NEW PHASE OF SITUATIONS

oliticians Concerned in the Closing Down of Mills, Pearing the Voters Will Move to Other Paris.

Special to The Observer. Torkville, S. C., April 1.—It is said that some of the local politicians are somewhat concerned over the possibility of several or all the cotton mills in the county being forced to close down Indefinitely. They are not concerned, however, because of the loss of a means of livelihood to the operatives or of business to those who furnish supplies to said operatives or profits to the stockholders in the mills, but are concerned because the possibility of the operatives leaving the county and not being here at the primary next August to be rounded up by heelers that are in the habit of having their lingers well greased by some of the candidates. It is said that out of about 4,000 voters on the various club rolls of York county there are from five to six hundred that are susceptible to the influence of heelers on election day, and that the majority of them live at the cotton mills. While this may be a fact, it is also a fact that there is quite a large number of voters who live at and work in the mills who are not susceptible to the blandishments of the heelers, and display as much wisdom in the use of the ballot as do the merchants, farmers, lawyers or any other class. They usually walk to the polls, prepare their own tickets and vote without either asking or being asked any questions, while the other class is furnished conveyance to the polls free of charge, also with one or more escorts, with free cigars, have a ready prepared ticket thrust into their hands and deposit it in the ballot box without so much as look-ing at it. While this custom is contrary to what some people conceive to be the public interest, still no good citizen should desire to see this vote or any part of it eliminated this year, or at any other time, oy so great a calamity as some seem to think possible at this time. A better plan would be to so amend the rules of the primary as to allow none except those who have registration certificates to vote in the primary election.

Put This Stove in Your Kitchen

It is wonderfully convenient to do kitchen work on a stove that's ready at the instant wanted, and out of the way the oment you're done. Such a stove is the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. By using it you avoid the continuous overpowering heat of a coal fire and cook with comfort, even in dogdays. The
