A. Whitaker. After a full discussion of reciprocity day, it was fixed for the 23d of April.

Mr. and Mrs. De Los Thomas, with their interesting little family, will move to Roanoke in the near future. Mrs. Thomas, who has been for several years the efficient division secretary of the North Carolina Federation in this city, has recently received a most merited and gratifying promotion. Their removal to Virginia will be a distinct loss to our social world, where Mrs. Thomas has made her place that cannot be filled. In addition to her work in the Federation, she has recently received a most merited and gratifying promotion. LEXINGTON.

Special to The Observer. Lexington, Feb. 28.—The Pleasure Club met with Mrs. F. N. Patterson Tuesday afternoon and so charmingly did she entertain her guests that the hours went by all too quickly. In addition to the usual score cards were passed and the ever interesting game of "nations" was played, the club prize, a lovely plate, being won by Mrs. Kemp Alexander, of Albemarle, and Mrs. A. H. Walker made the highest score of the visitors and was presented with a pretty bowl. The following guests were present: Raymond McCrary, W. H. Walker, J. E. Dederick, Van Hoy, R. C. Springs, Miss Ora Huckabee and Miss McCann, Albemarle.

Mrs. Joe Moffitt was the charming hostess to the Round Dozen Club on Thursday afternoon and a most delightful time was spent playing "nations." The score cards were especially pretty and painted pink carnations, painted by the hostess' cousin, Miss Edith Greer. On consulting the punches it was found that Miss Camille Hunt was entitled to the club prize, a lovely plate, being won by Mrs. Kemp Alexander, of Albemarle, and Mrs. A. H. Walker made the highest score of the visitors and was presented with a pretty bowl. The following guests were present: Raymond McCrary, W. H. Walker, J. E. Dederick, Van Hoy, R. C. Springs, Miss Ora Huckabee and Miss McCann, Albemarle.

Sorosis was charmingly entertained by Miss Jessie Hunt on Washington Street, the home of the club. The room was beautifully decorated in honor of the Father of his Country—national flags hung everywhere, candles shed soft light through red paper shades, and pictures of George and Martha Washington, of George and Martha Washington. Before the calling of the roll the hostess bade each guest take a cherry from the tree she had prepared for the occasion. It was found that each one contained an appropriate quotation. The following interesting programme was enjoyed by all: a paper on "The Women of the Revolution" by Mrs. C. E. Bingham; a reading by Mrs. C. A. Hanes and another paper on "Washington's Life," by Miss Ora Huckabee, who also answered the most questions. After the feast of things literary, came a feast of other good things, delicious refreshments served in this course. A number of interesting souvenirs were given. Miss Hunt a delightful hostess and this meeting one of the most enjoyable of the season. Those present, outside the club members, were: Mesdames W. Riley, George Westcastle, Henry Propat, Misses Gertrude Hamner and Camille Hunt.

A study class composed of about twenty ladies has been organized by Mrs. J. T. Watis, pastor of the First Baptist church, and will meet every Monday afternoon at the pastor's home. Japan from a missionary standpoint is being studied. The following topics will be discussed: "The Country," "The People," "The Religion," "First and Second Coming of Christianity," "Forms of Mission Work," "The Foreign Worker," and "The Outlook." Next books have been provided, questions are asked and papers prepared for each meeting. With such a capable leader as Mrs. Watis, much benefit will be derived from the study of this beautiful sunrise kingdom. Dr. David Hill left last week for El Paso, he is expected to be in Lexington in a few days. Dr. Joel Hill, who was dangerously sick, Dr. Hill has been spending the winter in Texas as for his health. If any ill-omen attached to Friday, in the minds of those who were guests at Mrs. James A. Gray and Mrs. A. H. Galloway last Friday afternoon, when they entertained in honor of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Charles Plumly, of Philadelphia, this impression was most effectively dispelled in the very charming reception which the girls gave between 3 and 6 with rare enjoyment.

