Mr. Thomas Nelson Conrad and bride, who was Miss Kathryn Hammett, of Washington, are expected in the city the latter part of the week to spend a day or two with Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Myers, on East avenue. Mrs. Conrad is quite well known in the city, having visited Mrs. H. C. Jones here years ago. For the past some time she has been one of the society editors of The Washington Post. The following is an account of the wedding which took place last the wedding which took place last week. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad are now in the South on their bridal trip:

"The marriage of Miss Kathryn Hammett, daughter of Mrs. Charles M. Hammett and the late Dr. Hammett, to Mr. Thomas Nelson Conrad was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock last evening, at the home of the bride's family, in F street. Owing to mourning in the family, the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Richard Pardee Williams, rector Mr. Richard Pardee Williams, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, was witnessed only by the relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

"Very simple yet beautiful, floral decorations added an appropriate touch to the quaint dignity of the old home, in which the bride of last evening was born, and has spent her girlhood, and where she will continue to reside upon her return from her honeymoon. Tall palms formed a bower at one end of the parlor, in which was placed the white kneeling bench festooned with smilax, where the ceremony took place, Azalea bushes, with a wealth of pink blooms and pink carnations, otherwise adorned the room. Spring flowers, jon-quils predominating, adorned the second parlor and the dining room was entirely in red, red roses forming the centrepiece on the table, and the tapers burning in silver candelabra beneath red shades.

"The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Charles M. Hammett, wore a gown of soft white satin with yoke and sleeves of Irish lace, cut after the modified empire model, and with a princess front. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilles of the valley. Her only attendant was her little nephew, Franklin Hammett Meyers, who stood beside her and held her flowers during part of the ceremony. Representative Charles C. Carlin, of Virginla, was best man for Mr. Conrad.

"Mr. Conrad and his bride left Washington last night for the South. They will go to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras and will return to Washington about the middle of March. The bride's going-away gown was a tailored violet broadcloth with which she were a hat trimmed with violet Upon their return to Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad will reside with Mrs. Conrad's mother, at her home in F street. "Mrs. Conrad will be at home, with

Mrs. Hammett, on Fridays, March 20th and 27th. 'Mr. Conrad is a son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Conrad, of Virginia." Cards reading as follows have been received in the city;

Cooper, in the discussion over Cooper and his medicines, which has raged for the past year in cities visited by the young man on his educative campaigns, as he calls them.

Cooper was explaining his new theories and medicines to Boston people during the Oregonian's yisit to that city, and in a recent interview Mr. Herman said: "My trip East accomplished more for me than I ever believed possible. It has actually been the means of restoring my health. While in Boston I heard a great deal about this man Cooper and his medicines, and one morning I talked with a Boston banker, who told me that he had been relieved by Cooper's medicines after ten years' chronic dyspepsia. For the past twenty years I have been relieved by Cooper's medicines after ten years' chronic dyspepsia. For the past twenty years I have been a fearful sufferer with nervous dyspepsia. It has been so bad that it all but forced me to resign from the Legislature.
