NEW RATES EFFECTIVE TO-DAY. Compromise Passenger Rate Law in Effect To-day—The New Mileage Books and the Conditions Attending Their Use—Inter-State Fares Lowered While Intra-State Fares Have Been Raised.

The new railway passenger compromise rate law becomes effective to-day. The straight fares hereafter will be 2-1/2 cents for inter as well as intra-State trips. Three mileage books will be sold in denominations of 1,000, 2,000 and 500 miles each. The 1,000 and the 2,000-mile books will sell for $20 and $40 respectively and will be good on any road north of Jacksonville and Montgomery, Ala., and east of Birmingham, Ala. The 500-mile book will be good only for one person whereas the 2,000-mile books will be good for any one of five persons, all of whom must be employees of the same firm and be designated in the book. The 500-mile books are good only in North Carolina and are available for the transportation of any individual or five individuals, members of the same family at the same time. The 1,000 and 2,000-mile books will have to be exchanged for tickets at the counters but the 500-mile books will not be so conditioned. The result of the new law is that it lowers the inter-State rate about 1-2 cent a mile and raises the intra-State rate about 1-4 cent a mile.

Placards announcing the game of baseball between Davidson and A. & M. Colleges Saturday have been distributed throughout the city with no slack hand. The game will draw a large crowd. The regular meeting of the various Methodist churches will not be held to-night, as the congregations are all taking part in the union Methodist revival services now in progress at Tryon Street church.

Mr. Shaw is an earnest and forceful preacher and his meetings are always successful. TOURISTS ENJOY TRIP. Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Niernese, of New York City, here in the city on their way home.

What is the meaning of the motor tourists, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Niernese, of New York, arrived in the city last night from Savannah, Ga., and their stopping at the Selwyn. The car in being looked over at the Omond Barringer Company's garage. From here they will go north by way of Salisbury, Greensboro, Blounton, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Staunton, Lexington, and finally to Washington, D. C. Mr. Niernese talks as he has toured over 40,000 miles in a white car, he is well posted. One of the things he first noticed when looking at the white is a hiss across the front just a few inches from the ground. On being asked what it meant he smiled in a very knowing way and said that it was the depth of water in the road somewhere the other side of Columbia, S. C., but that he had been unable as yet to measure the famous North Carolina mud as it has been dry ever since he reached the State line. This water was so deep that the pilot light under the generator was extinguished. Mr. Niernese, however, had a head of steam on and easily got through. The good roads of Mecklenburg are always much admired by the tourists and they as well as the local motorists are looking forward to the time when a solid stretch of macadam will extend across the Old North State. Mr. Niernese is a prominent New York architect.

THE CARNIVAL CROWD. Occasion Being Attended by Enormous Crowds—Similarity With the Midway of a County Fair. The carnival that is now in full blast has every appearance of the midway of a county fair. The absence of the smell of the pumpkin and the sombre surroundings of a dying summer are the two features which principally distinguish the two events. The sound of the splier is clear and distinct, and the melodious and sometimes unmelodious sounds escaping from organ, brass band and various instruments, the unspeakable noise created by the ole' plantation niggers; the prolific waste away of confetti; the odor from the eating-stand that has not yet been advertised; the monotonous grind of the merry-go-round and the whirl of the Ferris-wheel—all these are there in full abundance. The crowds last night made the lot look like a bee-rum. It was literally jammed. Everything is moving along in fine shape, and the affair is successful. The attractions are apparently clean and equally as inviting as any ordinarily seen at a county fair.

This All Pools' Day. To-day, by the common consent of the inhabitants of the civilized world is All Pools' Day. There are no hard and fast rules for its proper observance, no set programme to be carried out. That is left to the ingenuity of rather the lack of ingenuity of the individual. In days gone by the time was usually spent in taking derbies recumbent on sidewalks with festive but unyielding bricks concealed within them, with disastrous results to toes.

NOTICE TO OUR CUSTOMERS. We are pleased to announce that Pools' Day for coughs, colds, sore throats, and other ailments is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug Law, as it contains no harmful or other drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. R. H. Jordan & Co.