In entertaining their hosts of guests, Mrs. Gray and Mrs. Galloway departed from the formalities of the conventional reception. After receiving their friends with the most cordial and eminently characteristic of the Southern woman, the younger hostess, Mrs. Galloway, and her sister, Mrs. Charles Plumly, mingled freely with their guests and assisted Miss Caro Buxton, Miss Margie Gray and Mrs. J. Powell Gilmer in serving the delicious refreshments. In an alcove in the reception room, Mrs. William A. Lemly and Mrs. D. D. Schonler, at a beautifully appointed table poured coffee and chocolate, respectively. In the hall the most delightful and informal manner the guests enjoyed the converse of their friends, as well as the dainties so bountifully provided. The guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. Charles E. Shenton and Mrs. William A. Brown. All in all, Mrs. Gray and her two wonderful daughters have seldom scored a more distinct social success than in this very charming and graceful reception.

The birthday of the Father of his country was the occasion of many agreeable social happenings. In entertaining her friends of the G. A. Y. Club, Miss Ruth Joyner was distinctly popular. The decorations and refreshments all bearing impress and suggestion of the national holiday. After the interesting game of progressive hearts, dainty refreshments in two courses were served, and the prizes awarded, Miss Ohler Albert, of Hillsboro, was the first prize, Miss Elizabeth Hill the second, and Miss Louise Pepper the consolation.

Friday evening Miss Kate Jenkins entertained at a very agreeable George Washington party in honor of Miss Nan Harris of Baltimore, who is in town at this time. In keeping with the occasion, the home was decorated after the manner of colonial days and the guests wore likewise costumes of "ye olden time." Various novel pastimes filled the evening with delight, and after the enjoyable refreshments had been served, the merry young folks were grouped and an effective photograph made as a souvenir of the happy occasion.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Thomas Main and Miss Edna Maslin were hostesses to the D. A. R. After the business meeting, which was a specially important one in view of the handsome sum realized by the "Deeds-Right Schule," the pupils that made the season so eminently successful materialized once more. In addition to Mrs. and Miss Maslin, contributed their full share to the pleasures of the afternoon. Mrs. Maslin, one of the Virginia triplets, gave several charming vocal selections, and Miss Edna Maslin delighted her audience with some of her inimitable readings. After the elegant refreshments, souvenirs in flags, hatchets, cherries and other reminders of the day were given the several guests.

The Monday Afternoon Book Club held its last meeting at the hospitable home of Mrs. H. F. Bahnsen. Roll call brought out many interesting incidents and anecdotes concerning famous artists and musicians of Austria. The paper contributed on this occasion was a very charming one, from the pen of Mrs. J. M. Rogers, entitled, "The Royal House of Austria and its Romanesque." In dispensing the hospitalities of her charming home, Mrs. Bahnsen was assisted by her lovely young daughter, Miss Louise.

Tuesday afternoon from 3 till 5 Miss Erma Bailey entertained her hosts of friends at a delightful tea. For the festive occasion each room was artistically decorated, pink anemones in the parlor, exquisite white lilacs in the dining room and crimson carnations in the library. The guests were welcomed in the hall by Misses Anabel Gray, Eleanor Follin and Anna Buxton. Miss Bailey and her mother, Mrs. M. D. Bailey were assisted in receiving by Miss Elsie Sheppard, Mesdames Brantley Finch, of Lexington; E. C. Cland and Peter A. Gorzell, the latter directing the guests into the dining room. Here gracious greetings awaited the guests from Mrs. L. A. Vaughn and elegant refreshments were served. Mesdames O'Hanon and R. W. Galloway poufed tea and coffee, the guests being very charmingly served by Misses Mary Crite, Margie Gray, Frank Hanes and Kate Huske. The library Mrs. Erastus Beverly Jones presided at the grape-garlanded punch bowl, while Mrs. Everett Lockett, Misses Lucy Lybrook, Margaret Hanes and Miss Lu Perkins, of Stuart, Virginia, served the guests to the delicious frappe. Mrs. William Houston Patterson of Philadelphia is the guest of her
