Mr. Salesman, get big-then get bigger: Get big mentally, get big spir-itually, get big morally, get big phy-sically, for it's the big man that counts. You expect big things from big men always.

Mr. Salesman, when you find a competitor knocking, it means that he knows that you have him whipped. Watch for the knocker, listen to him, say nothing that would stop his knocking. He is doing you good every Morning, noon and night, don't knock. A knock is the signal of de-feat; it is the ambulance call. Yet there is a lot of virtue in a knocker

Boost Charlotte Council. Every good thing you say helps. Mr. Salesman, be a leader of your fine. It's just as easy and more pleasant to lead the procession as a big salesman than to fall in behind.

Some salesmen must be "it." It is either "it" or "nit." Mr. Salesman, do something different from the other fellow if you want

Mr. Salesman, sell goods in such manner that the other fellow will pattern after you.

Capacity. If a man's capacity can be contained in a cigar box, this will be the size of his business.

If his capacity is the size of a city block, it will be hard work to put his store in your vest pocket. Don't try to estimate the capacity of a man by measuring the band around the top of his trousers.

If it's "hopa" the band will be too long. If it is stinginess, there probably won't be any band.
For capacity, measure his "skypiece" and compare this with the measurement of his heart, see that conscience and the result will be the basis for a safe bet.

Man's Inalienable Right. "God gave man his hands, his back and the right to use them as he pleases. It is an inalienable right. No power can take it away from a man. No power can compel him to work. No power can compel him to stop working if he desires to work. When a man, or any set of work. When a man, or any set of men, take it upon themselves to say that they are the law, and to defy the process of the courts, to defy the police authority of the land, to usurp the authority of the established government, to upset the very base of society in which we all live, there is a power which will come to the rescue of the man who is wronged in that way; and that power is that which protects you and protects me, and must continue to afford us all protection, else governafford us all protection, else government is destroyed."

Let us take time to get acquainted with Christ. The hour is coming swiftly for us all when one touch of His hand in the darkness will mean more than that which is written in the day-book and ledger or in the records of our little social world.

Since we must take time to die, why should we not take time to live —to live in the large sense of a life —to live in the large sense of a life begun here for eternity?—Pittsburg Advocate.

When Liverymen Are Liable. A case of special interest to those who use livery service was tried in the courts of Clark county, Ohio, recently. Elsworth L. Baker, a well-known U. C. T. of Springfield, O., brought suit against a liveryman, al-leging that a team furnished by the liveryman was unsafe. The case was bitterly fought on both sides and was tried by jury. The result was a compromise verdict in favor of Baker. The court, in charging of Baker. The court, in charging the jury, laid down a principle of law that is of interest. The court held that every horse is liable run away under some conditions, and that a liveryman does not guarantee against injury resulting. But if the team is more dangerous than an ordinary team, within the reason-able knowledge of the liveryman, and he does not warn the party to whom the team is hired of this, he is liable for damages resulting personal injury.

To Sell is the Rub.

A salesman gets more salary, than an operative. Did you ever reason thing than to make it. No man man wants to make a thing, but the comes when he desires to sell it. It takes skill to manufacture an article, but it takes greater and higher-class skill to place it on the market and dispose of it at a profit. The men who sell things carry the whole load of industry, paying every man who has had to do with creating an article for his share in the work for the use of money represented by the investment in
